Alto Citizens Want Monopoly Charges Submitted To Anti-Trust Division

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 19.—(AP)—F. L. Clampitt of Fort Worth, post-office inspector in charge of the division in which the western Louisiana federal court is located, was in Shreveport today conferring with federal officials on postal violations in connection with the present investigation of state affairs.

At present there are six extra postal inspectors working in this division and more will be added as needed, Clampitt said. There are forty-one inspectors in the entire Fort Worth division.

Every complaint filed with the postal inspectors and referred to them by the United States attorney or attorney general will be investigated thoroughly and a complete report thereon filed, Clampitt said. Judd Savage Taken To Sanitarium After Beating Detective L. G. Parker

Judd Savage, about 29, of Marion, was in St. Francis sanitarium here last night with a bullet wound in his side as the result of an altercation with Detectives L. G. Parker and D. J. Bedsole of the Monroe police department late yesterday afternoon.

Detective Parker, who was said to have shot the man when Savage attacked him, was treated at Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic for a wound on the side of his head.

Attending physicians said Savage had apparently suffered only a "flesh wound." It was first thought Detective Parker had suffered a fractured jaw, but an X-ray examination revealed no broken bones.

Detectives Parker and Bedsole were called to Shirley's Temple on Louisville avenue shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to arrest a man who had allegedly "beat up" a girl at the place.

The man, with two companions, had fled, however, before the officers arrived.

Detectives Parker and Bedsole took the girl who had been beaten by the man, it was stated, and drove along Breard street. The girl was said to have pointed out a man standing on the porch at Nora Chandler's place, 1801 Breard street, and stated that the

NYE IS BOOMED FOR PRESIDENT

North Dakota Senator Getting 'Favorite Son' Support Of Republicans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(AP)—A "favorite son" boom for Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota for the Republican presidential nomination was reported in the making today.

Friends of Nye said they expected the movement to come to the surface at a rally at Minot, N. D., next month at a time when several other prospective Republican presidential candidates, more or less inactive since congress adjourned, will be entering upon intensive speaking campaigns.

Admirers of the North Dakota senator also have been active in South Dakota, Minnesota and Montana with the hope of obtaining, if not pledged delegations, at least secondary support for Nye in the Republican convention.

They were said to believe that if Nye could command the backing of the 23 convention votes from these four states he would be in a position to force greater consideration of his recently expressed views that the Republicans must nominate a "progressive candidate" in 1940.

Nye, who took a leading part in opposing the administration's neutrality program in the last session of congress, has arranged a speaking tour.

SHAW 'SHAKEN UP' IN AUTO ACCIDENT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Dr. J. A. Shaw, whose status as head of the minerals division of the state conservation department has been in question, was reported "badly shaken up" today in an automobile accident near Thibodaux.

He was brought home in an ambulance this evening. Members of his family said a tire blowout caused the car he was driving to crash into an underpass on the highway between Thibodaux and Raceland.

A high state official who declined use of his name had said earlier today at Baton Rouge he understood that Dr. Shaw would resign quickly as director of the minerals division.

Dr. Shaw was returning from Dallas, Tex., where he gave testimony at the removal hearing for Freeman Burford, Texas oil man, which indicated he would be the chief government witness against former Governor Richard W. Leche and Seymour Weiss when they are brought to trial on the "hot oil" conspiracy charge against them.

Conservation Commissioner Ernest Clements said last Saturday "that remains to be seen" when asked if Shaw would keep his job.

POPE CALLS FOR WAR AVOIDANCE

Implores Peaceful Settlement Of Critical Troubles In Europe

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Pope Pius XII implored a settlement of Europe's critical troubles that would avert war today in addressing Italian pilgrims just before he received United States Postmaster General James A. Farley in private audience.

After the audience Farley said he was convinced of the pontiff's anxiety for world peace and that the pontiff was doing everything possible to maintain it.

The Pope told his hearers in the public audience that he maintained his trust that those who govern the nations would refrain from an "appeal to force." He kept his hope, said, that "feelings of moderation and objectivity would serve to avert a conflict."

He made his fervent plea in imparting his blessing on more than 2,000 Italian pilgrams who came to his summer palace for the 25th anniversary of the death of Pope Pius X.

"The holy father recognizes the seriousness of the situation and the burden he must bear in striving for peace," Postmaster General Farley said, "but I found him in good health and am confident he will measure up to his task by continuing to counsel for an amicable settlement of European problems.

"The Pope is in a position," Farley added, "to make a great contribution

PLEADS GUILTY TO 3 FEDERAL COUNTS

Changing a previous plea of innocence to a plea of guilty, G. L. Trammell, Dubach lumberman, was fined $100 on each of three counts on interfering with the performance of the official duties of a deputy collector of internal revenue at a special session of federal court for the western district of Louisiana here.

Federal Judge Gaston L. Porterie placed the fines. Trammell was charged with having interfered with the performance of the duties of James K. Warner, United States deputy collector of internal revenue.

The lumberman entered a plea of innocence to the charges when arraigned before United States Commissioner Allen Guthrie here in October, 1938. He was released on bond of $1,000. However, he was indicted by the federal grand jury in the regular spring session of federal court here last April on all three counts and was released on $3,000 bond.

Berlin Newspapers Accept Fact France And England Will Support Warsaw

By Associated Press

Signs of a decisive turn of events soon multiplied yesterday in unsettled Europe.

While Pope Pius XII voiced a new appeal for peace, these highlights pointed to tense days ahead in the Old World:

1. Germany had nearly 100,000 troops strung along the Polish border.

2. Gradual mobilization of Slovakia's army, pledged to "cooperation" with Germany, was in progress.

3. A meeting of key ministers of the British cabinet was called for Tuesday.

4. The controlled German press heaped fresh scorn on Poland, insisting that she come to terms on Adolf Hitler's demands for possession of Danzig.

It seemed to a neutral observer in Berlin that everybody in authority all over Europe was hoping the nerves of the other fellow would crack first. How long that condition could endure was anybody's guess.

Pope Pius, addressing more than 2,000 Italian Pilgrims at his Castel Gandolfo summer home, said he maintained his trust that those who govern nations would refrain from an "appeal to force."

He kept his hope, he said, that "feelings of moderation and objectivity would serve to avert a conflict," and he recalled his own efforts to prevent war since his election in March.

A short while later the pope received James A. Farley, United States postmaster general. After the audience Farley said he was convinced of the pontiff's anxiety for world peace.

Talk in high Nazi circles that "England with her sense of realism will keep hands off Poland," current a week ago, apparently had changed to

L. S. U. SINKING FUND IS ABSENT

Tugwell Announces State Finally Succeeds In Borrowing $550,000

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Absence of a sinking fund, requires a guarantee for meeting interest and maturity payments on Louisiana State university bonds, was disclosed today as State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell announced the state had finally succeeded in borrowing $550,000 to apply on the school's deficit.

Dr. Paul M. Hebert, acting president of the university, said the sinking fund simply had never been set up out of the school's operating and maintenance revenues as was required "in accordance with the specific obligations which the university assumed" in issuing its bonds.

The acting president said L. S. U.'s jumbled records indicated that money from the school's operation and maintenance fund which should have been set aside for sinking funds in reality were used for other purposes, including the purchase of the Bienville hotel at New Orleans in 1936.

It was in connection with the re-sale to the university of equipment L. S.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 19.—(AP)—An injured convict killed a nurse and wounded a doctor and a guard today in a thwarted break for freedom at Good Samaritan hospital.

Mrs. Hattie Hooker, 60, died a few minutes after a bullet smashed her jaw. Detective William Fetters said it was fired by Helen Presley, 24-year-old Washington state prison fugitive.

Dr. H. C. Manlove, hospital superintendent, was shot in the knee, and Officer Sam Worrell, a guard, was wounded in the hand. Presley, shot in the leg when he resisted arrest Thursday night, received a superficial neck wound in today's affray.

OIL CONTROVERSY DEVELOPING INTO HOT WORD FIGHT

TEXAS RAIL COMMISSIONER CRITICIZES INTERFERENCE

Question Of Federal Or State Control Hurled Back And Forth

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Words spouted where oil didn't today over the always hot question whether there shall be state or federal control.

As oil men, fagged out by the hubbub of crude oil price cuts, a six-state shutdown and dwindling stocks, were looking to a week-end of rest, Interior Secretary Ickes in Washington issued a statement which touched off new fireworks.

Ickes said "should there develop a lack of parity between total supply and consumptive demand the prohibition against interstate shipment could be made inoperative during the period of shortage."

The Connally "hot oil" act prohibits shipment in interstate or foreign commerce of petroleum and petroleum products produced in violation of state law.

Jerry Sadler, of the Texas railroad commission which regulates the oil industry in that state, immediately fired a telegram at Ickes asserting his "domination or interference in the present situation is completely, wholly and entirely uncalled for."

Since state regulatory bodies "have successfully met the attack of the Standard Oil company and its affili-

CHARGES NEW DEAL, COMMUNISTS LINKED

LAKE MOHAWK, N. J., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Current hearings of the Dies committee on un-American activities were described today by Representative J. Parnell Thomas, Republican, New Jersey, a member, as just a "sideshow" to "startling revelations" which are forthcoming, among them "a strong link between Communism and the New Deal."

Spending the week-end fishing from his summer home here, Thomas said in an interview:

"The investigators for the committee have unearthed unbelievable facts and the real fireworks will begin in about two weeks, when the committee launches its investigation into Communism.

"We have a stranglehold on Communism this time. Some of the evidence to be presented is so sensational and astounding that it will overshadow anything previously brought to light in public hearings. We will not only show a close tie-up in Communism between United States and Russia, but will also show a strong link between Communism and the New Deal.

"The Nazi movement in America is about washed up as a result of unfavorable publicity arising from the hearings in Washington. Most of the subversive organizations are just financial rackets for the leaders."

A story of "immorality" in a German-American camp on Long Island, N. Y., was told to the Dies committee in Washington, D. FALL TRADE OFF TO GOOD START

United States Chamber Of Commerce Says Business Outlook Promising

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—In an optimistic report on the business outlook, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States said today an "early and substantial" start had been made toward a rise in fall trade and industrial activity.

The chamber's bi-weekly review noted a steady improvement in general business since June and said of the future:

"Perhaps the best indicator for the coming months is to be found in the evidences now beginning to appear of plans for raising new capital. Besides, August has been the first upturn in many months in the aggregate amount of business loans made by banks."

The review declared business improvement had been evident from the time "when it became apparent that congress was determined to do something about taxes."

"With reasonable freedom from adverse influences from outside," the chamber said, "the indices this fall should overcome much of the margin

CLAW BAR USED TO WRECK TRAIN GONE

CARLIN, Nev., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Unexplained disappearance of a claw bar from beside the misplaced rail which wrecked the streamliner "City of San Francisco" a week ago tonight figured in testimony before a Southern Pacific board of inquiry.

The hearing was closed to the public, but Engineer Edward Hecox of the wrecked train told newsmen he had been closely questioned by interstate commerce commission representatives at the hearing about the claw bar. Twenty-four were killed in the wreck and more than 100 injured.

He said he saw it lying near the fourth car of the train, which stood directly over the place where he declared a rail section had been pushed inward several inches, and held there by a tie plate which had been respiked out of alignment.

As he started to examine the bar a man walking behind him in the darkness said, "Don't touch it! It might have fingerprints on it."

Later when he returned to the spot, the bar was gone. Because of the excitement and his agitation at the time, he did not remember who the man was that walked behind him. So far as he knew, he said, no one else saw the bar.

Wreck Of 'Blue Comet' Occurs In Pine Wilderness In New Jersey

CHATSWORTH, N. J., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Seventeen persons were injured late today, three of them seriously, when the "Blue Comet," crack Central Railroad of New Jersey Atlantic City-New York flyer, was derailed in southern New Jersey's pine wilderness during a heavy rainstorm.

Most of them were in the observation car, last of five which leaped the rails, and were pitched back and forth with furniture as the cars bounced 500 feet down the ties before breaking loose from the locomotive.

On either side was a drainage ditch for a cranberry bog. Cars tilted at dizzy angles, but none went over.

Railroad men had no explanation to offer, but others said the water from the bog, level with the rails as the storm raged, apparently had weakened the track.

Rescue squads from a score of communities in four neighboring counties had to carry the injured three miles along the tracks to this crossroads community. Uninjured passengers, after spending two to four hours in the derailed coaches to escape the downpour, had to lug their baggage the same distance to meet a relief train, prevented from coming to them by the Blue Comet's locomotive, which was stalled with a derailed tender a mile beyond the coaches.

Seriously injured and taken 20 miles to the Burlington county hospital at Mt. Holly were:

Mrs. Joseph Gilligan, 50, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., back injuries.

Richard Kelly, 41, Philadelphia.

Joseph Coleman, 45, New York, negro dining car attendant, scalds and possible broken legs.

Others were treated at the scene by physicians rallied from the countryside.

PEDDLER HELD IN DEATH BY FIRE

Accused Of Murdering Second Wife; Also Suspected In Three Sons' Deaths

DURANT, Okla., Aug. 19.—(AP)—County Attorney Bill Steger filed a murder charge today against a thrice-married peddler for the flaming smokehouse death of his second wife and said officials had been informed three sons of the peddler died violently.

In each of the four deaths, Steger asserted, the peddler, John C. Story, 60, collected two double indemnity insurance policies. The four were members of burial associations.

Steger filed the murder charge in connection with the death of Mrs. Ethel Story last August 23 inside the burning smokehouse.

No charges were filed in the sons' deaths, Steger added.

"Story has owned homes in every town he has lived and had fires covered by insurance," the county attorney asserted. "And he has had four

I WONDER

By Pat Green

I wonder if, before you start your drive today, you will do a little serious checking of your automobile. How are your tires? If they are slack, they are dangerous. How are your brakes? Do they grasp? Are they out of adjustment? Can you stop quickly in an emergency without your car swerving to one side? Are your headlights both burning? Also check your stop and tail light to see if you can warn your fellow drivers after night.

You like to have a car that picks up quick, gets away in the traffic fast, but be sure that that car is safe before you take your family out for the Sunday afternoon drive and expose them to all of the hazards that Sunday driving incorporates. . . . That is, if you love your family. Of course, if you don't care if they get killed, don't check your car. Just get in it and start off. Maybe you can stop. If you can't, maybe the other fellow can.

Take the chances, and the chances are you won't grow old. Cars are not dangerous if kept in good repair. It's the driver who is dangerous, just remember that sane driving is safe driving.

4. The controlled German press heaped fresh scorn on Poland, insisting that she come to terms on Adolf Hitler's demands for posession of Danzig.

It seemed to a neutral observer in Berlin that everybody in authority all over Europe was hoping the nerves of the other fellow would crack first. How long that condition could endure was anybody's guess.

Pope Pius, addressing more than 2,000 Italian Pilgrims at his Castel Gandolfo summer home, said he maintained his trust that those who govern nations would refrain from an "appeal to force."

He kept his hope, he said, that "feelings of moderation and objectivity would serve to avert a conflict," and he recalled his own efforts to prevent war since his election in March.

A short while later the pope received James A. Farley, United States postmaster general. After the audience Farley said he was convinced of the pontiff's anxiety for world peace.

Talk in high Nazi circles that "England with her sense of realism will keep hands off Poland," current a week ago, apparently had changed to

L. S. U. SINKING FUND IS ABSENT

Tugwell Announces State Finally Succeeds In Borrowing $550,000

BATON ROUGE, La. Aug. 19.—(AP)—Absence of a sinking fund, requires a guarantee for meeting interest and maturity payments on Louisiana State university bonds, was disclosed today as State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell announced the state had finally succeeded in borrowing $550,000 to apply on the school's deficit.

Dr. Paul M. Hebert, acting president of the university, said the sinking fund simply had never been set up out of the school's operating and maintenance revenues as was required "in accordance with the specific obligations which the university assumed" in issuing its bonds.

The acting president said L. S. U.'s jumbled records indicated that money from the school's operation and maintenance fund which should have been set aside for sinking funds in reality were used for other purposes, including the purchase of the Bienville hotel at New Orleans in 1936.

It was in connection with the re-sale to the university of equipment L. S.

NURSE KILLED BY INJURED CONVICT

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 19.—(AP)—An injured convict killed a nurse and wounded a doctor and a guard today in a thwarted break for freedom at Good Samaritan hospital.

Mrs. Hattie Hooker, 60, died a few minutes after a bullet smashed her jaw. Detective William Fetters said it was fired by Helen Presley, 24-year-old Washington state prison fugitive.

Dr. H. C. Manlove, hospital superintendent, was shot in the knee, and Officer Sam Worrell, a guard, was wounded in the hand. Presley, shot in the leg when he resisted arrest Thursday night, received a superficial neck wound in today's affray.

He finally was overpowered by hospital employes.

OIL CONTROVERSY DEVELOPING INTO HOT WORD FIGHT

Statement By Secretary Ickes Touches Off New Set Of Fireworks

TEXAS RAIL COMMISSIONER CRITICIZES INTERFERENCE

Question Of Federal Or State Control Hurled Back And Forth

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Words spouted where oil didn't today over the always hot question whether there shall be state or federal control.

As oil men, fagged out by the hubbub of crude oil price cuts, a six-state shutdown and dwindling stocks, were looking to a week-end of rest, Interior Secretary Ickes in Washington issued a statement which touched off new fireworks.

Ickes said "should there develop a lack of parity between total supply and consumptive demand the prohibition against interstate shipment could be made inoperative during the period of shortage."

The Connally "hot oil" act prohibits shipment in interstate or foreign commerce of petroleum and petroleum products produced in violation of state law.

Jerry Sadler, of the Texas railroad commission which regulates the oil industry in that state, immediately fired a telegram at Ickes asserting his "domination or interference in the present situation is completely, wholly and entirely uncalled for."

Since state regulatory bodies "have successfully met the attack of the Standard Oil company and its affili-

The principal speaker for the convention will be Ted V. Rogers, president of the American Trucking association, Washington, who Saturday notified B. H. Grayson, Monroe, secretary of the Louisiana association, that he will be present.

Others prominent in the truck and bus carrier industry who will have parts in the convention include Leonard Brown, president, H. E. English, past president and B. F. CHARGES NEW DEAL, COMMUNISTS LINKED

LAKE MOHAWK, N. J., Aug. 19.—(AP)— Current hearings of the Dies committee on un-American activities were described today by Representative J. Parnell Thomas, Republican, New Jersey, a member, as just a "sideshow" to "startling revelations" which are forthcoming, among them "a strong link between Communism and the New Deal."

Spending the week-end fishing from his summer home here, Thomas said in an interview:

"The investigators for the committee have unearthed unbelievable facts and the real fireworks will begin in about two weeks, when the committee launches its investigation into Communism.

"We have a stranglehold on Communism this time. Some of the evidence to be presented is so sensational and astounding that it will overshadow anything previously brought to light in public hearings. We will not only show a close tie-up in Communism between United States and Russia, but will also show a strong link between Communism and the New Deal.

"The Nazi movement in America is about washed up as a result of unfavorable publicity arising from the hearings in Washington. Most of the subversive organizations are just financial rackets for the leaders."

CHARGES 'IMMORALITY' IN BUND CAMP

A story of "immorality" in a German-American camp on Long Island, N. Y., was told to the Dies committee in Washington, D. C., by 19-year-old, dark-haired Helen Vooros, who said she quit the bund because "the leaders wouldn't let me alone." In an almost inaudible tone, Miss Vooros said "they planned to attack me." She is shown standing at witness table with upraised arm in manner she said bund girls were required to do at their meetings.

Burford To Be Virtual Prisoner, Says Rogge

Will Be Arrested Again If He Leaves Northern District Of Texas

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Federal attorneys and agents worked tonight in preparation for Monday's "get-away" session of the grand jury, following the return from Dallas of Assistant United States Attorney General O. John Rogge.

The grand jury was expected to hold an all-day session Monday, and then adjourn until September 5. The recess will allow attorneys to prepare for trial then of Seymour Weiss, Monte Hart, Dr. James M. Smith, Louis LeSage and J. Emory Adams on mail fraud charges.

Additional indictments may be handed down Monday when the grand jury reconvenes. Rogge and

The good government committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet Tuesday to consider the advisability of affiliating with the Louisiana Association of Young Men's Business clubs.

The last named group is said to be urging 300 civic and business clubs of the state to join in a movement to clean up graft and corrupt politics generally in Louisiana.

Any organization of a non-political nature is said to have been invited to join the new movement, which is headed by Gordon Y. Millet of Houma. Other members are Cecil R. Middleton, DeRidder and Louis G. Riecke and Moise S. Steeg, Jr., New Orleans.

Immediate objectives are a conference of delegates, two to a group, at

DUTTON SAYS PROBE HELPING BUSINESS

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Tom W. Dutton, president of the Louisiana State university alumni federation, said tonight the federal investigation in Louisiana had caused a business boom.

"For the first time in years business organizations can act without fear of reprisal and discrimination," he told a meeting of alumni.

Dutton said that since the indictment of Dr. James Monroe Smith, L. S. U. president, the alumni had secured a "fool-proof" system of bookkeeping and accounting at the school.

FALL TRADE OFF TO GOOD START

United States Chamber Of Commerce Says Business Outlook Promising

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—In an optimistic report on the business outlook, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States said today an "early and substantial" start had been made toward a rise in fall trade and industrial activity.

The chamber's bi-weekly review noted a steady improvement in general business since June and said of the future:

"Perhaps the best indicator for the coming months is to be found in the evidences now beginning to appear of plans for raising new capital. Besides, August has been the first upturn in many months in the aggregate amount of business loans made by banks."

The review declared business improvement had been evident from the time "when it became apparent that congress was determined to do something about taxes."

"With reasonable freedom from adverse influences from outside," the chamber said, "the indices this fall should overcome much of the margin

CLAW BAR USED TO WRECK TRAIN GONE

CARLIN, Nev., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Unexplained disappearance of a claw bar from beside the misplaced rail which wrecked the streamliner "City of San Francisco" a week ago tonight figured in testimony before a Southern Pacific board of inquiry.

The hearing was closed to the public, but Engineer Edward Hecox of the wrecked train told newsmen he had been closely questioned by interstate commerce commission representatives at the hearing about the claw bar. Twenty-four were killed in the wreck and more than 100 injured.

He said he saw it lying near the fourth car of the train, which stood directly over the place where he declared a rail section had been pushed inward several inches, and held there by a tie plate which had been respiked out of alignment.

As he started to examine the bar a man walking behind him in the darkness said, "Don't touch it! It might have fingerprints on it."

Later when he returned to the spot, the bar was gone. Because of the excitement and his agitation at the time, he did not remember who the man was that walked behind him. So far as he knew, he said, no one else saw the bar.

Wreck Of 'Blue Comet' Occurs In Pine Wilderness In New Jersey

CHATSWORTH, N. J., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Seventeen persons were injured late today, three of them seriously, when the "Blue Comet," crack Central Railroad of New Jersey Atlantic City-New York flyer, was derailed in southern New Jersey's pine wilderness during a heavy rainstorm.

Most of them were in the observation car, last of five which leaped the rails, and were pitched back and forth with furniture as the cars bounced 500 feet down the ties before breaking loose from the locomotive.

On either side was a drainage ditch for a cranberry bog. Cars tilted at dizzy angles, but none went over.

Railroad men had no explanation to offer, but others said the water from the bog, level with the rails as the storm raged, apparently had weakened the track.

Rescue squads from a score of communities in four neighboring counties had to carry the injured three miles along the tracks to this crosroads community. Uninjured passengers, after spending two to four hours in the derailed coaches to escape the downpour, had to lug their baggage the same distance to meet a relief train, prevented from coming to them by the Blue Comet's locomotive, which was stalled with a derailed tender a mile beyond the coaches.

Seriously injured and taken 20 miles to the Burlington county hospital at Mt. Holly were:

Mrs. Joseph Gilligan, 50, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., back injuries.

Richard Kelly, 41, Philadelphia.

Joseph Coleman, 45, New York, negro dining car attendant, scalds and possible broken legs.

Others were treated at the scene by physicians rallied from the countryside.

Accused Of Murdering Second Wife; Also Suspected In Three Sons' Deaths

DURANT, Okla., Aug. 19.—(AP)—County Attorney Bill Steger filed a murder charge today against a thrice-married peddler for the flaming smokehouse death of his second wife and said officials had been informed three sons of the peddler died violently.

In each of the four deaths, Steger asserted, the peddler, John C. Story, 60, collected two double indemnity insurance policies. The four were members of burial associations.

Steger filed the murder charge in connection with the death of Mrs. Ethel Story last August 23 inside the burning smokehouse.

No charges were filed in the sons' deaths, Steger added.

"Story has owned homes in every town he has lived and had fires covered by insurance," the county attorney asserted. "And he has had four

I WONDER

By Pat Green

I wonder if, before you start your drive today, you will do a little serious checking of your automobile. How are your tires? If they are slack, they are dangerous. How are your brakes? Do they grasp? Are they out of adjustment? Can you stop quickly in an emergency without your car swerving to one side? Are your headlights both burning? Also check your stop and tail light to see if you can warn your fellow drivers after night.

You like to have a car that picks up quick, gets away in the traffic fast, but be sure that that car is safe before you take your family out for the Sunday afternoon drive and expose them to all of the hazards that Sunday driving incorporates. . . . That is, if you love your family. Of course, if you don't care if they get killed, don't check your car. Just get in it and start off. Maybe you can stop. If you can't, maybe the other fellow can.

Take the chances, and the chances are you won't grow old. Cars are not dangerous if kept in good repair. It's the driver who is dangerous, just remember that sane driving is safe driving.

Dodge Tests Detect Invisible Strains In Head Lamp Lenses

An interesting dependability operation, carried on by the manufacturers of Dodge cars and trucks, is that by which polarized light is utilized to make ordinarily invisible internal strains, in the glass of head lamp lenses, plainly visible.

Dodge head lamp lenses to be tested are placed on an illuminated viewing screen, between two polarizers so adjusted that the horizontal vibrations of the light beam pass through one polarizer and the vertical vibrations through the other.

Seen through the circular polarizer lens in the top of the test chamber, a perfect head lamp lens assumes a "color" of the even distribution indicated at the left. But if there are strains in the head lamp lens, due perhaps to incomplete annealing, these strains are plainly seen as color changes like those seen at the right. The complexity of the pattern and the depth and extent of the color change indicate the degree of strain. Lenses in which strains are detected, are returned to the annealing ovens for correction.

The purpose of this polarized-light inspection of Dodge head lamp lenses is to protect car owners against lens failure, such as might occur under motoring conditions involving extremes in temperature or prolonged travel over exceptionally rough roads.

The Dodge dealer in Monroe is Monroe Automobile and Supply company, 300 Walnut street.

FRONT END OVERHAULING

When Luther and Reed garage, operating at 236 South Grand street and at Central Service No. 2 on Jefferson, between North Second and North Third streets, reconditions the front end of your automobile, it steers easier and drives safer.

The reconditioning includes the straightening and alignment of the axle, the overhauling of knee-action, the replacement of bushings and the eliminaiton of slack in steering connections.

A car that steers easy and the wheels of which run true is a safe automobile. It goes where the operator intends that it should go.

That's the business of Luther and Reed garage—making automobiles safer for operation on the highway.

In addition to front end reconditioning, the establishment, at its two shops, engages in frame straightening and aligning, wheel straightening and aligning, hub and brake drum straightening and in dynamic wheel balancing.

These operations not only result in easy operation in an automobile, but in economy. A car that runs true places less burden on its various mechanism and on its tires. Shimmying wheels are not only hazardous, they are the greatest enemies tires have. They eat up rubber and place a strain on tires that they were not designed to bear.

People's Helps You To Purchase Or Build A Home

The People's Homestead and Savings association, 400 DeSiard street, is a home-owned institution that enables you to build or buy a home or commercial structure or to save for the purpose of buying or building.

The modern building at 400 DeSiard street owned as well as occupied by the People's Homestead and Savings association has recently been air-conditioned and clients of the institution are finding the place one of the most pleasant spots in Monroe for the transaction of business.

The People's Homestead and Savings association recently reduced its interest rate on all loans to 5½ per cent, which is as cheap as money can be had for building purposes.

The institution, moreover, offers an attractive purchase plan on real estate it now has on hand. A small down payment will put you in possession of a home. The remainder can be paid in convenient monthly installments, with interest at the low rate of 5½ per cent on the unpaid balance. These installments amount to no more than the average rental of a house comparable to the one you choose to buy.

Through the purchase of shares of the People's Homestead and Savings association, you can start saving toward the purchase or construction of a home or toward any other purpose—investment, for instance. For as little as a dollar a month, you can start purchasing shares, current interest on which is being paid at the attractive rate of 4 per cent per annum.

The public is invited to stop at the People's Homestead and Savings association at any time during these warm days, if merely for the purpose of cooling off. You, too, as have many others before you, will find the institution's home a friendly place to while away a few minutes.

GROUP WANTS TO ASK THIRD TERM

Only Constitution Keeps Young Democrats From Endorsing Roosevelt

By Ben Grant

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Wide as the party breach may have been in the 1939 congress, southern leaders of the Young Democratic organization say it took careful handling to prevent the Pittsburgh convention's becoming a "draft Roosevelt for 1940" rally.

In fact, some of those who stopped over here after the biennial convention of the party youth said a third-term resolution, if it had been offered, would have received the approval of every southern delegation with the possible exception of Texas.

The organization's constitution forbids endorsing any candidate before his nomination by the party. To pass a third-term resolution, therefore, would have necessitated amending, waiving, or junking the constitution.

Taking steps against the convention's getting out of hand, Young Democratic chieftains asked Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, the keynote speaker, not to say anything that might set off a third-term demonstration.

Accordingly, the Floridian demanded only "a third term for Roosevelt's ideas." That, he shouted, "is the keynote of this convention."

It was generally conceded the Pittsburgh convention was New Deal through and through. But there were two slants on whether that fact was significant.

Some friends of the administration declared the general tenor of the meeting, which represented all states, was so overwhelmingly New Deal as to indicate the party would demand at least a third term for Roosevelt's ideas." And, they added, the convention seemed to uphold assertions of party leaders that the folks back home, particularly in the south, would not approve the house Democratic revolt against a pair of administration measures just before adjournment.

On the other side, it was said the Young Democratic clubs were primarily New Deal organizations and did not necessarily represent the thought of the much greater voting strength of unorganized members of the party.

Administration critics declined to concede, therefore, that the apparent New Deal sentiment of the southern Young Democratic delegations offered any proof that votes in the house against lending or housing were contrary to the general feeling back home.

The next gathering of the Young Democrats will be a Miami rally next year. It was said here the organization's new president, Homer Mat Adams of Illinois, would be sure not to call this meeting until after the Democratic national convention had nominated the party's candidate.

With but little public attention, the tariff commission is looking into the question of establishing quotas on importations of foreign cotton.

The study was requested by President Roosevelt, who told the commission he wanted to know whether importations from other countries were interfering with the domestic cotton program.

The system of keeping the production of cotton and other basic commodities within the consumption and export needs has been known hereabouts as "crop control."

The agriculture department is trying to bury the word "control." A better and friendlier way to say it, the department believes, is "crop adjustment."

COMMUNITY CLUB BUILDING BURNS

TALLULAH, La., Aug. 19.—(Special)—Fire destroyed the Tallulah Community club building four miles south of Tallulah this afternoon. The cause of the fire was a defective gasoline water heater in the basement of the building.

The four-year-old structure, valued at approximately $25,000, was headquarters for the Scott-Nicol-Voak post of the American Legion and the Tallulah Golf club and was the recreation center for many social events of Tallulah.

Like description torn from novel, "The Grapes of Wrath," is this scene at migratory workers' camp near Visalia, Calif. With baby held to her breast, migrant woman cooks meal at her little stove. Mother, 30 years old, moved to state from Oklahoma, has six children. One other baby died.

ALABAMA FLOOD STARTS FALLING

Hearts Of Refugees Gladdened By Red Cross Plans For Rehabilitation

SELMA, Ala., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Passing flood crests and word the government and American Red Cross stood ready to rehabilitate the impoverished south Alabama water-buffeted [illegible] gladden the hearts of thousands of refugees tonight.

Meanwhile emergency workers kept convoys of [illegible] boats and trucks [illegible] from rural homes [illegible] on small islands of high ground.

After [illegible] within three feet of the record [illegible] flood, the muddy Alabama began to fall slowly. The Cahaba also was receding.

As the damage to inundated rural homes and crops mounted into millions of dollars, the Red Cross in Washington announced it was ready to provide rehabilitation for "every family financially unable to take care of itself, and that various government agencies also were organized to help.

The coast guard responded to the emergency by dispatching seven trained men, a freight truck with a boat and a special radio truck. All private small craft were pressed into service. Coast guard and Maxwell field planes flew over the broad expanse of water in search of persons in distress.

Relief workers marvelled that there had been not a single drowning since a tropical storm came up out of the gulf Saturday, dropping record rains to cause one of the swiftest rising floods known to southern Alabama.

The only casualty was a railway fireman killed as a locomotive plunged off a water damaged fill at Prattville.

WAGE-HOUR LAW SCHOOL PLANNED

'Hard Boiled Diplomats' To Be Instructed In Detecting Violations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The wage-hour administration will open a school here Monday to train "hard boiled diplomats"—some of them women—in how to detect violations and enforce the standards of the wage-hour law.

It will be the first of a series of such training schools to drill some 300 new inspectors in the intricacies of the law and the interpretive regulations, and show them how to find tell-tale evidence of violations in payroll and employment records. Other schools will be held later in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Atlanta.

"Hard boiled diplomats" is what Major Arthur L. Fletcher, wage-hour enforcement chief, calls the class of inspectors.

"We expect them to be diplomats, hard boiled diplomats," he said. "We want them to be firm but not roughnecks. We are trying to cooperate with employers instead of forcing them to abide by the law."

Fletcher described the Washington training venture as a "Guinea pig school." The experience gained from it will guide the administration in conducting the other training schools.

School will last only six days, but before the pupils enroll they are required to have digested the bulky inspectors' handbook which contains the wage-hour statute, and all the rulings and interpretative bulletins handed down by Administrator Elmer F. Andrews and his lawyers and economists.

There will be only 15 or 20 students in the first school from New York, Philadelphia, Richmond, Atlanta and Nashville. All have had some field experience, traveling with experienced inspectors.

EXHIBITION HOME NEARLY FINISHED

Will Be Formally Open To Public From Saturday Afternoon Through Monday

Only a little detail work and the Twin Cities Exhibition Home, being built at 307 Mitchell lane by H. R. Hayes Lumber company, will be completed. It will be formally opened to the public Saturday afternoon and will remain open to visitors through the following Monday.

The home, which is being built primarily to acquaint the public with the ease with which a $3,700 residence can be erected through assistance of the Federal Housing administration, will be open from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday; from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, August 27; and from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, August 28.

Following the formal opening, the house will be occupied by a Twin City family. It has been open to informal inspection throughout the course of its construction in order that the public could see the stringent requirements applied to FHA-financed homes.

The furniture displayed in the home during the formal opening will be furnished by the West Monroe Furniture company.

All phases of construction, with the exception of paper hanging, floor finishing and interior painting, have been completed. Craftsmen employed on the structure were expected to finish up not later than Friday.

The exterior of the home is solid white, aside from two sets of black decorative blinds. The floors, with the exception of the living porch, kitchen and bath, are of oak. The kitchen and bath will have inlaid linoleum floors. The living porch has a heart pine floor.

The living room and dining room will be finished in white, as will the bath. The finish of the kitchen will be lemon yellow; the back bedroom, light green; and the front bedroom, pink. The house will have Venetian blinds throughout and they will harmonize with the finish of each room, as will the wall paper. The bath will have a lemon-yellow titleboard wainscoting with black mortar lines, base and cap. The fixtures will be lemon-yellow. Semi-indirect lighting will be utilized throughout.

Dr. R. H. Frost Named As Sanatorium Director

Tuberculosis Specialist From Minnesota Highly Recommended

The appointment of Dr. Russell H. Frost, of Wabasha, Minn., as medical director and superintendent of the G. B. Cooley tuberculosis sanatorium was announced yesterday by Captain G. B. Cooley, president of the Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis association.

Dr. Frost is now here supervising installation of equipment at the new sanatorium, which is expected to be formally opened about October 1. Dr. and Mrs. Frost and their four children have taken a home at 1200 Fairview.

Dr. Frost has been superintendent of the Beuna Vista sanatorium at Wabasha for the past 11 years and has made an enviable record in tuberculosis work. He was highly recommended for the post here by eminent specialists, Mr. Cooley said.

Dr. Frost said he was pleased with the opportunity for further service in his field here. He said he appreciated the warm welcome accorded him in Monroe and was high in his praise of the hospitality of citizens of the Twin Cities.

Dr. Frost will devote his entire time to the duties at the sanatorium, it was said.

"The Cooley sanatorium is a unique institution," Dr. Frost said. "It is the only parish-operated sanatorium in the state and the citizenship of this community is to be congratulated upon its progressive spirit in the attempt to eradicate tuberculosis. The sanatorium is modern in every respect and the equipment will be of the highest type, thus enabling us to make a most important contribution in the fight against this dread disease."

When Dr. Frost left his work in Minnesota, he was president of the Minnesota Sanatorium association and vice-president of the Minnesota Public Health association. During the time Dr. Frost was superintendent of the Wabasha sanatorium, some 40,000 Mantoux tests were given and thousands of X-rays taken. Numerous chest clinics were held in communities of two counties under his direction.

When Dr. Frost first became associated with the Minnesota sanatorium the death rate from tuberculosis was 85 for every 100,000 persons there. A recent survey revealed that this has been cut to 20 per 100,000 population.

Before going to Wabasha, Dr. Frost completed a study at the Trudeau School of Tuberculosis at Saranac Lake, N. Y. Previous to that he had been on the staff of the Glen Lake sanatorium at Minneapolis. He graduated from the University of Minnesota medical school in 1925.

Dr. Frost is thoroughly experienced in the modern methods in the diagnosis and treatment of chest diseases in general and pulmonary tuberculosis in particular, including artificial pneumothorax, oleothorax and the like, Captain Cooley said.

The medical director is a member of his county, state and other sectional medical societies, the American Medical association, the National Tuberculosis association and American Sanatorium association, and is a fellow of the American College of Chest Physicians. He was highly recommended particularly by Dr. A. C. Broders and Dr. W. S. Lemon of the famous Mayo clinic of Rochester, Minn.

In writing of Dr. Frost, Dr. E. A. Meyerding, executive secretary of the Minnesota Public Health association, said in part: "In his sanatorium district in Minnesota he had carried on one of the most outstanding and efficient tuberculosis surveys in the schools that we know of. He has done splendid work with the teachers' college and St. Mary's college, a school for young men run by the Christian Brothers of the Catholic church. I mentioned these because some of these projects have had national significance.

"In Dr. Frost you have an outstanding specialist in tuberculosis who understands tuberculosis as well as any man in your state.

"You are profiting while we here in Minnesota are suffering a great loss in Dr. Frost's going to Monroe."

Captain Cooley said definite plans for the formal opening of the sanatorium have not been completed but that he hoped to have everything in readiness by October 1.

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Three children were trapped in their beds and burned to death today in a fire of mysterious origin that burned a wood and tin shack on the north outskirts.

The victims were Rosie Lopez, 11; Raymond Lopez, 4, and Richard Lopez, 2. Their mother, Mrs. Josephine Lopez, 36, a cannery worker, and her other three children escaped. Two of them, Frank, 19, and Lalia, 9, were severely burned.

Deputy Sheriff A. S. Goodman reported he could find nothing to account for the fire except possible incendiarism. He said he was seeking Stephen Lopez, estranged husband of Mrs. Lopez, for questioning.

PLANE PILOT YELLS TO CROWD, CRASHES

MOUNT VERNON, Wash., Aug. 19.—(AP)—A plane pilot who shouted, "Help, I'm going to crash," wrecked his ship on a residential street and was critically injured.

Hospital attendants identified him as C. T. Hubert, 39, of Portland. His companion, Miss Irene Courtion, 30, suffered back injuries.

Engine trouble apparently developed, and Hubert yelled to persons below, including a warning to "get out of the way" just before he hit.

GROUP WANTS TO ASK THIRD TERM

Only Constitution Keeps Young Democrats From Endorsing Roosevelt

By Ben Grant

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Wide as the party breach may have been in the 1939 congress, southern leaders of the Young Democratic organization say it took careful handling to prevent the Pittsburgh convention's becoming a "draft Roosevelt for 1940" rally.

In fact, some of those who stopped over here after the biennial convention of the party youth said a third-term resolution, if it had been offered, would have received the approval of every southern delegation with the possible exception of Texas.

The organization's constitution forbids endorsing any candidate before his nomination by the party. To pass a third-term resolution, therefore, would have necessitated amending, waiving, or junking the constitution.

Taking steps against the convention's getting out of hand, Young Democratic chieftains asked Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, the keynote speaker, not to say anything that might set off a third-term demonstration.

Accordingly, the Floridian demanded only "a third term for Roosevelt's ideas." That, he shouted, "is the keynote of this convention."

It was generally conceded the Pittsburgh convention was New Deal through and through. But there were two slants on whether that fact was significant.

Some friends of the administration declared the general tenor of the meeting—which represented all states—was so overwhelmingly New Deal as to indicate the party would demand at least a "third term for Roosevelt's ideas." And, they added, the convention seemed to uphold assertions of party leaders that the folks back home—particularly in the south—would not approve the house Democratic revolt against a pair of administration measures just before adjournment.

On the other side, it was said the Young Democratic clubs were primarily New Deal organizations and did not necessarily represent the thought of the much greater voting strength of unorganized members of the party.

Administration critics declined to concede, therefore, that the apparent New Deal sentiment of the southern Young Democratic delegations offered any proof that votes in the house against lending or housing were contrary to the general feeling back home.

The next gathering of the Young Democrats will be a Miami rally next year. It was said here the organization's new president, Homer Mat Adams of Illinois, would be sure not to call this meeting until after the Democratic national convention had nominated the party's candidate.

With but little public attention, the tariff commission is looking into the question of establishing quotas on importations of foreign cotton.

The study was requested by President Roosevelt, who told the commission he wanted to know whether importations from other countries were interfering with the domestic cotton program.

The system of keeping the production of cotton and other basic commodities within the consumption and export needs has been known hereabouts as "crop control."

The agriculture department is trying to bury the word "control." A better and friendlier way to say it, the department believes, is "crop adjustment."

COMMUNITY CLUB BUILDING BURNS

TALLULAH, La., Aug. 19.—(Special)—Fire destroyed the Tallulah Community club building four miles south of Tallulah this afternoon. The cause of the fire was a defective gasoline water heater in the basement of the building.

The four-year-old structure, valued at approximately $25,000, was headquarters for the Scott-Nicol-Voak post of the American Legion and the Tallulah Golf club and was the recreation center for many social events of Tallulah.

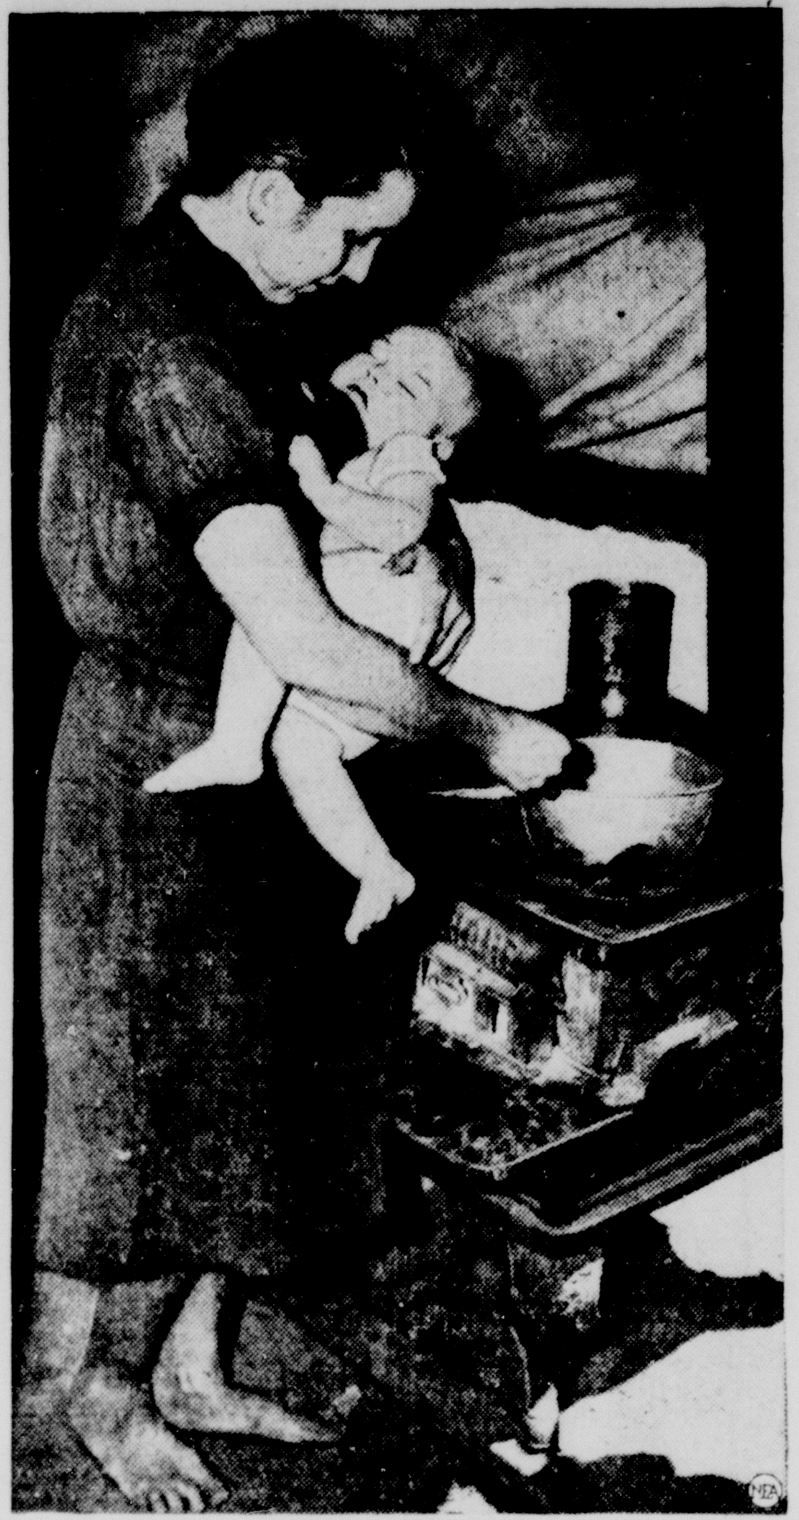
MADONNA OF THE 'MIGS'



Like description torn from novel, "The Grapes of Wrath," is this scene at migratory workers' camp near Visalia, Calif. With baby held to her breast, "mig" woman cooks meal at her little stove. Mother, 30 years old, moved to state from Oklahoma, has six children. One other baby died.

ALABAMA FLOOD STARTS FALLING

Hearts Of Refugees Gladdened By Red Cross Plans For Rehabilitation

SELMA, Ala., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Passing flood crests and word the government and American Red Cross stood ready to rehabilitate the improverished in south Alabama's water-buffeted river basins gladden the hearts of thousands of refugees tonight.

Meanwhile, emergency workers kept convoys of small boats and trucks taking food to about 5,000 driven from rural homes—many marooned on small islands of high ground.

After splashing to within three feet of the record 1884 flood, the muddy Alabama began to fall slowly. The Cahaba also was receding.

As the damage to inundated rural homes and crops mounted into millions of dollars, the Red Cross in Washington announced it was ready to provide rehabilitation for "every family" financially unable to take care of itself, and that various government agencies also were organized to help.

The coast guard responded to the emergency by dispatching seven trained men, a freight truck with a boat and a special radio truck. All private small craft were pressed into service. Coast guard and Maxwell field planes flew over the broad expanse of water in search of persons in distress.

Relief works marvelled that there had been not a single drowning since a tropical storm came up out of the gulf Saturday, dropping record rains to cause one of the swiftest rising floods known to southern Alabama.

The only casualty was a railway fireman killed as a locomotive plunged off a water damaged fill at Prattville.

'Hard Boiled Diplomats' To Be Instructed In Detecting Violations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The wage-hour administration will open a school here Monday to train "hard boiled diplomats"—some of them women—in how to detect violations and enforce the standards of the wage-hour law.

It will be the first of a series of such training schools to drill some 300 new inspectors in the intricacies of the law and the interpretive regulations, and show them how to find tell-tale evidence of violations in payroll and employment records. Other schools will be held later in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Atlanta.

"Hard boiled diplomats" is what Major Arthur L. Fletcher, wage-hour enforcement chief, calls the class of inspectors.

"We expect them to be diplomats, hard boiled diplomats," he said. "We want them to be firm but not roughnecks. We are trying to cooperate with employers instead of forcing them to abide by the law."

Fletcher described the Washington training venture as a "Guinea pig school." The experience gained from it will guide the administration in conducting the other training schools.

School will last only six days, but before the pupils enroll they are required to have digested the bulky inspectors' handbook which contains the wage-hour statute, and all the rulings and interpretative bulletins handed down by Administrator Elmer F. Andrews and his lawyers and economists.

There will be only 15 or 20 students in the first school—from New York, Philadelphia, Richmond, Atlanta and Nashville. All have had some field experience, traveling with experienced inspectors.

Cutting The Taxes

MEANING NOT SO MUCH

[illegible] 1946 [illegible] the passage of a bill [illegible] trade [illegible] the islands.

Congress proposes that by 1941 or earlier, a new study be made with a view to modifying the present law, which is a threat to [illegible] from the Philippines. It is not [illegible] binding on any succeeding Congress, and therefore can be taken at best as a gesture of good will.

Absolute independence was the goal of a Filipino group [illegible] paid Spain $20,000,000 for the islands after the conclusion of the [illegible] in 1898. Forty years after the event it is in fair way of establishment, but already it is being viewed with misgivings by some of the most ardent separatists.

For this there are two important reasons: First is the prospect of losing the American market for sugar at the behest of the cane and beet sugar interests of the United States and the American banking interests dominant in Cuban sugar; second, the fear, despite the assurance of General MacArthur that the islands can be defended, lest Japan grab what we relinquish.

The natural resources of the islands have never been fully developed, but it would be a singular commentary on our governmental ideals if we abandoned them to quick economic ruin or absorption by conquest.

THE GAS TAX BOOM

According to the United States bureau of public roads, American motorists last year paid a total of $766,853,000 in gasoline taxes collected by the various states. This is the amount paid the states alone. It does not include the federal levy.

Oregon imposed the first tax on gasoline in 1919. Since that time more than $8,000,000,000 has been taken in by the various units of government, state and federal, through levies on motor fuel.

Well may the motorists wonder whether the end is in sight or whether this particular form of taxation is destined to become increasingly onerous.

The ideal thing would be a thorough recasting of the nation's entire fiscal structure with a view to equitable apportionment of the tax burden. Until that is done, gasoline probably will continue to be an attractive object for the conscienceless and never-satisfied political spenders.

HONOLULU, Aug. 19.—Dear staff: This may be a pipe dream, but do you know the kind of movie I'd like to see? Hedy Lamarr, Dolores Del Rio, Johnny Weissmuller, and Joel McCrea in a picture with a true Hawaiian background. I mean, ship those stars and a camera crew over here and start them to work.

The picture should be dreamily romantic. The plot wouldn't make much difference, so long as the screen caught the beauty and spirit of Hawaii, with plenty of beach and jungle stuff. And of course, the two gals should end up in the two fellas' arms.

One motion picture that stands out in my memory was "Bird of Paradise," filmed on this island several years ago with Miss Del Rio and McCrea. It was a box office sensation, and no movie was ever more beautiful pictorially. After its acclaim by press and public alike, I was sure Hollywood would make a habit of shooting pictures in Hawaii.

But no, the producers—the same fellows who discover bright, potential stars today and forget them tomorrow—apparently failed to remember the box office success of "Bird of Paradise," for there were no follow-ups. Oh, a few minor troupes have come here for backgrounds—but no really big companies, such as the Lamarr, Del Rio, Weissmuller, McCrea combination.

Can you imagine how people would trample each other to see the picture I suggest, with Hedy and Dolores supplying the exotic beauty, and Johnny and Joel the masculine physiques and athletic feats. Why, there isn't a male or female movie fan in the world who wouldn't see that picture.

THEY CALL IT POLITICS

WASHINGTON—If candidates for the Democratic nomination for president were going to run like horses in the derby, it would not be a bad idea to put a little money on Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, for "show."

For the Democratic sweepstakes next June the odds-on favorite is still Franklin D. Roosevelt, the second choice is John Nance Garner and the horse that didn't even look as if it were going to get away from the starting post just a little while back, Wheeler, is now in third position and going strong. The really important point is that this recent spurt of Wheeler has resulted in his passing Paul V. McNutt, and for significant reasons.

Six months ago Wheeler scoffed at the idea he might be nominated and would carefully explain to admirers just why the then political setup made it impossible. The key log in this setup, as Wheeler's friends then understood it, was that Roosevelt would never accept Wheeler as a "compromise" candidate.

He and two young friends [illegible] in Havana, Mr. Vanderbilt [illegible] an American brokerage firm. And here begins the story of La Compania [illegible] de Caucho S A.

Perhaps it was the bounding rhumba dancers that gave them the idea, but at any rate, these [illegible] started [illegible] manufacturing company. [illegible]

It is perhaps fitting that a rubber-heel company should be started on a shoestring. At any rate, the boys did not harpoon the family bankrolls. They scraped together their few white chips, kept control in their own hands, bought stock and machinery cautiously and felt their way in carefully.

High Cuban tariffs on rubber heels had given them their opening. Their business opportunity lay in being able to import raw rubber, on which the duty was not burdensome, and to employ native labor effectively. Two of the boys had technical knowledge. Young Mr. Vanderbilt has majored in finance and economics at Yale.

Any American business man of experience in this field will tell you that it is pretty ticklish business, tacking through the Sargasso sea of red tape in these foreign countries. Laws governing the employment of labor by foreigners have been tightened up a lot. There were snares for the unwary in multiple problems of marketing, prices and what not. But so far the three striplings have charted their way through them like an old skipper through the Windward Passage.

"We have obeyed their laws carefully, and we keep out of trouble," said Mr. Vanderbilt. "We find that we can get reasonable efficiency out of native workmen, and that there is an expanding market for our product."

"It is my impression that Latin-American countries are a bit cagey about official patronage from any of the big powers. OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

One of the weakest, most serious defenses of wrong-doing is the plaintive "He made me do it." "Well, she coaxed me." If we could get children to understand that nobody under the sun can compel their wills and that they, and they only, control their actions, we could save them much grief.

One child is stronger than another in will and purpose, and he does his best to sway the weaker one, with success, usually. When the settlement for the error has to be made, and it cannot be avoided, the stronger one goes his way blithely. He gets out of it somehow. He has used the weaker one for his purpose and covered his own wrong doing. All the victim can manage for himself is, "He made me do it."

We have to try to strengthen the soul of the helpless one. Begin by attending to his body, building up health. Guard his diet, his hours of sleep, play, recreation of all sorts. Watch to help him find the best possible associates so their influence can be used for his strengthening. Feed him well. Do what you can to stimulate his spiritual courage. Here he is weakest.

I think that every child, strong or weak, ought to know the story of Daniel by heart. Until Daniel's spirit is in him he will follow the crowd, lie down under pressure, sacrifice his principles, lose his soul, and die indeed. The story of Daniel told and retold, ought to inspire the children to stand up for what they believe to be right for them and dare the consequences. Of that stuff martyrs are made. While few are called to make a major sacrifice all are called upon to choose between right and wrong, and often they must suffer for their choice as the martyrs did, but they also triumph and learn the glory of being men and women.

I don't want children to be driven into being heroes. That's as bad as the other extreme. What is needed is the teaching and example that inspire children and youth to make a choice between one side and another, and to stick by the decision once it has been made for what they believe to be truth and righteousness.

Such decisions do not have to be made so often that they are ordinary. Lions do not face us daily. But in children's daily lives decisions between what they know to be right for them, and what somebody else wants, or even what they want, to the contrary, must be made. "Mother said never to go riding after school, but the others are going. Why can't I? Helen says it's all right. They all want me to go. I'll be called a sissy and a mothers baby if I don't. I'm going." And too bad.

We want to strengthen children

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

This is the season when many a person who has been accustomed to avoiding the sun as much as possible suddenly decides that sunburn is synonymous with health and exposes his entire body on the beach or in the fields with little or no protection. Years of experience have caused doctors to recognize that too much sunlight and too much burning of the skin may not be especially beneficial.

Indeed the specialists in diseases of the skin recognize a condition which they call sailor's skin or farmer's skin, which occurs in people who seem to be especially sensitive to sunlight and who are exposed to it more or less constantly for a good many years. In these people the skin becomes wrinkled and dry and develops a number of permanent freckles. These freckles are not very dangerous.

Occasionally, however, they become hardened like the hard brown spots that appear in the skins of very old people. Occasionally, due to irritative or other factors, one of these spots may develop the characteristics of cancer. That fact has caused some alarm to people who have heard that exposure to sun may cause cancer.

There has been more sunbathing during the past 25 years than ever before. In addition to the ordinary sunbathing there has been a great deal of exposure to ultraviolet rays from artificial sources. Notwithstanding this increased exposure, the figures for deaths from cancer of the skin at all ages below 45 for the last 25 years indicate about one death for every 100,000 people in the group. The death rate among older people is slightly greater.

Moreover, the death rates from cancer of the skin have been steadily falling over a period of 25 years. The specialists in diseases of the skin account for the fall in the death rate by the fact that people have become educated to the danger of lesions of the skin that will not heal and that modern medicine has developed ways for taking care of these lesions, including surgical removal, the use of radium, the use of carbon dioxide snow or similar methods.

The best advice is that people who have a low tolerance in their skins for light and heat should not only avoid direct sunlight and artificially produced ultraviolet rays, but should avoid even diffuse sunlight and the reflected light from snow, water and sand. Most people know very promptly whether or not their skins are sensitive to the sun. Such people can protect the skin by wearing veils, by using creams that will not permit the passage of the sun's rays, or by keeping themselves in the shade.

People with certain forms of skin disease must also avoid the sunlight because these skin diseases make those portions of the skin especially sensitive, and the change in coloration of the skin in the affected area may be permanent.

Heroic Statue Honors U. S. Pioneer Mother

AMERICAN history is filled with glowing accounts of the men who "won the west"—the pioneers whose courage and determination peopled the vast acres from the Mississippi to the Pacific.

But not enough is said of the Pioneer Mother. She was there, too, at her husband's side, sharing his dangers, privations and hardships. Hers was the task of transforming a sod dugout or log cabin into a home, of bearing and raising her children alone, with none of the comforts or conveniences mothers have today.

It was to pay tribute to this great American woman that E. W. Marland, oil magnate and former governor of Oklahoma, conceived the idea in 1925, of building an heroic statue, to be erected in a state park near Ponca City, Okla. He commissioned 12 sculptors to submit models, arranged for exhibitions and left the decision on the statue to the people of the country.

Bryant Baker's statue was selected, reproduced in bronze 20 feet high. The statue was unveiled in 1930. It depicts the Pioneer Mother, her face to the west, striding forward. She is a typical frontier woman, erect, resolute, her clear eyes looking out from under a sunbonnet. At her side is her young son.

Cutting The Taxes

It is interesting to watch what happens when a local governing board announces its determination to reduce taxes or to prevent an increase in taxes.

To accomplish either of those objectives which, of course, in general has widespread public approval, the board must set about planning how and where to curtail expenses; then the trouble begins.

"We find," says the board, "that we can save thirty thousand dollars a year by certain reductions in court expenditures."

"Wow!" yells the local bar association. "Nothin' doin'!"

And immediately the bar association applies the heat to the governing body. The board backs off.

"We can save fifty thousand dollars a year," says the board, "by certain economies in the school system."

"Wow!" yell the parents, who are immediately joined in the chorus by teachers and other employes who, though by no stretch of the imagination could be termed efficient or qualified, are backed by family connections or political pull.

And immediately the parents, etc., apply the heat to the governing body. The board backs off.

And thus every economy which the board proposes is received with a deafening "Wow!" by every group of persons who feel their lives or interests will be adversely touched. Each group builds a fire under the board.

But commonly there is one large economy the board could practice with full justification: It could pay city officials and employes according to the scale of remuneration such persons could obtain for their services in private industries.

Or, on the other hand, it could ignore the "Wows!" and take the course that its common sense directs.

MEANING—NOT SO MUCH

A sop to Filipino uneasiness at the prospect of complete governmental separation from the United States in 1946 was thrown by the retiring congress in the passage of a bill presuming a sincere effort will be made to cushion trade relationship between the two nations well before the tie is cut.

Congress proposes that by 1944, or earlier, a new study be made with a view to modifying the present law, which is a threat to exports to this country from the Philippines. It is not, of course, binding on any ensuing congress, and therefore can be taken at best as a gesture of good will.

Absolute independence was the goal of a Filipino group long before we paid Spain $20,000,000 for the islands after the conclusion of the fracas in 1898. Forty years after the event it is in fair way of establishment, but already it is being viewed with misgivings by some of the most ardent separatists.

For this there are two important reasons: First is the prospect of losing the American market for sugar at the behest of the cane and beet sugar interests of the United States and the American banking interests dominant in Cuban sugar; second, the fear, despite the assurance of General MacArthur that the islands can be defended, lest Japan grab what we relinquish.

The natural resources of the islands have never been fully developed, but it would be a singular commentary on our governmental ideals if we abandoned them to quick economic ruin or absorption by conquest.

THE GAS TAX BOOM

According to the United States bureau of public roads, American motorists last year paid a total of $766,853,000 in gasoline taxes collected by the various states. This is the amount paid the states alone. It does not include the federal levy.

Oregon imposed the first tax on gasoline in 1919. Since that time more than $8,000,000,000 has been taken in by the various units of government, state and federal, through levies on motor fuel.

Well may the motorists wonder whether the end is in sight or whether this particular form of taxation is destined to become increasingly onerous.

The ideal thing would be a thorough recasting of the nation's entire fiscal structure with a view to equitable apportionment of the tax burden. Until that is done, gasoline probably will continue to be an attractive object for the conscienceless and never-satisfied political spenders.

Mr. Garner keeps a trailer and a battered 1931-model automobile for his fishing trips; takes the old car because it is high-slung and can negotiate rutty, chewed-up roads that a modern car couldn't take. He also keeps a canoe, together with a lot of fishing tackle.

Returning to Uvalde after a session in Washington, he lashes the canoe atop the trailer, sticks the fishing tackle and a supply of grub inside, picks up an old fishing crony and sets out to do a little intensive loafing.

The two men usually wander off into the back country, as far from the traveled road as they can get; when they strike a likely-looking spot by some stream they camp, get the canoe down and stay there as long as the fish are biting. Then they wander on to the next likely-looking spot and repeat the performance. Bass, crappies and channel cats are the usual catch.

The trip may take two weeks, may take three, may take longer. The vice-president doesn't come home until he feels thoroughly relaxed.

Prize Speaker

Some sort of prize for speaking under difficulties ought to go to Congressman Paul Shafer of Michigan, who addressed a Pennsylvania political rally about the time congress closed.

Midway in his speech a definite and high pungent aroma began to drift across the open-air forum; a concentrated essence of skunk; which got so strong that people began hiding behind their handkerchiefs.

"I didn't know," remarked Shafer to his audience, "that this speech smelled as badly as all that."

Then a couple of skunks wandered out from under the speaker's platform, sauntered down the aisle and left the meeting flat.

California, Here They Come

A staff of probably 35 people will be taking off for California shortly to carry on the investigation of the senate civil liberties committee. The committee got $50,000 for its expenses in place of the $100,000 Senators La Follette and Thomas (its only members) said was necessary; opinion as to whether the senate will give it more when the $50,000 is gone is divided.

Meanwhile, the $50,000 will be stretched as far as possible. Documents for the committee's files will be photostated instead of copied, to save on stenographic costs.

Most of the committee's workers will be "borrowed" from various government departments and agencies. (This is a common Washington custom followed by practically all committees.) The bulk of the $50,000 thus will be available for traveling expenses and living expenses.

A lot of work has to be done before open hearings can be held. Best guess is that hearings probably won't occur much before November.

Keller introduced a complicated and far-reaching industrial reconstruction bill in the closing days of congress. He'll use the material thus gained when he starts plugging for his industrial reconstruction bill next winter.

Then—"I'm not interested in the encyclopedia," she said, "but I am interested in your voice. Have you ever thought of acting?" The net result was a screen test for Mr. Truman and a free course in the Warner Brothers' dramatic class. Incidentally, he proved to be the son of Gjertsen, the famous opera star.

Speaking of singers, Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond were guests the other day, at the Frank Lloyd ranch. Came time for dinner and Jeanette was missing. After considerable search, they finally found her—delightedly feeding a suckling pig milk from a baby's bottle.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE BLIND BUILDER—Joe Powell, who completely lost his sight in 1926, built a seven-room house for himself and his family seven years later. He cut, fitted and nailed together the entire building, and he also did the weather-boarding and roofing. The house is inhabited by himself and his family of four, and is in good condition. While he was building the house, his neighbors offered to help him, but Joe Powell declined with thanks.

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1939, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Back in the days of Richard Harding Davis and his "Soldiers of Fortune," Latin-American adventure, or at any rate our ideas of it, followed pretty closely the best principles of living melodrama, with the bucko young mining engineer from the U. S. A. leaping gaily into the revolutions of explosive little republics, to his ultimate fame and fortune; for of course he got both the girl and the job.

It was an exciting scenario, but it is becoming a bit all too unhappily outmoded. Our intelligent and adventurous youngsters of today, thanks to better communications and news coverage, are getting a truer picture of Central and South America.

They are getting it in the world focus of contending political and economic forces, of emerging nationalities and cultures; and the lad of 1939 who would take staff and scrip on the trail of the Conquistadores is tilting at no windmills of romance—although the romance is there in plenty, in every green jungle, in every purple beach.

These reflections spring from a talk with my young friend John Vanderbilt, home for a holiday from a still-continuing business adventure in Havana. Mr. Vanderbilt is just two years out of Yale. He and two young friends, also of recent university vintage, are job-holders in Havana—Mr. Vanderbilt, for an American brokerage firm. And here begins the story of La Compania Cubano de Caucho, S. A.

Taking the advice of Robert Louis Stevenson, the three youngsters climbed down from their high stools and started something on their own account. Perhaps it was the bounding rhumba dancers that gave them the idea, but, at any rate, what they started was a rubber-heel manufacturing company. And here it is, bouncing right into the black.

It is perhaps fitting that a rubber-heel company should be started on a shoestring. At any rate, the boys did not harpoon the family bankrolls. They scraped together their few white chips, kept control in their own hands, bought stock and machinery cautiously and felt their way in carefully.

High Cuban tariffs on rubber heels had given their opening. Their business opportunity lay in being able to import raw rubber, on which the duty was not burdensome, and to employ native labor effectively. Two of the boys had technical knowledge. Young Mr. Vanderbilt has majored in finance and economics at Yale.

Any American business man of experience in this field will tell you that it is pretty ticklish business, tacking through the Sargasso sea of red tape in these foreign countries. Laws governing the employment of labor by foreigners have been tightened up a lot. There were snares for the unwary in multiple problems of marketing, prices and what not. But so far, the three striplings have charted their way through them like an old skipper through the Windward Passage.

"We have obeyed their laws carefully, and we keep out of trouble," said Mr. Vanderbilt. "We find that we can get reasonable efficiency out of native workmen, and that there is an expanding market for our product."

"Do you find that the 'good neighbor' policy of the United States, along with Secretary Hull's overtures to South America, is becoming helpful to American business down there?"

"It is my impression that Latin-American countries are a bit cagey about official patronage from any of the big powers. They appreciate friendly gestures, but they examine trade proposals on their merits, and they naturally keep an eye out for their own percentage. The present regime is trying hard to stabilize business and trade conditions and to provide hospitality for foreign enterprise, but not to allow it to distort or pervert their own economy. There is a growing dollars-and-cents realism in Latin-America today."

"Do you think these countries offer opportunity to ambitious young Americans?"

"Decidedly. There are innumerable opportunities for small business enterprise, particularly those demanding a combination of technical and business knowledge. The Latin-American countries are rich in resources, and they will inevitably move on to higher living standards and to political stabilization."

"Have you any suggestion as to procedure for business pioneering down there?"

"Just one. In their tradition, just what you do is often less important than how you do it. When in Cuba, behave as the Cubans do."

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

One of the weakest, most serious defenses of wrong-doing is the plaintive, "He made me do it." "Well, she coaxed me." If we could get children to understand that nobody under the sun can compel their wills and that they, and they only, control their actions, we could save them much grief.

One child is stronger than another in will and purpose, and he does his best to sway the weaker one, with success, usually. When the settlement for the error has to be made, and it cannot be avoided, the stronger one goes his way blithely. He gets out of it somehow. He has used the weaker one for his purpose and covered his own wrong doing. All the victim can manage for himself is, "He made me do it."

We have to try to strengthen the soul of the helpless one. Begin by attending to his body, building up health. Guard his diet, his hours of sleep, play, recreation of all sorts. Watch to help him find the best possible associates so their influence can be used for his strengthening. Feed him well. Do what you can to stimulate his spiritual courage. Here he is weakest.

I think that every child, strong or weak, ought to know the story of Daniel by heart. Until Daniel's spirit is in him he will follow the crowd, lie down under pressure, sacrifice his principles, lose his soul, and die indeed. The story of Daniel told and retold, ought to inspire the children to stand up for what they believe to be right for them and dare the consequences. Of that stuff martyrs are made. While few are called to make a major sacrifice all are called upon to choose between right and wrong, and often they must suffer for their choice as the martyrs did, but they also triumph and learn the glory of being men and women.

I don't want children to be driven into being heroes. That's as bad as the other extreme. What is needed is the teaching and example that inspire children and youth to make a choice between one side and another, and to stick by the decision once it has been made for what they believe to be truth and righteousness.

Such decisions do not have to be made so often that they are ordinary. Lions do not face us daily. But in children's daily lives decisions between what they know to be right for them, and what somebody else wants, or even what they want, to the contrary, must be made. "Mother said never to go riding after school, but the others are going. Why can't I? Helen says it's all right. They all want me to go. I'll be called a sissy and a mothers baby if I don't. I'm going." And too bad.

We want to strengthen children against the pressure that drives them into trouble. We want them to know they must stand alone in the day of retribution, the friends who drove them are not there to answer. We want them to develop a spiritual courage that enables them to decide what they want to do, and to do it in spite of the world. Daniel, you remember, stood up to the king, and the lions that were to devour him lay down at his feet. Introduce Daniel to the children and let them live in his spirit until it is their own.

How to behave toward others is the most important lesson a child can learn, as he grows from babyhood to adolescence. YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine)

This is the season when many a person who has been accustomed to avoiding the sun as much as possible suddenly decides that sunburn is synonymous with health and exposes his entire body on the beach or in the fields with little or no protection. Years of experience have caused doctors to recognize that too much sunlight and too much burning of the skin may not be especially beneficial.

Indeed, the specialists in diseases of the skin recognize a condition, which they call sailor's skin or farmer's skin, which occurs in people who seem to be especially sensitive to sunlight and who are exposed to it more or less constantly for a good many years. In these people the skin becomes wrinkled and dry and develops a number of permanent freckles. These freckles are not very dangerous.

Occasionally, however, they become hardened like the hard brown spots that appear in the skins of very old people. Occasionally (due to irritative or other factors) one of these spots may develop the characteristics of cancer. That fact has caused some alarm to people who have heard that exposure to sun may cause cancer.

There has been more sunbathing during the past 25 years than ever before. In addition to the ordinary sunbathing there has been a great deal of exposure to ultraviolet rays from artificial sources. Notwithstanding this increased exposure the figures for deaths from cancer of the skin at all ages below 45 for the last 25 years indicate about one death for every 100,000 people in the group. The death rate among older people is slightly greater.

Moreover, the death rates from cancer of the skin have been steadily falling over a period of 25 years. The specialists in diseases of the skin account for the fall in the death rate by the fact that people have become educated to the danger of lesions of the skin that will not heal and that modern medicine has developed ways for taking care of these lesions, including surgical removal, the use of radium, the use of carbon dioxide snow or similar methods.

The best advice is that people who have a low tolerance in their skins for light and heat should not only avoid direct sunlight and artificially produced ultraviolet rays, but should avoid even diffuse sunlight and the reflected light from snow, water and sand. Most people know very promptly whether or not their skins are sensitive to the sun. Such people can protect the skin by wearing veils, by using creams that will not permit the passage of the sun's rays, or by keeping themselves in the shade.

People with certain forms of skin disease must also avoid the sunlight because these skin diseases make those portions of the skin especially sensitive, and the change in coloration of the skin in the affected area may be permanent.

THEY CALL IT POLITICS

WASHINGTON—If candidates for the Democratic nomination for president were going to run like horses in the derby, it would not be a bad idea to put a little money on Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, for "show."

For the Democratic sweepstakes next June the odds-on favorite is still Franklin D. Roosevelt, the second choice is John Nance Garner and the horse that didn't even look as if it were going to get away from the starting post, just a little while back, Wheeler, is now in third position and going strong. The really important point is that this recent spurt of Wheeler has resulted in his passing Paul V. McNutt, and for significant reasons.

Six months ago Wheeler scoffed at the idea he might be nominated and would carefully explain to admirers just why the then political setup made it impossible. The key log in this setup, as Wheeler's friends then understood it, was that Roosevelt would never accept Wheeler as a "compromise" candidate.

Since that time Roosevelt has poured a lot of oil on the Montana senator. He has sent for him again and again, first on the railroad legislation but gradually on other things. Examination of the list of White House appointments—which are made public every day—for the period from February to the adjournment of congress, will show a perfectly astonishing number of talks between the two.

Many of us in Washington have believed since the fight to enlarge the supreme court, in which Wheeler was made the leader against the president, that Roosevelt would never forgive him. Some of us still believe that. We simply cannot remember any other man who has fought Roosevelt and been forgiven and we find it difficult to conceive of his doing it in Wheeler's case. But we may be wrong. Whatever one may think of Wheeler, he is very likable personally as well as a forceful character. He plays ball and keeps his word. He seldom promises anything that he cannot deliver. His judgment as to what can or cannot be done is excellent.

Roosevelt has not found many among those whom he has actively liked since he entered the White House who have possessed all those qualities. For instance, Senators Sherman Minton, of Indiana, and Joe Guffey, of Pennsylvania, who were as enthusiastic about the "purge" as Tommy Corcoran and Ben Cohen. For instance, the great marathon orator, whom the president made Democratic leader of the senate, Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky.

So it just may be that next June, if the president discovers he cannot nominate a man who agrees with him one hundred per cent, he might turn to Wheeler rather than see the nomination of some one eager to tear down more of the New Deal than Wheeler. Always assuming, of course, that Roosevelt is not nominated himself.

It must be remembered that Wheeler has been so liberal for years that some have called him a Communist, that he was one of the most active of the "For Roosevelt Before Chicago" club, and that despite the fact that the White House ignored him on patronage in favor of his bitter political enemy, J. Bruce Kremer, Wheeler never opposed the president on any important issue until the supreme court battle.

Incidentally both Garner and Jim Farley are friendly to Wheeler—would not be averse to his nomination if they can't get it themselves.

Heroic Statue Honors U. S. Pioneer Mother

AMERICAN history is filled with glowing accounts of the men who "won the west"—the pioneers whose courage and determination peopled the vast acres from the Mississippi to the Pacific.

But not enough is said of the Pioneer Mother. She was there, too, at her husband's side, sharing his dangers, privations and hardships. Hers was the task of transforming a sod dugout or log cabin into a home, of bearing and raising her children alone, with none of the comforts or conveniences mothers have today.

It was to pay tribute to this great American woman that E. W. Marland, oil magnate and former governor of Oklahoma, conceived the idea in 1925, of building an heroic statue, to be erected in a state park near Ponca City, Okla. He commissioned 12 sculptors to submit models, arranged for exhibitions and left the decision on the statue to the people of the country.

Bryant Baker's statue was selected, reproduced in bronze 20 feet high. The statue was unveiled in 1930. It depicts the Pioneer Mother, her face to the west, striding forward. She is a typical frontier woman, erect, resolute, her clear eyes looking out from under a sunbonnet. At her side is her young son.

The Pioneer Mother statue at Ponca City is reproduced on the Mexican airmail stamp, above, green, commemorating the World Philatelic convention at Tulsa, Okla.

An elaborate agricultural show of the Soviet Union's strides in farming technique in the past 22 years will be held near Moscow. Covering about 335 acres, the exhibits have been prepared by 2,000 artists and 8,000 workers.

A human skull believed to be 130,000 years old has recently been found in Italy.

CLUB ORGANIZED BY TALL PEOPLE

Group Hopes To Have Seven-Foot Beds Installed In Every Hotel

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 19.—(AP)—In self-defense against "a world created for midgets," 11 Kansas City cloud dusters got together and organized the Skyliners' club with a goal of seven-foot beds in every hotel and size 16 shoes in every store.

It's the most exclusive club in town. If you're male you've got to be 6 feet, 4 to get in; if female, an even 6 feet will do.

Miss Rowena Wheeler, 6 feet 2, copped the idea from Hollywood but has ambitions to boom it into a national organization.

The five women and six men skyscrapers were so happy in their escape from the lower mortals and such quips as "you'll be a big help to mother when you grow up," it took them three hours to get down to business, name Miss Wheeler chairman, and vote to meet every Friday.

Miss Wheeler ducking under a chandelier moaned "when I have to stand in a bus my head thumps the top even though I bend down.

"We need longer beds and longer sheets. I have to sleep catacornered and when I pull the covers around my neck my feet stick out. Furniture is too low. Clothes don't fit."

Ray Shelley, 6 feet 7, hopes "we can make merchants comply with an ordinance about awnings not being less than eleven feet above the ground."

"Maybe," added Paul Campbell, 6 feet 6, "we could get theaters to put in a few seats a guy can sit in. I haven't been to a show in two years although I like 'em. As it is I have to find an aisle seat, then stick my feet out where other patrons can step on 'em."

Only Charles Rothmeral, 6 feet 8, saw any silver clouds.

"All that length comes in mighty handy watching a parade."

STORM WARNINGS SHOWN ON COAST

Rains—Reaching Flood Proportions In Two States—End Drouths

By Associated Press

Heavy rains reaching flood proportions in two states last night broke the intermittent drouth in most of the eastern states that had been stricken since May.

The downpour and wind severed communication lines and inundated highways in many parts of New Jersey. Camden, across the Delaware river from Philadelphia, reported traffic stalled in many streets. Several highways were closed.

Storm warnings were displayed along the Jersey and Delaware coasts. Four commercial fishing boats, with a dozen men aboard, were overdue at Wildwood, N. J. Some other sea craft sought the safety of the Delaware breakwater.

Delaware and the Delmarva peninsula suffered from wind and water. Milford, Del., streets were covered by five inches of water and power lines were disrupted.

In southern Maryland, near Leonardtown, a 70-year-old woman was killed when wind demolished her home.

The rains also reached into Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut but had not yet ridden the north-bound gulf disturbance as far as dry Massachusetts. Rain was forecast for the Bay state, however.

Eastern farmers, whose crops suffered heavily from drouth conditions alleviated slightly by a few previous showers, expressed fear that the deluge might injure their prospects further. In some cases they said it came too late to revive parched plants.

New York City's thirsty parks got a soaking that measured about an inch and was continuing.

In the deep south, thousands of acres of Alabama farm land were flooded by the overflowing Alabama, Little Pea and Cahaba rivers. The Red Cross estimated 4,500 persons had been driven from their homes in that locality.

accidents himself on two of which he collected insurance."

Story described his sons' deaths as accidents.

He was arrested Thursday at DeQueen, Ark., and was taken to an undisclosed jail in Texas.

Story married the third time last winter. He has three young children.

The last death in the Story family occurred June 8 near DeQueen. Story related his son, Joe, 15, was shot through the heart while hunting rabbits.

He told of the death of Frank, 10, March 8, 1937, drowned in a creek near Gainesville, Tex., while fishing.

The third son, Charley, who was 11 at the time, was run over and killed by a train at Peoria, Ill., 20 years ago, Steger quoted Story.

The peddler described his own accidents as follows:

One finger shot off, collected accident insurance.

Four fingers mashed off by a train, collected insurance.

Struck twice by coal falling off a passing freight train, did not collect.

Struck on the head by coal off a train while he was under a bridge, did not collect.

Mrs. Story died screaming near midnight in a burning Durant smokehouse.

Persons who tried to rescue her found the latch on the outside closed and the door stuck.

Story came up while the neighbors were tugging frantically at the door. He said he had been to town.

The sandy haired Story contended his wife must have gone into the smokehouse and the latch fell into its socket behind her.

CHANDLER WOULD BACK ROOSEVELT

Says He Will Support Any Candidate Nominated By Demooratio Party

By Kirk L. Simpson

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Political Washington noted with interest the prompt challenge implied by Governor A. B. "Happy" Chandler, Kentucky Democrat, to forecasts by insurgent senate Democrats of widespread party bolts in 1940 if a Roosevelt third-term ticket is named.

Chandler declared in an interview in New York that he would support the party's 1940 presidential candidate, whoever he was. That included President Roosevelt, he added. Mr. Roosevelt vigorously and successfully supported Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky when Chandler attempted to defeat him for the senatorial nomination in 1938.

Against the expression of Chandler stands a prediction by Senator Van Nuys, Indiana Democrat, that as many as 15 of the 69 senate Democrats might refuse to support a Roosevelt third-term ticket. The senator declined to supply a list of the Senators.

There are two circumstances tending to raise doubts in the minds of some politicians that a check-up among senate Democrats would show anything like Van Nuys' estimate of 15 who would be willing to put themselves publicly in the category.

One is the fact that popular preferential primaries to indicate party voter choices for president in 1940 will be held in nearly a score of states before the convention meets. Should these disclose a strong and nationwide current of Roosevelt third term sentiment, some politicians are inclined to believe that very few Democratic senators would openly oppose a third-term program—particularly those up for renomination and election next year.

There are 23 senate Democrats facing that problem. While a few of them like Burke of Nebraska, Byrd of Virginia, Gerry of Rhode Island, Holt of West Virginia, and King of Utah probably figure in the Indiana senator's undisclosed list of 15 possible anti-third term die-hards, it is doubtful that the rest of the 23, with retention of their seats immediately at stake, would commit themselves before party voter sentiment at home was more clearly indicated.

The other factor in the situation is the increasing doubt as to the president's 1940 intentions. His message to the Pittsburgh Young Democrat convention made it clear he would not actively support a "conservative" or "straddle-bug" presidential ticket next year; but not that he would actively oppose it.

This writer has talked with a presidential aide who said he believes that Mr. Roosevelt is thinking of cruising far waters during the campaign period if the Democratic convention picks a ticket he cannot support. He was said to have given no member of the inner circle any reason to suppose that he would bolt the party to the extent of either supporting, or leading, a "third-party" ticket.

For the 23 senate Democrats up next year, the party primaries beginning in March and running down into June to pick up convention delegates are vital. Those primaries will give a cross section of national party opinion. Included among states where Democratic senators are up for a party accounting and where party voters will get an opportunity in April and May to express directly their 1940 presidential ticket preferences are such important political units as Massachusetts, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

A wrong guess by any of those Democratic senators as to what their constituents think about the third-term movement, or about President Roosevelt and his policies, could be fatal to their chances of return to the senate. Few of them would care to risk threats of a party bolt against a Roosevelt-led national ticket as a means of obtaining renomination when there was no certainty that the president would even accept the nomination if offered by the convention.

DECISIVE TURN EXPECTED SOON

acceptance as fact that Great Britain and France intend to stand by Poland.

It gave way to disparagement of what help they could give.

Prime Minister Chamberlain planned to break his fishing holiday in Scotland and return to London for a meeting of the "inner cabinet" and other ministers Tuesday, to review the entire situation.

All quarters in London agreed that it had reached a dangerous stage with a peaceful solution growing more difficult each day.

Despite Chamberlain's declaration that the Danzig quarrel was a matter for Poland and Germany to settle some political quarters felt that the situation had become so grave he might decide on some move to try to break the deadlock.

Hungary's position also was a matter of concern in the British capital after the visits of Count Osaky, Hungarian foreign minister, to German and Italian officials.

From Rome the Hungarian visitor went to northern Italy to stay until Monday. While he thus suspended his talks with Premier Mussolini, a crowd back home in Budapest cheered a political leader's assertion of Hungary's firm desire to remain neutral in case of war. There were shouts of "Long live Poland!"

The Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions at Tientsin virtually was forgotten as flood water from the Hai river poured through and thousands of peasants in the vicinity fled to higher ground.

MOCK WAR NOT EXACTLY FUNNY

Mystery For Man In Ranks And He Doesn't Try To Solve It

By John A. Aspinwall

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 19.—(AP)—This peace-time mock war the 52,000 troops of the first army are waging high in the northern New York hills isn't exactly what Sherman described, but has its points.

The company commander, for instance, who had a machine nest neatly hidden away to block an "enemy" advance, probably thought Sherman's famous remark an under-statement, when a party of tourists, moseying across no man's land, stopped for a look-see.

Within five minutes the "enemy," quick to take a tip, blasted the spot with theoretical artillery fire, and an umpire advised the captain he'd better move his men out of there pronto.

It's also a bit hard on the smart young lieutenant, who pushes his platoon through a couple of swamps to capture an opposing force, and then is informed it doesn't count because his enthusiasm has gummed up the whole problem.

The lieutenant has to start all over again, and nine times out of ten, the outfit he "captured" winds up by pushing him off the map.

For the man in the ranks, the whole thing is just a mystery which he doesn't even try to solve.

For no reason that he can see, his outfit is marched off across the country, halted in the woods and apparently forgotten.

Private John Doe doesn't know it, but his company probably is being held in reserve for some unit "fighting" a mile or so away. Any way, it makes no difference to him, so he pulls a deck of cards from his pack and starts a game of rummy.

Lacking the cards, he may hunt through a newspaper to find out what this war's all about, or just lie down and go to sleep for an hour.

The army has acquired trespass rights to about 288,000 acres in this farm-dotted war zone, but a few neutral areas remain. More than one commander, planning to move his men through a field of waving grain or corn making perfect cover for an advance, finds himself staring at a yellow sign reading "out of limits."

It's all very perplexing.

One umpire, trying to straighten out a situation temporarily stalemated by a neutral zone, directed the opposing forces to move around the proscribed area to new positions. A few moments later the "enemies," who for safety's sake are under orders to approach no closer than 100 yards, stared into each other's eyes across a stone wall.

MEETINGS FOR CAMP FIRE HE

Girls Working On Handicra Cootie Party Is Conducted

The Camp Fire group in the Twin Cities, which is financed to a large extent by the Community Chest, is carrying on despite the fact that hot summer days are here, stated Mrs. Charles Mitchell, council president.

A "cootie party" was given at Camp Fire headquarters Monday by Wacherlovan No. 1 group. The first prize was won by Elaine Sittason and the booby prize by Helen Brothers. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Barbara Schuster and Bessie Shepard, to the following girls: Florence Reynolds, Barbara Cash, Mary Dixon, Myrtle Worley, Martha Brown, Nettigene Williams, Helen Hooper Stein, Lucille Mosely, Helen Brothers and Elaine Sittason.

The Wacherlovan group met at their headquarters Tuesday with the guardian, Mrs. Lucy Neely. The girls are now busy re-covering cushions for chairs in the Camp Fire rooms. They are specially interested in Indian basketry this summer. Materials, tools, preparation and weaving are being studied.

The guardian explained to the girls that not through written literature, not through music, architecture, sculpture or painting, as we understand fine arts, has the North American Indian expressed the intellectual and spiritual aspirations of the race, but more chiefly through the artistic handicrafts of the women. Textile handicraft was stressed as an invention of Indian women to meet the need for shelter, clothing, cradles, fish and snaring nets, mats and baskets. It was stressed also that so thoroughly did they master the intricacies of weaving that not a single new stitch has been added to the sum of primitive knowledge by the most skilled of modern craftsmen.

CLUB ORGANIZED BY TALL PEOPLE

Group Hopes To Have Seven-Foot Beds Installed In Every Hotel

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 19.—(AP)—In self-defense against "a world created for midgets," 11 Kansas City cloud dusters got together and organized the Skyliners' club with a goal of seven-foot beds in every hotel and size 16 shoes in every store.

It's the most exclusive club in town. If you're male you've got to be 6 feet, 4 to get in; if female, an even 6 feet will do.

Miss Rowena Wheeler, 6 feet 2, copped the idea from Hollywood but has ambitions to boom it into a national organization.

The five women and six men skyscrapers were so happy in their escape from the lower mortals and such quips as "you'll be a big help to mother when you grow up," it took them three hours to get down to business, name Miss Wheeler chairman, and vote to meet every Friday.

Miss Wheeler, ducking under a chandelier, moaned "when I have to stand in a bus my head thumps the top even though I bend down.

"We need longer beds and longer sheets. I have to sleep catacornered and when I pull the covers around my neck my feet stick out. Furniture is too low. Clothes don't fit.

Ray Shelley, 6 feet 7, hopes "we can make merchants comply with an ordinance about awnings not being less than eleven feet above the ground."

"Maybe," added Paul Campbell, 6 feet 6, "we could get theaters to put in a few seats a guy can sit in. I haven't been to a show in two years, although I like 'em. As it is I have to find an aisle seat, then stick my feet out where other patrons can step on 'em."

Only Charles Rothmeral, 6 feet 8, saw any silver clouds.

"All that length comes in mighty handy watching a parade."

TWO CONVICTED IN CONSPIRACY CASES

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Two of the three defendants were convicted in Dauphin county court today on charges of conspiracy to monopolize the bonding of state highway contracts.

James E. Kirk, Pittsburgh insurance man and Allegheny county Democratic chairman and Victor S. Skok, his associate in the bonding business, were convicted of conspiring to extort and misuse the office of the secretary of highways during the Democratic administration of Governor George H. Earle. The highways secretary at that time was the late Warren Van Dyke.

A third defendant, H. H. Temple, former chief engineer of the highway department, was acquitted. He had been charged with the other defendants of conspiring to extort and levy blackmail against insurance agents and road contractors.

STORM WARNINGS SHOWN ON COAST

Rains—Reaching Flood Proportions In Two States—End Drouths

(By Associated Press)

Heavy rains—reaching flood proportions in two states—last night broke the intermittent drouth in most of the eastern states that had been stricken since May.

The downpour and wind severed communication lines and inundated highways in many parts of New Jersey. Camden, across the Delaware river from Philadelphia, reported traffic stalled in many streets. Several highways were closed.

Storm warnings were displayed along the Jersey and Delaware coasts. Four commercial fishing boats, with a dozen men aboard, were overdue at Wildwood, N. J. Some other sea craft sought the safety of the Delaware breakwater.

Delaware and the Delmarva peninsula suffered from wind and water. Milford, Del., streets were covered by five inches of water and power lines were disrupted.

In southern Maryland, near Leonardtown, a 70-year-old woman was killed when wind demolished her home.

The rains also reached into Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut but had not yet ridden the north-bound gulf disturbance as far as dry Massachusetts. Rain was forecast for the Bay state, however.

Eastern farmers, whose crops suffered heavily from drouth conditions alleviated slightly by a few previous showers, expressed fear that the deluge might injure their prospects further. In some cases they said it came too late to revive parched plants.

New York City's thirsty parks got a soaking that measured about an inch and was continuing.

In the deep south, thousands of acres of Alabama farm land were flooded by the overflowing Alabama, Little Pea and Cahaba rivers. The Red Cross estimated 4,500 persons had been driven from their homes in that locality.

accidents himself on two of which he collected insurance."

Story described his sons' deaths as accidents.

He was arrested Thursday at DeQueen, Ark., and was taken to an undisclosed jail in Texas.

Story married the third time last winter. He has three young children.

The last death in the Story family occurred June 8 near DeQueen. Story related his son, Joe, 15, was shot through the heart while hunting rabbits.

He told of the death of Frank, 10, March 8, 1937, drowned in a creek near Gainesville, Tex., while fishing.

The third son, Charley, who was 11 at the time, was run over and killed by a train at Peoria, Ill., 20 years ago, Steger quoted Story.

The peddler described his own accidents as follows:

One finger shot off, collected accident insurance.

Four fingers mashed off by a train, collected insurance.

Struck twice by coal falling off a passing freight train, did not collect.

Struck on the head by coal off a train while he was under a bridge, did not collect.

Mrs. Story died screaming near midnight in a burning Durant smokehouse.

Persons who tried to rescue her found the latch on the outside closed and the door stuck.

Story came up while the neighbors were tugging frantically at the door. He said he had been to town.

The sandy haired Story contended his wife must have gone into the smokehouse and the latch fell into its socket behind her.

CHANDLER WOULD BACK ROOSEVELT

Says He Will Support Any Candidate Nominated By Democratic Party

By Kirk L. Simpson

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Political Washington noted with interest the prompt challenge implied by Governor A. B. "Happy" Chandler, Kentucky Democrat, to forecasts by insurgent senate Democrats of widespread party bolts in 1940 if a Roosevelt third-term ticket is named.

Chandler declared in an interview in New York that he would support the party's 1940 presidential candidate, whoever he was. That included President Roosevelt, he added. Mr. Roosevelt vigorously and successfully supported Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky when Chandler attempted to defeat him for the senatorial nomination in 1938.

Against the expression of Chandler stands a prediction by Senator Van Nuys, Indiana Democrat, that as many as 15 of the 69 senate Democrats might refuse to support a Roosevelt third-term ticket. The senator declined to supply a list of the Senators.

There are two circumstances tending to raise doubts in the minds of some politicians that a check-up among senate Democrats would show anything like Van Nuys' estimate of 15 who would be willing to put themselves publicly in the category.

One is the fact that popular preferential primaries to indicate party voter choices for president in 1940 will be held in nearly a score of states before the convention meets. Should these disclose a strong and nationwide current of Roosevelt third term sentiment, some politicians are inclined to believe that very few Democratic senators would openly oppose a third-term program—particularly those up for renomination and election next year.

There are 23 senate Democrats facing that problem. While a few of them like Burke of Nebraska, Byrd of Virginia, Gerry of Rhode Island, Holt of West Virginia, and King of Utah probably figure in the Indiana senator's undisclosed list of 15 possible anti-third term die-hards, it is doubtful that the rest of the 23, with retention of their seats immediately at stake, would commit themselves before party voter sentiment at home was more clearly indicated.

The other factor in the situation is the increasing doubt as to the president's 1940 intentions. His message to the Pittsburgh Young Democrat convention made it clear he would not actively support a "conservative" or "straddle-bug" presidential ticket next year; but not that he would actively oppose it.

This writer has talked with a presidential aide who said he believes that Mr. Roosevelt is thinking of cruising far waters during the campaign period if the Democratic convention picks a ticket he cannot support. He was said to have given no member of the inner circle any reason to suppose that he would bolt the party to the extent of either supporting, or leading, a "third-party" ticket.

For the 23 senate Democrats up next year, the party primaries beginning in March and running down into June to pick up convention delegates are vital. Those primaries will give a cross section of national party opinion. Included among states where Democratic senators are up for a party accounting and where party voters will get an opportunity in April and May to express directly their 1940 presidential ticket preferences are such important political units as Massachusetts, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

A wrong guess by any of those Democratic senators as to what their constituents think about the third-term movement, or about President Roosevelt and his policies, could be fatal to their chances of return to the senate. Few of them would care to risk threats of a party bolt against a Roosevelt-led national ticket as a means of obtaining renomination when there was no certainty that the president would even accept the nomination if offered by the convention.

DECISIVE TURN EXPECTED SOON

acceptance as fact that Great Britain and France intend to stand by Poland.

It gave way to disparagement of what help they could give.

Prime Minister Chamberlain planned to break his fishing holiday in Scotland and return to London for a meeting of the "inner cabinet" and other ministers Tuesday, to review the entire situation.

All quarters in London agreed that it had reached a dangerous stage with a peaceful solution growing more difficult each day.

Despite Chamberlain's declaration that the Danzig quarrel was a matter for Poland and Germany to settle some political quarters felt that the situation had become so grave he might decide on some move to try to break the deadlock.

Hungary's position also was a matter of concern in the British capital after the visits of Count Osaky, Hungarian foreign minister, to German and Italian officials.

From Rome the Hungarian visitor went to northern Italy to stay until Monday. While he thus suspended his talks with Premier Mussolini, a crowd back home in Budapest cheered a political leader's assertion of Hungary's firm desire to remain neutral in case of war. There were shouts of "Long live Poland!"

The Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions at Tientsin virtually was forgotten as flood water from the Hai river poured through and thousands of peasants in the vicinity fled to higher ground.

Negotiations for the $550,000 loan, authorized by the state board of liquidation with the legislature's approval as a grant to the university in order to meet a deficit in operating and maintenance funds, have been continued for the past two weeks by the state treasury.

Delay in the negotiations was attributed to reluctance of many banks to extend credit in view of the fact L. S. U. has repudiated $500,000 in loans negotiated by Dr. Smith prior to his resignation as president.

Smith, in jail for nearly two months, is under indictment for embezzlement in connection with these loans and the university has retained counsel to fight repayment to the banks.

The $550,000 being given L. S. U. will apply on the school's operation and maintenance fund where auditors have discovered a $548,000 deficit reflected by the fact money never had been taken from it for setting up the sinking fund for the bonds.

University authorities, upon discovering the sinking fund was missing, insisted it be created at once before L. S. U. spent any further money whatsoever. It was pointed out that bond owners might demand the sinking fund be set up at any time and thus suddenly deplete operating and maintenance funds in mid-term and cripple the educational program.

In addition to the $548,000 deficit due to the absence of a sinking fund, there are $200,000 outstanding unpaid bills but the university authorities are endeavoring to absorb these during the current year without additional appropriations.

"The university in its program of expansion is indebted to the people who have purchased its bonds," Dr. Hebert said. "Our duty is to see to it that that the owners of these bonds shall be properly protected in accordance with the specific obligations which the university itself assumed in issuing these obligations of indebtedness.

"The university intends from this time on to discharge all of its obligations, both legal and moral, to the people of Louisiana who have supported it in the past and whose continued support is necessary if the university is to continue to function in its role as leader of the moral and educational training of the young people of the state."

Topics vital to the motor operating industry, which are slated for discussion at the convention include those looking toward a reduction in license costs for the trucking group and a reduction in the general operating costs in all divisions, securing uniform enforcement of regulations designed to prevent cut-throat competition in the contract and common carrier groups, seek adoption of a state "hitch-hiking" law similar to that adopted in Arkansas recently and which resulted in an immediate reduction of ten per cent in insurance rates; to seek legislation that will prevent the diversion of gasoline tax funds to any purpose other than the construction and maintenance of highways; and actively sponsor a constant safety campaign throughout the membership of the organization.

According to figures compiled recently by Mr. Grayson, there are now more than 80,000 trucks being operated in the state of Louisiana, having a total valuation of more than $40,000,000 and operated by approximately 36,000 operators. Department of Commerce figures, released August 17, revealed that Louisiana collected during 1938, $11,154,000 in motor fuel taxes as compared to but $7,000,000 in 1930. Mr. Grayson also pointed out that the present truck license average in Louisiana is $31.80 above the average for any other state in the union.

The government lost its case in Dallas Friday to have Burford removed here, in the case in which former Governor Richard W. Leche and hotel man Seymour Weiss are also charged.

"We will make Burford virtually a prisoner at least for the time being in north Texas, but we will get him," Rogge said today.

"If he's any kind of a traveling man we'll catch him," he added.

Rogge said he was studying mandamus appeal and another court in his effort to get Burford to New Orleans, but that he would not summon him as a witness and then cause his arrest under indictment.

Certified copies of the indictment against Burford were sent today to every federal district in which it was thought Burford might be.

"We may be able to pick Burford up if he sets foot anywhere outside the northern district of Texas," Rogge said.

Seven more postal inspectors and internal revenue agents were expected to join the federal investigation next week.

ATTORNEY SAYS BURFORD TO CARRY ON BUSINESS

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 19.—(P)—Dillard Estes, attorney for Freeman Burford, said today the Dallas oil man, who successfully resisted an order for removal to New Orleans to face an indictment for conspiracy to violate the Connally "hot oil" act, would continue to go about his business.

Estes made his statement while Assistant Attorney General O. John Rogge in New Orleans reiterated his assertion an effort would be made to "pick up" Burford in some other federal district.

"Mr. Burford will, as a practical proposition, go about his business as would any other businessman who has been found innocent beyond a reasonable doubt," said Estes.

Burford's attorneys contended the government has no appeal from Federal Judge T. W. Davidson's ruling refusing the order of removal.

OIL CONTROVERSY BECOMING WORDY

ates in their vicious attempt to rule or ruin the industry, it strikes me your statement is poorly timed and uncalled for," Sadler added.

Ernest O. Thompson, Chairman of the interstate oil compact commission, insisted the oil states are handling their problems well "without federal control."

"It's just a case of using the power that is theirs without running to Washington for everything under the sun," he said.

At Cheyenne, Wyo., Senator J. C. O'Mahoney, chairman of the fact-finding temporary national economic committee, expressed hope that a hearing opening September 18 in Washington would produce facts necessary for recommending congressional legislation to untangle the oil problem.

"Any one can see by these recent events that the oil industry is in a deplorable condition," the Democratic senator commented regarding the recent shut down.

"Most of the business on which full employment depends is national business, and there has peen no formula by which business can be adjusted to local conditions.

"This is illustrated in the oil industry where large companies which carry on the industry seem to occupy a field which is not adequately covered by either state or national law.

"The anti-trust laws, whether state or national, never have been effective in preventing price fixing and it has seemed to make no difference who happened to be enforcing the law.

"It is because of this condition that I sponsored the resolution which created the monopoly committee."

Ickes said the interior department had no reports of Connally act violations incident to the production shutdown.

In the face of the crude oil stoppage, reserves were failing, however, especially at the small refineries, and jobbers scrambled for gasoline to protect their territories.

Adding support to the shutdown, Michigan announced a temporary reduction in withdrawal limits, cutting its yield nearly a fourth.

Texas, the nation's largest oil producer, led the shutdown this week after Sinclair Prairie Oil Marketing company had slashed its crude purchasing price by 20 cents a barrel and other companies had followed suit. Oklahoma, New Meixco, Kansas, Arkansas and Louisiana joined Texas quickly in turning off the spigots on two-thirds of the nation's oil production.

The only sharp resistance to the well stopping was by the Lion Oil Refining company, which won a court order temporarily enjoining Arkansas state police from keeping its wells padlocked in the Shuler field.

LION CONCERN RESISTS ORDER SUCCESSFULLY

EL DORADO, Ark., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Lion Oil Refining company, after successfully resisting for one day efforts of the Arkansas oil and gas commission to force shutdown of its 52 producing wells in the Shuler Field's Jones sand near here, agreed voluntarily late today to suspend operations in the area until 6 p.m. Monday.

The surprise move interrupted a hearing by Chancellor W. A. Speer on the commission's petition for a court order to force the Lion to abide by the general shutdown decree that went into effect on all Arkansas controlled fields Thursday.

The commission went to court for such an order today after the Lion yesterday obtained an injunction to prevent state police from enforcing the shutdown.

Chancellor Speer, announcing the Lion's voluntary week-end "holiday," recessed the hearing until 9 a.m. Monday when he will consolidate the commission's petition with a suit field by the Lion Thursday for a permanent injunction against application of the general shutdown decree to Jones Sand wells. The oil company contended the shutdown order was a price fixing and not a conservation move.

Lion officials said the 52 wells, which resumed production last night after state police were withdrawn from the scene would be closed tonight by the company's crews.

Routine questioning nearly turned to violence as Dies committee on un-American activities opened Washington summer session. Representative Joe Starnes of Alabama, left, asked Fritz Kuhn if purpose of his German-American bund was to establish Nazi government in America. "That's a lie!" roared Kuhn, as shown at right. POSTAL INQUIRY GETS UNDER WAY two buildings in north Louisiana in which postoffices were located would be the subject of investigation by postal authorities.

It was also made public both by the United States attorney and by a committee of citizens from Alto, Richland parish, that they had filed with the United States attorney here Friday an application, charging that companies named in an alleged monopoly be submitted to the anti-trust division at Washington for investigation.

They charged that the mails were used in making representations as to prices and policies of the company and other reports to property owners, which the citizens making the complaint alleged contained discrepancies and deceptions which they charged constituted violations of the postal laws and the alleged use of the mails to finally defraud the landowners of the true price of natural gas.

The citizens' group charged in their complaint that they were defrauded of over two million dollars during the life of their gas field to date. They charged that a certain company which they named in their petition had failed to drill the field according to contract, had in their method of drilling injured a part of the field, and that alleged monopolistic control had been effected by a merger of many companies in the field; by complete and well-defined monopolistic understanding with other companies in the field thereby enabling the one company to control the field's drilling and to draw gas from beneath lands of others without the cost of drilling as the company had contracted to do; and further that a "parent company" was organized and stock therein sold to landowners.

It was alleged that the landowners were influenced by the statements of the agents of the company to the alleged effect that gas would be taken from the field unless they bought stock in the company.

The charges also contained the allegation that "untold millions" of gallons of gasoline were extracted by the companies and exported from the field, in addition to several billion feet of gas extracted by the companies and exported from the field, for which, it was charged, the landowners were never remunerated.

They asked the governor, state authorities and federal authorities for action and relief, and especially asked that these charges be brought to the attention of the department of justice at Washington.

When interviewed on the matters contained in the complaint, Fields declined comment except to state the same opinion given another group last week that made complaint along the same line, namely that his office could instigate no proceedings until the matter had been referred to the anti-trust division at Washington and their instructions received in the matter. He said he knew nothing of the merits of the charges and withheld comment.

Mayor Vic Lamkin of Alexandria will officially open the convention with an address of welcome in the Venetian room of Hotel Bentley.

Due to the heavy increase in membership in the Louisiana association during the past nine months, a complete reorganization will be undertaken at the coming convention in order to provide representation on the board of directors for the recently added groups. When completed the new board will have 36 members, representing twelve allied groups in the organization, including wholesalers, bakers, laundries, contract and common carriers, oil-field haulers, lumber industry and public utility groups.

Topics vital to the motor operating industry, which are slated for discussion at the convention include those looking toward a reduction in license costs for the trucking group, and a reduction in the general operating costs in all divisions; securing uniform enforcement of regulations designed to prevent cut-throat competition in the contract and common carrier groups; seek adoption of a state "hitch-hiking" law similar to that adopted in Arkansas recently and which resulted in an immediate reduction of ten per cent in insurance rates; to seek legislation that will prevent the diversion of gasoline tax funds to any purpose other than the construction and maintenance of highways; and actively sponsor a consistent safety campaign throughout the membership of the organization.

According to figures compiled recently by Mr. Grayson, there are now more than 80,000 trucks being operated in the state of Louisiana, having a total valuation of more than $40,000,000 and operated by approximately 36,000 operators. Department of Commerce figures, released August 17, revealed that Louisiana collected during 1938, $11,154,000 in motor fuel taxes, as compared to but $7,000,000 in 1930. Mr. Grayson also pointed out that the present truck license average in Louisiana is $31.80 above the average for any other state in the union.

towards the maintenance of peace because of knowledge of the world through his travels, especially to the United States and South America."

In his public audience the Pope recalled that he had been striving to prevent war ever since his election to the papacy last March.

"In the present hour, which renews acute anxiety and trembling of heart," he said, "we ourself, from the first day of our pontificate, have attempted and done what was in our power to ward off the danger of war and cooperate in the attainment of solid peace, founded on justice, which would safeguard the liberty and honor of the peoples."

"We have even, within the limits of possibility and so far as the duties of our apostolic ministry allowed us, laid aside other tasks and other preoccupations which weigh on our minds," the pope continued.

"We have imposed prudent caution on ourself, in order not to make more difficult or impossible for us in any way the work for peace, conscious of all in this field that we owed and owe to the children of the Catholic church and all humanity.

"We do not want nor do we have the heart to give up the hope that feelings of moderation and objectivity will serve to avert a conflict which, according to every forecast, would exceed even the past in destruction and material and spiritual ruin, we do not cease to trust that the rulers of peoples in decisive hours will refuse to assume the inexpressible responsibility of an appeal to force.

"But above all, human hopes resting in the depths of goodness and in the wisdom of man, our eyes are lifted to the omnipotent, to the father of mercy and to the god of every consolation."

"Of him, in whose hands are the hearts as well as the minds of those who govern, we want to implore anew that, in his infinite goodness and mercy towards the human race, he put an end to war, wherever it now wages, and benignly save us all from the scourge of new and more cruelly bloody conflicts."

The pope after thus praying for an end to the war in China and for prevention of a new war concluded:

"Over this troubled world as a sea in storm may God make appear and shine the rainbow of calm, peace and active harmony among peoples and nations, and with redoubled fervor cease not to raise to him the incessant plea; Lord, give us peace."

Farley explained that while he had discussed European and American questions with the pontiff during his 15-minute audience he could not comment on the specific subjects on which they talked.

The pope, recalling his trip to the United States in 1936, asked best wishes to the many Americans he had met, and especially to President Roosevelt.

After Farley's private talk the pope received Farley's daughters, Anne and Elizabeth, and E. L. Roddan, Washington, D. C., an aide to the postmaster general. The pope presented them with medals and rosaries.

Farley, who has been the guest of United States Ambassador William Phillips, will leave Rome tomorrow for Paris.

While Detective Bedsole was questioning the man on the porch, Detective Parker and the girl went on into the house, where the girl was said have pointed Savage out as the man who beat her. Detective Parker approached Savage and was quoted as saying, "I am a police office and would like to speak to you a moment outside."

Savage was said to have suddenly struck the officer, knocking him to his knees. Savage allegedly continued beating the detective down. Detective Bedsole, hearing the commotion, ran into the room, but Detective Parker had managed to draw his pistol and had fired one shot through Savage's left side before Detective Bedsole reached them. The officer was on his knees when he fired, it was reported.

Savage was said to have fled from the room as soon as the shot was fired, but he was found hiding in some weeds on a lot nearby, and Detective Bedsole summoned an ambulance to carry the wounded man to the hospital.

Detective Parker was bleeding badly on the left side of his head, and said he had been "struck by something hard, either a knife or knucks." He suffered a sever bruise on the side of the head, near his left eye, and bruises on the top of his head.

beginning in October, which will take him from coast to coast. He has announced the intention of attacking the administration's foreign policies during this tour.

Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, who has been in Canada on a vacation, will leave about September 1 for the west coast, stopping overnight on the way in Cincinnati, his home. Office assistants here said Taft would make one speech, at Seattle, Wash., early in September.

Accompanied by Mrs. Taft, the Ohio senator expects to visit the San Francisco World's fair, but no arrangements have been made as yet for any address except that at Seattle.

Senator Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire, will open an extensive speaking campaign with an address in Pittsburgh, September 16. He plans to go from there to Jacksonville, Ill., the next day and to continue speaking daily in most western states.

Friends said he did not plan any addresses either in Ohio, Taft's home state, or in Michigan, where Senator Vandenberg, also a prospective candidate, is vacationing at his home.

Vandenberg has made no announcement yet of his plans and dates for several prospective speeches this fall by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York yet are to be disclosed.

TWO INMATES STAB REFORMATORY HEAD

ELMIRA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Bleeding from three knife wounds in the chest, Dr. Frank L. Christian, 63-year-old superintendent of the Elmira reformatory, grappled with two escaping inmates today until they were subdued by guards.

Hanlon named the assailants as James Ereno, 20, and John Coyle, 21.

Placing a knife at the throat of the superintendent, Hanlon said, the men threatened to kill him unless he carried them out of the prison yard in his automobile.

The superintendent, instead, grappled with the pair and in the melee was stabbed three times in the chest. Despite his wounds, he clung to both men until guards came to his aid and placed them in cells.

MISSISSIPPI ASKS FOR COTTON PICKERS

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Mississippi employment service has received orders for 1,490 cotton-pickers, Field Supervisor R. L. Hinds of the special cotton-picking division reported today.

Offices of the employment service in state population centers will register all available pickers for transportation to the delta, Hinds said, "so that Mississippi workers may be used as far as possible in supplying the extra labor that is required."

Hinds said the majority of the orders call for workers to report "on or before September 1."

HERE ARE THE 3 THINGS YOU WANT IN A FLOOR VARNISH!

Neptunite
FLOOR V655

A BEAUTIFUL FINISH

LONG WEAR

QUICK-DRYING

Lowe Brothers Neptunite Floor Varnish has these three qualities because it's designed for floors. It isn't one of those varnishes claimed to be "good for everything." It gives you a smooth, glistening, beautiful floor that can be walked on in a few hours—the finish will stand up under the hardest kind of wear you can give it.

Lowe Brothers also make other high quality Neptunite varnishes. Each one is designed to do a specific job. "Interior"—high-gloss for woodwork; "Rubbing"—for use when the finish is to be rubbed; "Rubtone"—for a rubbed effect without rubbing; "Spar"—for exterior use, and "Seat"—for chairs, church pews, and other surfaces where unusually hard-drying is required.

All Neptunite Varnishes are heat-proof, mar-proof and waterproof. They won't turn white or scratch white. Come in and let us help you get the right varnish for the work you have in mind.

COMPLETELY WEATHER-RESISTING. Rain, sleet, snow and rays of the summer sun will not harm K & M "Century" Shingles. Your home gets absolute protection in all kinds of weather! Exposure to the elements actually toughens "Century" Shingles. Don't be misled by claims for water-repellents alone!

STRONG AND DURABLE. K & M "Century" Shingles are compressed to rock-like hardness when they are made and they become even tougher and stronger with age. For your protection, K & M tests all shingles and rejects any that do not meet rigid standards. All K & M Siding Shingles meet the same rigid standards that K & M has maintained for more than 35 years in the manufacture of heavy duty roofing shingles.

THE PLAYOFF

These [illegible] Monroe will meet Hot Springs and Clarksdale and Greenwood [illegible] fight it out in the [illegible] play-offs for the Cotton States league championship late this month. The teams are almost a cinch to finish [illegible] as they are as this is written Saturday.

It appears that the only possible change would be a switch between the second and third place teams, Clarksdale and Greenwood, and that [illegible] effect on the pairings in the preliminaries. In this league [illegible] the team that finishes first meets the fourth-place aggregation and the second and third place teams tangle.

The official standings as issued from President Emmet Harty's office Saturday [illegible] show Monroe 12 games ahead of Clarksdale in second place. The Red Sox are four games in front of the third-place Greenwood Crackers [illegible] the Crax top the Hot Springs Bathers by five contests.

With only nine games, including Saturday's, remaining on the schedule, the other four teams apparently are out of the race for a place in the Shaughnessy finals. Greenville is six games behind Hot Springs and the rest are trailing by even larger margins.

Monroe, of course, is a mathematical certainty to finish on top of the heap. It is possible, of course, for a shift in the next three teams but highly improbable. Clarksdale has a

YANKEE RELAYERS SET NEW RECORD

Barnstorming Track Stars Break 3,200-Meter Mark In Paris Meet

PARIS, Aug. 19. (P) Four barnstorming American track stars ran the 3,200 meters relay in seven minutes 35 seconds and two-tenths seconds today, a new world record.

Ralph Schwarzkopf of Michigan, Roy Cochran of Indiana, Blaine Rideout of West Texas Teachers and Charles Beetham of Ohio State cut six tenths of a second off the old record of 7:35.8, hung up August 15, 1936, at London by the American team of Charles Hornbostel, Robert Young, Harry Williamson and John Woodruff.

The Americans trailed a French team until the last lap when Beetham spurted to win by five yards.

In the first day of the two-day international meet the United States team won every event in which it was entered.

The 400-meter relay team, made up of Joe Batiste of Tucson, Bill Watson of Michigan, Erwin Miller of Southern California, and Clyde Jeffrey of Stanford, turned in a time of 41.2 seconds.

Jeffrey won the special 200 yards "prix du stade" while Batiste took the 110 meters hurdles.

George Varoff of Oregon won the pole-vault, Watson the shot-put, Batiste the running broad-jump.

When overheated, there may be danger in drinking too much water. Athletes, especially, never drink much while hot. People who work hard and play hard turn to 7-Up for a safe "fresh up." When you are hot and thirsty, have a bottle of 7-Up just chilled, not too cold. Sip it slowly . . . taste each sip. You can feel the "fresh up" action in your mouth and throat. That's how a small bottle of 7-Up stops a big thirst.

WHITE SOX BEAT BUCKS 6 TO 5 IN 11 INNINGS

Sports Chatter

By GEORGE V LOFTON

WHAT PENNANT FUND

We've heard lots of talk about a pennant fund for the Monroe White Sox lately but we've seen little concrete evidence that there's such a thing. A number of fans have asked us about it and invariably they urge that some sort of reward be accumulated for the lads who have kept Monroe on top of the standings for practically the entire year.

"Players' night" produced a substantial sum, in dollars and cents, last Friday night but when divided into fifteen shares it doesn't amount to so much. We were told the players netted slightly more than $600 on the game.

We believe a number of fans would like to contribute something to express their appreciation of the work those Sox have turned in this season. That something may be two bits or two bucks, depending upon the current financial condition of the donor. And we further believe the players deserve a substantial reward for their efforts. The lads are playing Class C baseball, you must remember, and the pay checks aren't anything to get excited about.

Therefore, we'd like to encourage a handsome pennant fund for the Sox. We'll print the names of those who kick in, regardless of the amount donated. You may send your bit to the sports department of the New-Star—World, to the baseball office or to the Chamber of Commerce. It doesn't matter where, just so it's something.

After all, the White Sox have been a worthy representative of Monroe and this section, and their record for the 1939 season is worthy of substantial recognition.

THE PLAYOFF

Unless all signs fail, Monroe will meet Hot Springs and Clarksdale and Greenwood will fight it out in the preliminary playoffs for the Cotton States league championship late this month. The teams are almost a cinch to finish just as they are as this is written (Saturday).

It appears that the ouly possible change could be a switch between the second and third place teams—Clarksdale and Greenwood—and that would have no effect on the pairings in the preliminaries. In this league, you know, the club that finishes first meets the fourth-place aggregation, and the second and third place teams tangle.

The official standings, as issued from President Emmet Harty's office Saturday afternoon, show Monroe 12 games ahead of Clarksdale, in second place. The Red Sox are four games in front of the third-place Greenwood Crackers, while the Crax top the Hot Springs Bathers by five contests.

With only nine games (including Saturday's) remaining on the schedule, the other four teams apparently are out of the race for a place in the Shaughnessy finals. Greenville is six games behind Hot Springs and the rest are trailing by even larger margins.

Monroe, of course, is a mathematical certainty to finish on top of the heap. It is possible, of course, for a shift in the next three teams but highly improbable. Clarksdale has a

M'SPADEN BESTS GULDAHL TO WIN CANADIAN CROWN

Yields To Par With 282 For 72 Holes, Five Strokes Under Jersey Golfer

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., who has taken down few big golfing prizes in the last year or so, captured the Canadian Open championship and $1,000 first money today although his game finally yielded to par.

After racing through the first two rounds over the short but tricky Riverside course in 67-69, McSpaden needed a pair of 73's, each three strokes over par, for his final rounds today. But his 282 total for 72 holes gave him a five-stroke margin over Ralph Guldahl of Madison, N. J., two-time United States Open champion.

Jug won easily, not because of his own golf on the last two rounds, but because all the contenders faltered with him. Guldahl matched his 73 in the morning then slipped back to 75 on the last round. Vic Ghezzi lost the $600 second prize to Guldahl by only one stroke as he came in with a 71 for 288 and a $400 cut in the purse. Ghezzi burned up the course in practice early this week, but once the tournament started he couldn't beat par. He had a 74 this morning.

Unnoticed by the galleries, Bobby Cruickshank, little Richmond, Va., veteran who needed 77 strokes for his first round Thursday, slipped into fourth place with 289. He fired the day's best golf and the only sub-par round when he came in with 71-69 on the last two rounds. He earned $300 for his work, $100 less than Stan Horne of Montreal who finished two strokes further back but received an extra $200 as leading Canadian pro.

Horton Smith of Oak Park, Ill., and his former assistant, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., tied for seventh place at 292, with two Toronto pros, Lex Robson and Bobby Burns. Leo Diegel of Philmont, Pa., with 294 and John Thoren of Boston with 297 were the only other United States pros on the prize list.

Ross (Sandy) Somerville of London, Ont., led the few amateurs who qualified for the last two rounds, with 71-72 today for a 291 and a tie with Horne for fifth place.

McSpaden succeeds Sam Snead, who did not compete because of illness, as Canadian champion, continuing the unbroken string of United States victories which began after the World war. The last Canadian triumph was in 1914.

YANKEE RELAYERS SET NEW RECORD

Barnstorming Track Stars Break 3,200-Meter Mark In Paris Meet

PARIS, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Four barnstorming American track stars ran the 3,200 meters relay in seven minutes, 35 second and two-tenths seconds today, a new world record.

Ralph Schwarzkopf of Michigan, Roy Cochran of Indiana, Blaine Rideout of West Texas Teachers and Charles Beetham of Ohio State cut six tenths of a second off the old record of 7:35.8, hung up August 15, 1936, at London by the American team of Charles Hornbostel, Robert Young, Harry Williamson and John Woodruff.

The Americans trailed a French team until the last lap when Beetham spurted to win by five yards.

In the first day of the two-day international meet the United States team won every event in which it was entered.

The 400-meter relay team, made up of Joe Batiste of Tucson, Bill Watson of Michigan, Erwin Miller of Southern California, and Clyde Jeffrey of Stanford, turned in a time of 41.2 seconds.

Jeffrey won the special 200 yards "prix du stade" while Batiste took the 110 meters hurdles.

George Varoff of Oregon won the pole-vault, Watson the shot-put, Batiste the running broad-jump.

Malone Announces Indians' Gridiron Schedule For 1939

The Northeast Junior college of L. S. U.'s Indians, who will go into training for the 1939 football season on August 28, have nine games scheduled for their fall campaign and one other tentative engagement, according to an announcement by Coach James L. Malone.

Forty-four candidates for the Tribe's eleven are expected to answer the initial call for fall practice, Coach Malone said. The opening game of the season will be played here on September 22 against Murray State Teachers college of Oklahoma.

The Murray Teachers are appearing on the local schedule for the first time and figure in a four-year contract with the Oklahoma Military academy and the junior college. Oklahoma Military met the Tribe here last year, and will be back next year, Coach Malone said. Murray plays for the first time against the Indians this year and will be back on the 1941 schedule, alternating with the military academy. Murray has won 30 of their last 31 games.

Local Tulane anad L. S. U. fans will get a chance to see future prospects of the state's two biggest schools when the freshmen teams of the two institutions come here on successive week-ends. Tulane's frosh will be meeting Northeast Junior college for the first time on September 29 at Brown field. The L. S. U. frosh come here on October 6.

The Tribe's first road trip will take them to Arkadelphia, Ark., where the Malonemen will engage Ouachita college on October 13. Ouachita is back on the Indian schedule after a two-year absence.

Henderson State Teachers, with a veteran team left over from last season and an old rival of the locals, will invade Monroe on October 20; and Copiah-Lincoln Wolves, one of the Indians' strongest junior college rivals, will play here October 27.

The Tribe will rest through the week-end of November 3, and then go to Pensacola, Fla., for an Armstice day game with the United States naval air corps. The air corps met the Tribe for the first time here last year, losing to the locals, 13 to 0.

Southeastern Louisiana, whose teams battled the Redmen to scoreless ties the past two years, will play hosts to the Tribe at Hammond on November 17.

A game with Arkansas A. and M. is pending for November 24; and the Northern Mississippi Junior college of Decatur, Miss., will conclude the locals' season here November 30. The

Rain Ends Cards-Reds Opener At 3 To 3 Tie In Ninth

LEADERS' DRIVE TO BREAK DUEL STAGED IN VAIN

Crucial Series Will Be Resumed This Afternoon With Double Header

CINCINNATI, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds battled the St. Louis Cardinals for nine innings to a 3-to-3 tie today, the weatherman finally winning the chips.

Rain started to fall just as the Reds were making a final desperate effort to end the duel. Unprotected fans took cover. The drizzle increased to a downpour and the day's efforts went in vain.

The 16,728 fans saw Johnny Mize, league leading slugger, who had a perfect day at the plate, double in J. Martin, who had singled, for a run in the first inning. Morton Cooper fanned the first three Reds up.

Terry Moore slammed the first ball pitched by Paul Derringer in the second for his eighth home run of the season, giving the battling Cards a two-run advantage.

After Derringer hit a pop-up which Cooper converted into an unassisted double play in the third, Werber and Joost walked and Goodman doubled both home to knot the count.

The Reds loaded the bases in the fourth on two walks and a fielder's choice but failed to tally as Werber fouled out.

With one on base, Mize tripled over Goodman's head in the fifth and the Cards again had the lead. A walk, a sacrifice and Werber's single put the game into a tie again in the seventh. Goodman, first man up in the eighth, tripled and Warneke came to the hill. Lombardi was passed and Berger walked to load the bases. The strategy worked, for Craft lined into a double play to nip the threat.

The Reds collected only four hits, but Cooper, who struck out six, issued as many walks.

Manager Ray Blades said he would pitch Curt Davis in the first game tomorrow and either Weiland or Sunkel in the second while Bill McKechnie pitted Walters and Moore against them.

The tie left the Reds 5 1-2 games in front of the Cards.

Dizzy Davis To Tackle Jack Curtis In Semi-Final Of Thursday Program

Dutch Schultz, the all-around athlete and all-around master of the wrestling trade, will wrestle Yaqui Joe, Sonora, Mexico, leg artist, in the main event of the weekly program Thursday night at the Monroe Wrestling arena, 504-506 Walnut street, it was announced last night by Promoter Gus Kallio.

The Indian suffered a nose injury recently in a match in Mississippi, but X-ray pictures showed he received no fracture and his ring condition will be up to its usual standard before next Thursday night, his booking agent told Kallio.

In the semi-final match, Dizzy Davis, clever youngster of Houston, Tex., will take on handsome Jack Curtis, of Vicksburg, Miss.

The Thursday night card promises a bitterly fought semi-final, with no quarter given and none expected, and a scientifically-waged main event. Schultz, known as the "Flying Dutchman," wrestles under restraint when he holds his cave-man nature in check, and seldom wrestles more than 10 minutes in any match before starting the rough stuff. Both Curtis and Davis preter clean-cut scientific wrestling.

Kallio announced that additional seats will be installed in the new arena before next Thursday night. The arena is smaller than the former location, but by utilizing the available space to best advantage, leaving a minimum of vacant space, Kallio hopes to seat as many, if not more fans than were seated at the former location.

COBB PREDICTS SPEED OF 400 MILES AN HOUR

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Aug. 19.—(AP)—A coming speed of 400 miles per hour in an automobile was predicted today by John Cobb of England.

The jovial Englishman expressed belief it could be accomplished with the ultra-streamlined machine he brought here for assaults on the world's record, or one of similar design.

However, the London fur broker emphasized his main purpose at present was to crack the existing record of 357.5 M. P. H. set on the 13-mile salt bed track last September by Captain George E. T. Eyston, a fellow countryman.

"Of course in a couple of years time with the more powerful motors and refinements Mr. Railton (Reid Railton, English designer of Cobb's car) will probably be able to perfect, and improved tires, it will be perfectly feasible to make a car go 400 miles an hour," Cobb added.

"My car is perfectly capable of being improved up to the requirements and there is no fundamental reason why it should not be made to travel that fast."

Although there are about 7,000 islands in the Philippines, only 462 have an area of one square mile or more.

TO MEET CURTIS

Dizzy Davis, clever Houston, Tex., youngster, will wrestle Jack Curtis of Vicksburg, Miss., in the weekly mat program Thursday night at the Monroe arena.

VICTORY COSTLY AS TOSSED BALL STRIKES HACKNEY

Second Contest Of Three-Game Series Will Be Played At Greenville Today

GREENVILLE, Miss., Aug. 19.—(Special)—The Monroe White Sox, leaders of the Cotton States league, won an eleven-inning thriller from the Greenville Buckshots in the first engagement of a three-game series here tonight, 6 to 5, but the victory was a costly one as the Sox lost their second baseman, Frank Hackney, probably for the rest of the season.

Frank Hackney

Hackney, who has been an important cog in the league leaders' keystone combination for two seasons, was hit in the head by a pitched ball in the first inning. Hackney was hit by one of Pitcher Doug Johnson's fast balls while the bases were loaded, thus forcing in a run that eventually proved the margin of victory.

At a Greenville hospital, where the stellar second baseman was a patient tonight, attending physicians reported he had suffered a slight fracture of the skull, but that he was conscious and "there is nothing to worry about." However, he will remain in the Greenville hospital under observation for a few days and then be sent back to Monroe. It is doubtful if he will be able to play again this season, and his loss leaves the Sox without a second baseman as the championship playoffs near.

The second game of the three-game series will be played here Sunday afternoon.

Bobby Schang, a catcher, played second base for the remainder of the game.

Floyd Speer, Monroe right-hander, was credited with winning his sixteenth victory. Tom Perry, a left-hander, who has been on the Sox's suspended list because of illness for the past few weeks, started for Monroe and hurled stellar ball in holding the locals to four hits in seven innings, but the Bucks bunched three hits off Perry in the eighth and allowed three runs that tied the score. Speer came in to allow five hits but no runs to win the game. Doug Johnson, local right-hander, pitched the full eleven innings for Greenville.

The Sox took the lead with two runs in the first inning, one of those coming as the result of Hackney being hit by a pitched ball. Dale Englehorn singled and went on to second as Roy Bueschen let the hit get past him. Englehorn went to third as Johnny Conway grounded out, and scored on Frank Hargrove's single. Manager Doug Taitt walked and Murrell Jones singled, loading the bases. Taylor was out on an infield fly but Hackney was hit by a pitched ball, forcing in Hargrove with a run. Schang went in

141.74 MILES PER HOUR IS REACHED ON ENGLISH LAKE

Shatters His Own Mark By 10.81 Miles Per Hour In Two One-Mile Trips

By Drew Middleton

CONISTON, England, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell slammed Bluebird II's blunt snout over the placid waters of Lake Coniston to a world motorboat speed record today, an achievement which brought man to the threshold of a new era in water speed.

The huge silver sled averaged 141.74 miles per hour on two trips over the measured mile, shattering Sir Malcolm's own record by 10.81 miles per hour. The engine was a seven year old Rolls Royce product, a fact that makes the wholesale pounding of miles into minutes even more remarkable.

She covered the southward run over the mile in 25.2 seconds and hit a top speed of 142.85 m.p.h. or 124.06 knots. Campbell swung her through a smooth semicircle and back she came, this time in 25.6 seconds and 140.62 m.p.h. or 122.12 knots.

It was a businesslike performance. Mechanics who had worked all night changing the position of the intake for the water cooler had led her out to the start just after 7 a.m. An hour later Campbell staggered through a crowd of [illegible] yokels and was rowed out. He got in, a tiny white figure against the dull silver of the boat, and a moment later the motor thundered to life.

Far down the lake in the press boat you could hear Bluebird before you could see her. Then as her song smashed the stillness of the lake John Ruskin loved, she came out of the mist and hugged the water, her nose catching the watery sunlight, a white fan of foam spreading out behind.

She went by in a moment, roared past the buoy that marked the end of the mile course and started homeward. Again she flashed past, Campbell's arms sawing the wheel as her hull took the strain of her own weight.

Five minutes later Sir Malcolm's son, Donald, came down the course in a motor boat to [illegible] "Dad's done it. He's broken the record," to waiting newspapermen.

Campbell, [illegible] came aboard later. He said [illegible] proven the adaptability of the three-sled hull design to high speed boats and stood [illegible] the edge of greater speed than man had ever [illegible].

"[illegible] a hell of a lot more speed out of her, I'm sure," said Sir Malcolm, [illegible] the engine was heating rapidly and I don't like the idea of an explosion. Messy, you know."

Captain Peter [illegible] one of the British [illegible] said that he thought the hull design applicable to [illegible] and seaplanes and said the test had proven without a doubt the greater safety of the design.

Bluebird II will be taken to Dagenham [illegible] and Turnbull and Du Cane will record the results of their trial.

"Next year we may try her again with the other motor which is capable of 200 h.p. more," said Sir Malcolm, "for the time we have enough to assimilate what we've learned this week."

RIGGS AND COOKE ARE DEFEATED BY AUSTRALIAN PAIR

Quist And Bromwich To Oppose Own Countrymen In National Doubles

By Bill King

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The status of the National Doubles Tennis championship round was reduced to that of a routine workout for the Australian Davis Cup forces today at Longwood.

That team's brightest stars, Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich, completed the rout of America's outstanding pairs by humbling Bobby Riggs and Elwood Cooke, the Wimbledon and supposedly world champions, 6-1, 6-4, 6-0, in the last of the semi-finals.

By so doing, Quist forced this tourney to accept the first all-foreign wind-up in its 58-year history, for their teammates, Jack Crawford and Harry Hopman, qualified for the title action tomorrow by drubbing top-seeded Frank Parker and Don McNeill yesterday.

Quist and Bromwich, runners-up last year to Don Budge and Gene Mako, were favored to become the first Australian winners in this event since Norman Brookes and Gerald Patterson triumphed 20 years ago.

When Riggs and Cooke started play, their chances for an upset victory depended entirely upon their ability to prevent the Australians from plagueing them at the net. They tried hard but their best was only a feeble gesture.

England's beauteous Kay Stammers and Mrs. Freda James Hammersley won the dubious honor of competing in the women's doubles finals against the invincible Mrs. Sarah Fabyan and Alice Marble, winners for the past two years. The British girls qualified by defeating Helen Jacobs and Dorothy Workman.

Two of the tourney's six finals were played. R. H. and Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., gained the father-son title by winning 6-3, 6-1 from A. C. Neilsen, Sr., and Jr., of Chicago, and Eleonora Sears of Boston and Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France deposed the defending titlists in the small women's veteran field, Mrs. Betty Corbiere of Southboro and Mrs. Henry R. Guild, Nahant, 0-6, 6-4, 6-2.

OUACHITA VALLEY

HODGE BLANKS CAMDEN

CAMDEN, Ark., Aug. 19.—(Special)—The Hodge Wa-Ha's nosed out the Camden Kraftsmen, 1 to 0, in a hard fought battle here last night to keep their hold on the lead in the Ouachita Valley league.

A double by Nix who scored on Finton's single into left field gave Hodge the winning run in the sixth inning. Hammond led the Wa-Ha's 11-hit attack with three safeties in five times at bat. Steinbiser hit best for the locals, getting 2 hits in five times at bat.

HENRY ARMSTRONG 5 TO 8 FAVORITE AGAINST AMBERS

Lightweight Champ Will Risk Title In New York Bout Tuesday Night

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong, the only three-time champion in pugilistic history, today was firmly established as a 5-8 choice to defend successfully his lightweight title in his 15-round clash with former Champion Lou Ambers at the Yankee stadium, Tuesday night.

All those bear stories about Armstrong's bad hands and the trouble he is having making the 135-pound lightweight limit have failed to take hold. The fight faithful laughed them off as ballyhoo and went right on betting on the little two-fisted Los Angeles negro to repeat his triumph of last August 17 when he took the title away from the Herkimer Hurricane.

That fight drew 13,000 fans and a gate of $102,000 into Madison Square Garden. Tuesday night the boys are expected to do their encore before an audience of nearer 50,000. Mike Jacobs, head of the 20th Century Sporting club, sees a gate of $150,000 maybe more.

The fight will be New York's final outdoor show of the season. Right afterwards, Maestro Jacobs takes his troupe of champions on the road, with outdoor shows billed in Philadelphia, Detroit and Pittsburgh before the Garden is thrown open in October for Fred Apostoli vs. Ceferino Garcia.

There are angles galore to the return meeting between Lou and Hammering Hank.

For instance the two already have signed to meet in November for the welterweight title if Armstrong is beaten Tuesday night. Ambers has been telling his friends he'll retire and get married if he loses.

In other words, if he drops his lightweight championship, Armstrong is all set to step back into another big money match with Ambers in November. Otherwise, he'll find himself still wearing both crowns, but with nobody around to fight for them.

So there you are. If the scrap is half as good as last year's it'll be more than worth the $16.50 it will cost to sit in a ringside pew. And the way the boys are marching up to the ticket windows indicates that's just how they feel about it.

Both fighters wound up training today. They'll remain at their camps at Pompton Lake, N. J., and Carmel, N. Y., respectively until Tuesday morning when they'll motor into New York to weigh in at noon before the New York State athletic commission.

END JINX WITH 2-TO-1 VICTORY IN SECOND TILT

Boston Wins Opener, 8 To 6, As Williams Hits Homer With Bases Loaded

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Washington Senators ended a season-long jinx tody by beating the Boston Red Sox 2 to 1 in the second game of a double bill for Washington's first victory at home over the New Englanders.

Ted Williams homered with the bases loaded in the ninth to give Boston the first game, 8 to 6. The split left the Red Sox still seven and a half games behind the New York Yankees, who were raind out.

Ken Chase did a masterful job on the mound for the Senators in the nightcap. He yielded a run in the first inning on a single by Jimmy Doerr and Jim Foxx' double, and thereafter gave up only two singles.

CHISOX SHADE INDIANS

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Southpaw Thornton Lee pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 6 to 5 victory over Cleveland today, building the winners' third-place margin to three and a half games over the fourth-place Indians.

In winning their sixth straight engagement the Sox lost temporarily the services of First-String Catcher Mike Tresh, who suffered a badly bruised shoulder when he collided with Outfielder Bruce Campbell, who tried to score from second on a single to right field.

The Sox solved Johnny Allen's offerings after the first three innings and knocked him out of the box in the sixth. Al Wilnar relieved Allen and was charged with the defeat.

TIGERS TRIM BROWNS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Big Hank Greenberg came out of a batting slump with a bang—a home run with the bases loaded—as the Detroit Tigers defeated the St. Louis Browns today, 9 to 3.

Benched last Sunday, Hank returned to the lineup and struck out in the third inning with three men on. The bases were loaded again when he came up in the fourth, and Hank delivered his telling wallop, big punch of a 7-run inning. Earl Averill doubled with the sacks filled in the same round.

CITY LOOP SERIES GAME SET MONDAY

The Seven-Up Bottlers and Cooperative Dairy softball teams will resume their battle for the City Softball league's title here tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 o'clock on the Lida Benton diamond. A victory by the Bottlers tomorrow would give them the championship and the right to meet the Twilight league champs for the softball championship of Monroe and West Monroe.

Seven-Up won the initial game of the title series Friday, 15 to 2, and is favored to beat Manager E. S. Eby's aggregation.

Survival of the Bottlers and the Milkmen upset all championship predictions in the City loop. The Bottlers finished the regular schedule in third place, and the Dairymen were in fourth place. Crawford's Service was in first place and touted to win the title, while United Electric was in second place. But the Bottlers eliminated Crawford, and the Co-ops eliminated United Electric in a preliminary series.

Probable batteries for tomorrow's games: Riggin and H. Stron, Seven-Up; O'Connor or Mahaffey and Hart.

MANY VOTES CAST IN PLAYER POLL

Hundreds of votes already have been cast in the balloting to determine the most popular player on the Monroe baseball club, and hundreds more are expected to be cast before the contest ends on August 30. A handsome trophy, donated by the Calvert Distilling company, will be awarded the winner.

Balloting will continue until the morning of August 30, at which time the ballot boxes or jars will be gathered up and brought to the News-Star—World office where they will be counted under the supervision of Auditor E. E. Meredith. The trophy will be presented on the night of August 30, which is the date of the second playoff game between Monroe and probably Hot Springs.

Votes may be cast at all liquor dealers in the city.

Presentation of the trophy will be made by Leon G. Sugar, president of the Monroe Wholesale Drug company, Calverts distributors in this territory, in a ceremony preceding the game. The large trophy is on display in the window of the Peacock Jewelry company.

Ouachita Lions Will Begin Gridiron Workouts Monday

'Lefty' Haynes Proteges To Meet Istrouma In First Game, September 15

The Ouachita Parish High school Lions, runner-ups for the class AA football crown of north Louisiana in 1938, will begin training for their fall campaign here tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, according to an announcement by Coach Vernon "Lefty" Haynes.

Coach Haynes said he expected most of his 1939 prospects to be in good shape to begin work. He will meet the squad tomorrow afternoon at the high school building.

It was also announced that another coach had been added to the Ouachita staff. The new assistant to Coach Haynes is Wiltz Ott, who played quarterback for Tulane when Ted Cox was coach there. Ott suffered a knee injury that kept him from seeing much service with the Wave. He will be in charge of the Lion backs. Mack Avants, a former Tulane gridder, who joined the Lion coaches last season, will also assist Coach Haynes.

The Lions will take no "warm-up" games this year, but will launch their season a week earlier than usual by tackling the defending state class AA champions, the Istrouma High school Indians. The game, to be played in Baton Rouge on September 15, is believed to be the toughest season opener ever to appear on a Ouachita schedule.

The schedule includes five class AA aggregations, three class A elevens, and a game with Louisiana State Normal's freshmen. Only four of the teams met last year by the Lions will be tackled by the local team again this year. Five opponents of the 1938 schedule, Delhi, Tallulah, Bastrop, Camden, Ark., and Lake Charles, have been dropped for the season.

Two "new" teams appearing on a Ouachita schedule are the Homer Pelicans and the Jonesboro Tigers, rated among the most powerful class A clubs in north Louisiana. Old and powerful foes back in the schedule are Haynesville, Bolton and Byrd of Shreveport. Vivian and Fair Park of Shreveport, met for the first time by Ouachita in 1938, are again on the schedule, but Vivian, a double A team last year, has obtained class A rating for this year.

The schedule:

September 15—Istrouma at Baton Rouge.
September 22 — Louisiana Normal Frosh, here.
September 29—Homer at Homer.
October 6—Open.
October 13—Vivian, here.
October 20—Open.
October 27—Haynesville at Haynesville.
November 3—Jonesboro at Jonesboro.
November 10—Fair Park of Shreveport, here.
Thanksgiving—Bolton, here.

Coach Haynes has made no promises concerning the possibilities of his newest edition. Expected to be on hand for the initial drills are the following lettermen: Warren Sievers and Mitchell Funderburk, ends; Howard Griffith and Bill Haynes, guards; J. D. Moses, tackle; and Bruce Gregg, Clayton Browns and "Cotton" Hall, backs.

Others to seek places on the Lion team are Dean Fields, Dudley Slaughter and B. F. Cummings, ends; Sam McInnis, Sonny Foreman and James Johnson, tackles; Bill Edgar, Wayne Doss and Ralph Neese, guards; Bill Eason and Jimmy Myrick, centers; and Dalton Veatch, James Hewitte, Dyke Leonard, H. B. Kimball, Velpo Guess, Richard Pate and Herbert Pace, backs.

Mrs. A. W. Moore of Rutledge, Tenn., and Mrs. Amanda Davis of Bonham, Tex., sisters, recently were reunited at Bonham for the first time in 70 years. They hadn't seen each other since Mrs. Davis left her Tennessee home for Texas when she was 13.

RESUME TWILIGHT SERIES TOMORROW

The twilight softball league's championship series between the Woodmen of the World and United Gas will be resumed tomorrow afternoon at 5:15 o'clock at the Gassers' park. The series is even at the present, each club having won one game. The first team winning three games will be declared the Twilight champion.

The Gassers won the opening game, but the Woodmen got the best of a ten-inning thriller Friday to win, 2 to 1. United Gas is favored to win the title, having finished the regular schedule in the league lead, but the Woodmen, who finished in fourth place and barely got into the playoff, have been playing some stellar ball during the series and are capable of upsetting the highly touted Gassers.

Probable batteries were announced as follows: Rogers and C. Bruscato, W. O. W.; Fruge and Bickham, United Gas.

GRID TRAINING STARTED BY CLARKS LUMBERJACKS

CLARKS, La., Aug. 19.—(Special)—The Clarks Lumberjacks of the state's Class B football conference were called out for their initial training session for the 1939 season Friday, and will get down to hard work Monday.

Coach Dudley Fulton, new mentor of the local aggregation, reported he hoped to have his team in good shape by September and that a pre-school game, probably with the Oakdale High school eleven, would probably be scheduled.

Coach Fulton, who came here from Wisner where he coached athletic teams for the past four years, will have few lettermen back from last season's club, but he has several good prospects and the Lumberjacks are expected to present a serious Class B title contender this fall.

CAMPBELL SETS NEW SPEEDBOAT RECORD

141.74 MILES PER HOUR IS REACHED ON ENGLISH LAKE

By Drew Middleton

CONISTON, England, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell slammed Bluebird II's blunt snout over the placid waters of Lake Coniston to a world motorboat speed record today, an achievement which brought man to the threshold of a new era in water speed.

The huge silver sled averaged 141.74 miles per hour on two trips over the measured mile, shattering Sir Malcolm's own record by 10.81 miles per hour. The engine was a seven year old Rolls Royce product, a fact that makes the wholesale pounding of miles into minutes even more remarkable.

She covered the southward run over the mile in 25.2 seconds and hit a top speed of 142.85 m.p.h. or 124.06 knots. Campbell swung her through a smooth semicircle and back she came, this time in 25.6 seconds and 140.62 m.p.h. or 122.12 knots.

It was a businesslike performance. Mechanics who had worked all night changing the position of the intake for the water cooler had led her out to the start just after 7 a.m. An hour later Campbell swaggered through a crowd of bug-eyed yokels and was rowed out. He got in, a tiny white figure against the dull silver of the boat, and a moment later the motor thundered to life.

Far down the lake on the press boat you could hear Bluebird before you could see her. Then as her song smashed the stillness of the lake John Ruskin loved, she came out of the mist and hugged the water; her nose catching the watery sunlight, a white fan of foam spreading out behind.

She went by in a moment, roared past the buoy that marked the end of the mile, circled, and started homeward. Again she sliced past, Campbell's arms sawing the wheel as her hull took the slap of her own weight.

Five minutes later Sir Malcolm's son, Donald, came down the course in a motor boat to holler: "Dad's done it. He's broken the record" to waiting newspapermen.

Campbell, very tired, came aboard later. He had, he thought, proven the adaptability of the three sled hull design to high speed boats and stood "on the edge of greater speed than man had ever imagined."

"I could have had a devil of a lot more speed out of her, I'm sure" said Sir Malcolm, "but the engine was heating rapidly and I didn't like the idea of an explosion. Messy, you know."

Captain Peter Du Cane, the British admiralty designer, added that he thought the hull design appliable to flyingboats and seaplanes and said the test had "proven without a doubt the greater safety of the design."

Bluebird II will be taken to Dagenham Monday and Turnbull and Du-Cane will record the results of their trial.

"Next year we may try her again with the other motor which is capable of 200 h.p. more" said Sir Malcolm "for the time we have enough to assimilate what we've learned this week."

Boston Red Sox Divide Double Header With Senators

Quist And Bromwich To Oppose Own Countrymen In National Doubles

By Bill King

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The status of the National Doubles Tennis championship round was reduced to that of a routine workout for the Australian Davis Cup forces today at Longwood.

That team's brightest stars, Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich, completed the rout of America's outstanding pairs by humbling Bobby Riggs and Elwood Cooke, the Wimbledon and supposedly world champions, 6-1, 6-4, 6-0, in the last of the semi-finals.

By so doing, Quist forced this tourney to accept the first all-foreign wind-up in its 58-year history, for their teammates, Jack Crawford and Harry Hopman, qualified for the title action tomorrow by drubbing top-seeded Frank Parker and Don McNeill yesterday.

Quist and Bromwich, runners-up last year to Don Budge and Gene Mako, were favored to become the first Australian winners in this event since Norman Brookes and Gerald Patterson triumphed 20 years ago.

When Riggs and Cooke started play, their chances for an upset victory depended entirely upon their ability to prevent the Australians from plaguing them at the net. They tried hard but their best was only a feeble gesture.

England's beauteous Kay Stammers and Mrs. Freda James Hammersley won the dubious honor of competing in the women's doubles finals against the invincible Mrs. Sarah Fabyan and Alice Marble, winners for the past two years. The British girls qualified by defeating Helen Jacobs and Dorothy Workman.

Two of the tourney's six finals were played. R. H. and Gardnar Mulloy, of Coral Gables, Fla., gained the father-son title by winning 6-3, 6-1 from A. C. Neilsen, Sr., and Jr., of Chicago, and Eleanora Sears, of Boston, and Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France, deposed the defending titlists in the small women's veterans' field, Mrs. Betty Corbiere, of Southboro, and Mrs. Henry R. Guild, Nahant, 0-6, 6-4, 6-2.

CAMDEN, Ark., Aug. 19.—(Special)—The Hodge Wa-Ha's nosed out the Camden Kraftsmen, 1 to 0, in a hard fought battle here last night to keep their hold on the lead in the Ouachita Valley league.

A double by Nix who scored on Finton's single into left field gave Hodge the winning run in the sixth inning. Hammond led the Wa-Ha's 11-hit attack with three safeties in five times at bat. Steinbiser hit best for the locals, getting 2 hits in five times at bat.

HENRY ARMSTRONG 5 TO 8 FAVORITE AGAINST AMBERS

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong, the only three-time champion in pugilistic history, today was firmly established as a 5-8 choice to defend successfully his lightweight title in his 15-round clash with former Champion Lou Ambers at the Yankee stadium, Tuesday night.

All those bear stories about Armstrong's bad hands and the trouble he is having making the 135-pound lightweight limit have failed to take hold. The fight faithful laughed them off as ballyhoo and went right on betting on the little two-fisted Los Angeles negro to repeat his triumph of last August 17 when he took the title away from the Herkimer Hurricane.

That fight drew 19,000 fans and a gate of $102,000 into Madison Square Garden. Tuesday night the boys are expected to do their encore before an audience of nearer 30,000. Mike Jacobs, head of the 20th Century Sporting club, sees a gate of $150,000—maybe more.

The fight will be New York's final outdoor show of the season. Right afterwards, Maestro Jacobs takes his troupe of champions on the road, with outdoor shows billed in Philadelphia, Detroit and Pittsburgh before the Garden is thrown open in October for Fred Apostoli vs. Ceferino Garcia.

There are angles galore to the return meeting between Lou and "Hammering Hank."

For instance, the two already have signed to meet in November for the welterweight title—if Armstrong is beaten Tuesday night. Ambers has been telling his friends he'll retire and get married if he loses.

In other words, if he drops his lightweight championship, Armstrong is all set to step back into another big money match with Ambers in November. Otherwise, he'll find himself still wearing both crowns, but with nobody around to fight for them.

So there you are. If the scrap is half as good as last year's it'll be more than worth the $16.50 it will cost to sit in a ringside pew. And the way the boys are marching up to the ticket windows indicates that's just how they feel about it.

Both fighters wound up training today. They'll remain at their camps at Pompton Lake, N. J., and Carmel, N. Y., respectively until Tuesday morning when they'll motor into New York to weigh in at noon before the New York State athletic commission.

END JINX WITH 2-TO-1 VICTORY IN SECOND TILT

Boston Wins Opener, 8 To 6, As Williams Hits Homer With Bases Loaded

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Washington Senators ended a season-long jinx tody by beating the Boston Red Sox 2 to 1 in the second game of a double bill for Washington's first victory at home over the New Englanders.

Ted Williams homered with the bases loaded in the ninth to give Boston the first game, 8 to 6. The split left the Red Sox still seven and a half games behind the New York Yankees, who were raind out.

Ken Chase did a masterful job on the mound for the Senators in the nightcap. He yielded a run in the first inning on a single by Jimmy Doerr and Jim Foxx' double, and thereafter gave up only two singles.

CHISOX SHADE INDIANS

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Southpaw Thornton Lee pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 6 to 5 victory over Cleveland today, building the winners' third-place margin to three and a half games over the fourth-place Indians.

In winning their sixth straight engagement the Sox lost temporarily the services of First-String Catcher Mike Tresh, who suffered a badly bruised shoulder when he collided with Outfielder Bruce Campbell, who tried to score from second on a single to right field.

The Sox solved Johnny Allen's offerings after the first three innings and knocked him out of the box in the sixth. Al Wilnar relieved Allen and was charged with the defeat.

TIGERS TRIM BROWNS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Big Hank Greenberg came out of a batting slump with a bang—a home run with the bases loaded—as the Detroit Tigers defeated the St. Louis Browns today, 9 to 3.

Benched last Sunday, Hank returned to the lineup and struck out in the third inning with three men on. The bases were loaded again when he came up in the fourth, and Hank delivered his telling wallop, big punch of a 7-run inning. Earl Averill doubled with the sacks filled in the same round.

CITY LOOP SERIES GAME SET MONDAY

The Seven-Up Bottlers and Cooperative Dairy softball teams will resume their battle for the City Softball league's title here tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 o'clock on the Lida Benton diamond. A victory by the Bottlers tomorrow would give them the championship and the right to meet the Twilight league champs for the softball championship of Monroe and West Monroe.

Seven-Up won the initial game of the title series Friday, 15 to 2, and is favored to beat Manager E. S. Eby's aggregation.

Survival of the Bottlers and the Milkmen upset all championship predictions in the City loop. The Bottlers finished the regular schedule in third place, and the Dairymen were in fourth place. Crawford's Service was in first place and touted to win the title, while United Electric was in second place. But the Bottlers eliminated Crawford, and the Co-ops eliminated United Electric in a preliminary series.

Probable batteries for tomorrow's games: Riggin and H. Stron, Seven-Up; O'Connor or Mahaffey and Hart.

MANY VOTES CAST IN PLAYER POLL

Hundreds of votes already have been cast in the balloting to determine the most popular player on the Monroe baseball club, and hundreds more are expected to be cast before the contest ends on August 30. A handsome trophy, donated by the Calvert Distilling company, will be awarded the winner.

Balloting will continue until the morning of August 30, at which time the ballot boxes or jars will be gathered up and brought to the News-Star—World office where they will be counted under the supervision of Auditor E. E. Meredith. The trophy will be presented on the night of August 30, which is the date of the second playoff game between Monroe and probably Hot Springs.

Votes may be cast at all liquor dealers in the city.

Presentation of the trophy will be made by Leon G. Sugar, president of the Monroe Wholesale Drug company, Calverts distributors in this territory, in a ceremony preceding the game. The large trophy is on display in the window of the Peacock Jewelry company.

Ouachita Lions Will Begin Gridiron Workouts Monday

'Lefty' Haynes Proteges To Meet Istrouma In First Game, September 15

The Ouachita Parish High school Lions, runner-ups for the class AA football crown of north Louisiana in 1938, will begin training for their fall campaign here tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, according to an announcement by Coach Vernon "Lefty" Haynes.

Coach Haynes said he expected most of his 1939 prospects to be in good shape to begin work. He will meet the squad tomorrow afternoon at the high school building.

It was also announced that another coach had been added to the Ouachita staff. The new assistant to Coach Haynes is Wiltz Ott, who played quarterback for Tulane when Ted Cox was coach there. Ott suffered a knee injury that kept him from seeing much service with the Wave. He will be in charge of the Lion backs. Mack Avants, a former Tulane gridder, who joined the Lion coaches last season, will also assist Coach Haynes.

The Lions will take no "warm-up" games this year, but will launch their season a week earlier than usual by tackling the defending state class AA champions, the Istrouma High school Indians. The game, to be played in Baton Rouge on September 15, is believed to be the toughest season opener ever to appear on a Ouachita schedule.

The schedule includes five class AA aggregations, three class A elevens, and a game with Louisiana State Normal's freshmen. Only four of the teams met last year by the Lions will be tackled by the local team again this year. Five opponents of the 1938 schedule, Delhi, Tallulah, Bastrop, Camden, Ark., and Lake Charles, have been dropped for the season.

Two "new" teams appearing on a Ouachita schedule are the Homer Pelicans and the Jonesboro Tigers, rated among the most powerful class A clubs in north Louisiana. Old and powerful foes back in the schedule are Haynesville, Bolton and Byrd of Shreveport. Vivian and Fair Park of Shreveport, met for the first time by Ouachita in 1938, are again on the schedule, but Vivian, a double A team last year, has obtained class A rating for this year.

The schedule:

September 22 — Louisiana Normal Frosh, here.

September 29—Homer at Homer.

October 6—Open.

October 13—Vivian, here.

October 20—Open.

November 3—Jonesboro at Jonesboro.

Thanksgiving—Bolton, here.

Coach Haynes has made no promises concerning the possibilities of his newest edition. Expected to be on hand for the initial drills are the following lettermen: Warren Sievers and Mitchell Funderburk, ends; Howard Griffith and Bill Haynes, guards; J. D. Moses, tackle; and Bruce Gregg, Clayton Browns and "Cotton" Hall, backs.

Others to seek places on the Lion team are Dean Fields, Dudley Slaughter and B. F. Cummings, ends; Sam McInnis, Sonny Foreman and James Johnson, tackles; Bill Edgar, Wayne Doss and Ralph Neese, guards; Bill Eason and Jimmy Myrick, centers; and Dalton Veatch, James Hewitte, Dyke Leonard, H. B. Kimball, Velpo Guess, Richard Pate and Herbert Pace, backs.

Mrs. A. W. Moore of Rutledge, Tenn., and Mrs. Amanda Davis of Bonham, Tex., sisters, recently were reunited at Bonham for the first time in 70 years. They hadn't seen each other since Mrs. Davis left her Tennessee home for Texas when she was 13.

RESUME TWILIGHT SERIES TOMORROW

The twilight softball league's championship series between the Woodmen of the World and United Gas will be resumed tomorrow afternoon at 5:15 o'clock at the Gassers' park. The series is even at the present, each club having won one game. The first team winning three games will be declared the Twilight champion.

The Gassers won the opening game, but the Woodmen got the best of a ten-inning thriller Friday to win, 2 to 1. United Gas is favored to win the title, having finished the regular schedule in the league lead, but the Woodmen, who finished in fourth place and barely got into the playoff, have been playing some stellar ball during the series and are capable of upsetting the highly touted Gassers.

Probable batteries were announced as follows: Rogers and C. Bruscato, W. O. W.; Fruge and Bickham, United Gas.

GRID TRAINING STARTED BY CLARKS LUMBERJACKS

CLARKS, La., Aug. 19.—(Special)—The Clarks Lumberjacks of the state's Class B football conference were called out for their initial training session for the 1939 season Friday, and will get down to hard work Monday.

Coach Dudley Fulton, new mentor of the local aggregation, reported he hoped to have his team in good shape by September and that a pre-school game, probably with the Oakdale High school eleven, would probably be scheduled.

Coach Fulton, who came here from Wisner where he coached athletic teams for the past four years, will have few lettermen back from last season's club, but he has several good prospects and the Lumberjacks are expected to present a serious Class B title contender this fall.

Jack Britton, the old welterweight king and his son, Bobby, are the only father-son combination in boxing right now.

Today's guest star: Ted Werner, Yonkers (N. Y.) Herald-Statesman: "Now that they're making liars out of the calendars, how about scheduling New Year's Eve for one night next week?" . . . (Check and double check.)

Wake Forest college is considering a new course designed to teach the boys and girls how to pronounce such football tongue twisters as Gallovich, Duncavage and Polanski, to name just a few of the easier ones . . . Watch a former Beantown gal named Fay Crocker in the women's National Golf next week. She's burning up the Noroton courses in the low 70s. (She's eight-time Uruguayan and four-time Argentine champ.) . . . Add Escobar: Sixto wants 10,000 frog skins to defend his bantamweight crown. Since there isn't that much dough around for the little fellows he'll abandon the title.

Whoops m'dear. One of the visiting British tennis gals (whose name we didn't catch) was a wow on the air last night. . . . She was asked why Mrs. Dorothy Round Little isn't quite up to her game. . . . "You see," she said, "Dorothy has put on a few stone and now is more Round that Little." . . . Gents, that slayed 'em.

Why cry about poor Oscar Vitt?
On the 18,000 bucks he'll get,
He can afford to worry a bit.

Yessir: If the president would only order pay day moved up a little he could offset some of the football damage.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Stock market traders, while still war conscious, apparently took a little calmer view of the European jumble today and selling contracted noticeably during the brief session.

Although few issues were able to negotiate any real recoveries from Friday's sharp relapse, further declines were limited to fractions in most cases. Here and there setbacks of around a point appeared on small turnovers.

Offerings dried up at the start and there was no particular pickup in activity during the remainder of the proceedings. Transfers for the two hours approximated 250,000 shares.

Williams, Of Red Sox, And Keller Of Yankees, Hit Strides In American

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The pitching, major or minor league variety, apparently looks about the same to Ted Williams and Charley Keller, stellar freshman outfielders of the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees.

These two youngsters, who murdered minor league mound offerings, have moved into the "first ten" batters of the American league, through Friday's games, although neither has shown any serious designs on Yankee Joe DiMaggio's pace-setting .395 mark.

Williams, a regular since the start of the season, hit his stride after an early season slump and now is banging the ball at .322, tying him for ninth place with George Selkirk of New York. The Red Sox rookie has 17 homers, 32 doubles, eight triples and tops the circuit in runs batted in with 95, an honor he has held for several weeks.

Keller, who only recently ousted Tommy Henrich from a regular spot in the Yankee outfield, gained six points the past week to move into fourth place at .336 and has shown no signs of falling off the pace set by the leaders.

Twenty-seven points back of DiMaggio is Jimmy Foxx of Boston at .368, having gained nor lost a point during the week. DiMaggio gained three points last week, getting 12 hits out of 28 times at bat.

Others in the first ten are: Bob Johnson, Philadelphia, .344; George McQuinn, St. Louis, .333; Bobby Doerr, Boston, .331; Rudy York, .330 and Charley Gehringer, .329, both of Detroit and Buddy Lewis, Washington, .323.

Foxx, whose 196 runs is tops for the loop, walloped no homers last week but still leads with 30. Red Rolfe of New York took over the total hits leadership from McQuinn, having 149.

Hank Greenberg of Detroit is still the doubles leader with 35, Lewis has the most triples, 12 and George Case of Washington the most stolen bases, 41.

Bob (Lefty) Grove of Boston has won 13 games and lost two, giving him undisputed possession of top spot in the won-lost records. Bob Feller of Cleveland ran his strikeout total to 180, far ahead of his nearest rival.

Boston maintained leadership in team batting at .296, and the Yankees in team fielding. Washington led in double plays with 120.

to run for Hackney but Guy Pruitt fanned for the third out.

Cy Block tripled into right field and scored as Roy Bueschen grounded out to Schang, thus giving the Bucks their initial run in the second inning.

In the fifth frame the Sox added two more runs. Conway doubled and scored on Hargrove's single. A two-base blow by Taitt scored Hargrove.

The Buckshots bunched five hits, however, in the eighth inning to score three times and tie the score. Bobby Salveson singled and went to third on Earl Naylor's single. A double by Walter Celusta scored Salveson and put Naylor on third. Speer then relieved Perry as the Monroe pitcher. With Manager Harry Whitehouse at bat, Naylor scored on a wild pitch. Whitehouse fanned but Block singled, scoring Celusta. Bueschen doubled, sending Block to third, and Tex Chandler walked to load the bases. Johnson grounded out to Speer for the third out.

There was no more scoring until the eleventh frame when the Sox scored twice to take the lead on a hit, an error and three walks. Conway walked and went to second as Hargrove grounded out to Celusta. Taitt walked. Jones singled sharply off Crisler's glove, scoring Conway. Taylor walked, loading the bases. Schang forced Taylor at second but went to third. Schang was thrown Taitt scored on the play and Jones out trying to steal third to retire the side.

The Buckshots threatened in their half of the eleventh but fell one run short of the Monroe lead. Bueschen tripled into right field. Chandler popped out to Jones but Johnson singled into right field, scoring Bueschen, and went on to second as Taitt bobbled the ball. Salveson flied out to Englehorn. Jay Crisler walked but Naylor fanned to end the game.

four game margin and Greenwood is five games ahead of Hot Springs, and with nine games to go, those are pretty fair leads.

So, in ten days you'll see your White Sox open the prelims against the Bathers, while Clarksdale and Greenwood, the two "hottest" teams in the circuit right now, cut each other's throat in the other set.

It should be a right interesting play-off.

NO ATHLETIC CUT

We have it from a reliable source that the board of supervisors at Louisiana State university would allow no cut to be made in the athletic budget for 1939-40.

Football fans have speculated upon the effect of the present "unpleasantness" on the Tiger eleven this fall. They're wondering if de-emphasis will set in at Baton Rouge.

Apparently not. As one member of the board put it, "we need a good football team now more than ever."

MORRIS QUITS

J. Walter Morris, who spent a year in Monroe directing the Cotton States, East Texas and Evangeline leagues, has resigned as business manager of the Shreveport club. With Shreveport fighting for a place in the first division, his sudden withdrawal is a bit surprising.

However, it has been common knowledge that the situation there has not been entirely pleasant. Morris said he quit because of salary matters, he we believe other difficulties hastened his decision.

There was a large board of directors to please, and Morris couldn't make a decision without calling a board meeting. Then, too, there was Bob Tarleton to be consulted, and that didn't help matters any. Bob, you know, is head of the Chicago White Sox farm system and Shreveport is an important link in the chain. And Bob was Johnny-on-the-spot to see that nothing happened in the way of player transfers to jeopardize White Sox interests. We know for a fact that Walter and Bob disagreed several times on the merits of certain players, and that didn't help matters any. In fact, it was a most unhappy situation for Morris and it must have become intolerable for him to pop off before the season ended.

Morris' name has been prominently mentioned in connection with jobs at Fort Worth and Dallas. It is quite probable that he will hook up with some Texas league club, because he has been associated with baseball in this neck of the woods too long to remain out of employment.

MALONE SLATES NINE GRID TILTS

Northern Mississippi team is appearing for the first time on the Northeast Junior college schedule, and is rated along with Copiah-Lincoln as one of the strongest junior colleges in Mississippi.

The schedule:

Sept. 22: Murray State Teachers, here.
Sept. 29: Tulane Frosh, here.
Oct. 6: L. S. U. Frosh, here.
Oct. 13: Ouachita college, at Arkadelphia.
Oct. 20: Henderson State Teachers, here.
Oct. 27: Copiah-Lincoln, here.
Nov. 3: Open.
Nov. 11: U. S. Naval air corps at Pensacola.
Nov. 17: Southeastern Louisiana at Hammond.
Nov. 24: Arkansas A. and M., pending.
No. 30: Northern Mississippi Junior college, here.

One "old regular" is missing from the Indians' schedule this year, however. The College of Marshall, of Marshall, Tex., on the schedule of the local school since 1932, will not play the Tribe this year. Other teams on the schedule last year that have been omitted are Centenary frosh, Oklahoma Military, Kilgore Junior college and Northern Illinois State.

Coach Malone also announced that the local team will conform this year with eligibility rules of the Southeastern conference. As a result of the new ruling in regard to players here, no transfers will be accepted from other colleges. All players at Northeast Junior college will have to come straight from high school ranks.

The Tribe lost 19 lettermen last spring, including just about the entire line. The only regular linemen returning will be George Perry, tackle, and John Porter, guard. However, Homer King, who was slated as the first string center last year before he was hurt in an automobile accident, is being counted on for the pivot job this year.

Guy Sievers, who was slated for the "key man" job in the Indian backfield last year, but was unable to play as the result of an injury while working in an oil field, is also expected to try for the team again.

Morris said he met her while he was working in the editorial department of the Chicago American and that he came here four months ago. They were married a week ago tonight in the Little Church Around the Corner.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Stock market traders, while still "war conscious," apparently took a little calmer view of the European jumble today and selling contracted noticeably during the brief session.

Although few issues were able to negotiate any real recovery from Friday's sharp relapse, further declines were limited to fractions in most cases. Here and there setbacks of around a point appeared on small turnovers.

Offerings dried up at the start and there was no particular pickup in activity during the remainder of the proceedings. Transfers for the two hours approximated 250,000 shares.

The step of Germany in tightening its military "protective" grip on Slovakia failed to excite Wall Street inasmuch as it was in line with expectations. At the same time, financial observers were of the opinion it meant the accentuation of pressure on Poland and also Hungary. Speculative forces, consequently, recognized that overseas tension remained as a prime market influence and the inclination was to stand aside for the moment.

The fact the stock list had lost a large portion of its July upturn was a bit depressing to the chart readers and was thought to have aggravated yesterday's retreat considerably.

Hopeful business prospects remained as the main liquidating cushion, brokers said. Next week's steel mill operations, it was predicted, would keep near the current rate, but probably would shoot up to 70 per cent of capacity or better after Labor day.

Petroleum shares were fairly steady as further state curtailment of oil production brought lifts in gasoline and crude prices. A flaw here, though, was the fear that if prices rise excessively, the Connally "hot oil" act might be suspended to permit shipments of excess quota fuel through state lines.

Bonds, on the whole, were lower with Italian dollar loans weak. Commodities were quiet and slightly irregular.

SURVEY SHOWS PRESS IS AID

Influences Prospective Students To Select Their Colleges

NATCHITOCHES, La., Aug. 19.—(Special)—When more than 500 high school graduates matriculate at the Louisiana State Normal college at the opening of the fall semester on September 11, the newspapers of the state may be credited with playing a major role in influencing the freshmen regarding their selection of the college here, according to a two-year survey made by the State Teachers' college guidance and personnel department.

In a questionnaire calling for the things that served to interest and influence them in coming to the State Normal college, 1,496 students or more than 61 per cent of the 2,450 answering the set of questions submitted declared that newspaper articles about activities at the college had aided in determining their choice of a higher institution of learning.

The field of sports headed the list with 852 students stating that their interest had been aroused through publicizing of the athletic program including football, basketball, track events, tennis, golf, swimming, boating and the regular course offered in physical education by the State Normal college.

Another group of 644 students stated that general newspaper articles embracing all other forms of activities such as fraternities and sororities, both social and educational, religious organizations, music clubs, dramatics, forensics and other special organizations had helped influence their coming to the State Normal college.

Tracing the publication of activities of the college in the press of the state, rallies were given as the second reason for their choosing the State Normal college with 472 students naming the annual meets on the campus as major influences. Personal letters from students and members of the teaching staff at the college came next on the list with 328 students naming this form of contact as important.

Other influences listed by the students were bulletins 277, band 246, radio programs 226, glee club 202, location 179, debates 181, orchestra 89 and family influences 67.

Three Beau Brummels declared that they had selected the State Teachers college here because of the "three to one ratio of women to men," one said that he had chosen the college for [illegible] courses [illegible] and another [illegible] beautiful girls as his chief [illegible] for coming here.

Established in 1884 as a teacher training institution, the State Normal college here has for more than a half century supplied the majority of trained [illegible] teachers of the state. More than 90 per cent of the students of the college teach in the public schools of the state after graduation. At present nearly three-fourths of Louisiana's public school teachers are graduates of the teachers college here.

WILL CREATE NEGRO HEALTH CENTER HERE

A movement is being sponsored by the Martin Temple community service department to establish a colored health center in Monroe where every colored person can receive instruction aimed at making every colored home healthful. The movement calls for the maintaining of a house which will be used as a health center.

Information for use in instruction will be given through lectures, exhibits, the cooperation of other health movements and literature given by health authorities in Monroe and the state.

The negro women who took the home hygiene and care for the sick training under the direction of the Ouachita chapter of the American Red Cross are being organized into a health league to give further instruction. The aim of the league is to better prepare negro women to render service to themselves and to the people they serve.

The Ritz theater will present a benefit picture show Thursday, the proceeds of which will be given to the movement.

SURVEY SHOWS PRESS IS AID

Influences Prospective Students To Select Their Colleges

NATCHITOCHES, La., Aug. 19.—(Special)—When more than 500 high school graduates matriculate at the Louisiana State Normal college at the opening of the fall semester on September 11, the newspapers of the state may be credited with playing a major role in influencing the freshmen regarding their selection of the college here, according to a two-year survey made by the State Teachers' college guidance and personnel department.

In a questionnaire calling for the things that served to interest and influence them in coming to the State Normal college, 1,496 students or more than 61 per cent of the 2,450 answering the set of questions submitted declared that newspaper articles about activities at the college had aided in determining their choice of a higher institution of learning.

The field of sports headed the list with 852 students stating that their interest had been aroused through publicizing of the athletic program, including football, basketball, track events, tennis, golf, swimming, boating and the regular course offered in physical education by the State Normal college.

Another group of 644 students stated that general newspaper articles embracing all other forms of activities such as fraternities and sororities, both social and educational, religious organizations, music clubs, dramatics, forensics, and other special organizations had helped influence their coming to the State Normal college.

Trailing the publication of activities of the college in the press of the state, rallies were given as the second reason for their choosing the State Normal college with 452 students naming the annual meets on the campus as major influences. Personal letters from students and members of the teaching staff at the college came next on the list with 328 students naming this form of contact as important.

Other influences listed by the students were: bulletins, 277; band, 246; radio programs, 226; glee club, 202; location, 179; debates, 181; orchestra, 89, and family influences 87.

Three "Beau Brummels" declared that they had selected the State Teachers' college here because of the "three to one ratio" of women to men; one said that he had chosen the college for "its courses in campustry", and another merely listed "beautiful girls" as his chief reason for enrolling here.

Established in 1884 as a teacher-training institution, the State Normal college here has for more than a half century supplied the majority of trained public school teachers of the state. More than 90 per cent of the students of the college teach in the public schools of the state after graduation. At present nearly three-fourths of Louisiana's public school teachers are graduates of the teachers' college here.

WILL CREATE NEGRO HEALTH CENTER HERE

A movement is being sponsored by the Martin Temple community service department to establish a colored health center in Monroe, where every colored person can receive instruction aimed at making every colored home healthful. The movement calls for the maintaining of a house which will be used as a health center.

Information for use in instruction will be given through lectures, exhibits, the cooperation of other health movements and literature given by health authorities in Monroe and the state.

The negro women who took the home hygiene and care for the sick training under the direction of the Ouachita chapter of the American Red Cross are being organized into a health league to give further instruction. The aim of the league is to better prepare negro women to render service to themselves and to the people they serve.

The Ritz theater will present a benefit picture show Thursday, the proceeds of which will be given to the movement.

KIWANIS HOSTS TO KIWANETTES

Members Of Monroe And West Monroe Clubs To Entertain Ladies Wednesday Noon

A preliminary get-together luncheon for Kiwanians of both Monroe and West Monroe, together with their wives, will be held at Hotel Virginia Wednesday noon, the local club acting as host. The purpose, as announced by S. A. Moss, president of the Monroe Kiwanis club, is to enable wives of members of clubs in the Twin Cities to become better acquainted as well as the members themselves.

As the district convention opens here September 3, it is regarded as essential that the members of the Monroe and West Monroe clubs be well acquainted with each other so that they can, with their wives, present a united front when entertaining the hundreds of visitors that will be here next month.

The wives of the two club members are asked to meet on Hotel Virginia roof Wednesday at 11 a.m. for a short get-together before the luncheon is held at noon. Those in charge of this informal part of the program will be Mrs. Louis Hullum, representing the Monroe club, and Mrs. Lloyd Warren, representing the West Monroe club.

Mr. Moss stated that the Twin Cities want to earn the enviable reputation of being the most friendly places on the map and that to do so everybody associated with the Kiwanis clubs of Monroe and West Monroe must know each other and pull together as hosts to the big convention.

The program for the convention will go to press shortly and will be ready for early distribution, it was stated Saturday by C. C. Colvert, program chairman.

LADS ARE BACK FROM NEW YORK

Boy Scouts Tell Of Delights Of Outing Given By Leader

Troop No. 13 of the Boy Scouts of America, who recently returned from a specially conducted motor bus outing to New York in charge of Scoutmaster Charles Titche, are still telling of the wonders of the trip.

The party comprised, besides Mr. Titche, Jack Stars, Fred G. Thatcher, Jr., "Pop" Hooter, Clayton Dixon, Bill Heard, Billy Joe Grady, James Eastwood, Herbert Hart, Bobby Wilson, Billy Pace, Freddie Young, Robert Taylor, Edwin Taylor, Don Prophit, Phil Smith, John P. Bratton, Jack Smith, Teddy Bernstein, Jack Hogge, R. Young, Betro McRaney, Scottie Young, H. R. Lamkin, Stanley Wall, Charles Roddy, Jack Smith and David Garrett.

The trip was made by convenient stages, the first night being spent at Jackson, Tenn.; the second in Kingsport, Tenn.; the third one at Washington, D. C., and the fourth night saw arrival at the destination in New York.

Naturally the fair was the big attraction in the metropolis. The boys were specially pleased with their inspection of all exhibition buildings, especially of the General Motors, Westinghouse, New York State building, the Aviation building and the Lagoon of Nations. A thrill was given when the parachute jump was ridden from a 250-foot tower.

The lads saw a baseball game between the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates, visited the Empire State building, Washington bridge, Chinatown, Coney Island, where they went in swimming, climbed up into the Statue of Liberty, saw Ellis island and inspected the plant of the National Broadcasting company.

In Washington, D. C., they were escorted through the capitol by Congressman Newt V. Mills.

Meals were prepared over a camp fire by a capable cook and assistants. Perfect weather added to the pleasure of the trip which was made possible by Mr. Titche.

ENGLISH ACTOR TAKES A BRIDE

Altar bound are Joan Fontaine, 21, and Brian Aherne, 37. Miss Fontaine, Tokyo-born sister of Olivia de Havilland, has achieved Hollywood stardom in two years. Aherne, long on the English and American stages, was first filmed in "Song of Songs" with Marlene Dietrich. He has more recently played in "Beloved Enemy" and "Juarez."

Lions, Kiwanis, Donkeys Will Test Their Prowess

Great sport is predicted for Casino park tomorrow at 8 p.m., when a donkey baseball game will be played between the Kiwanis and Lions clubs.

"The Kiwanis club was certainly brazenly emboldened when it dared to challenge the Lions club to meet it at this game," stated L. G. Hughes, Lions club president. "It is customary when one club challenges another to a game that the challenger must first be a champion. We would like to know how Kiwanis got the big idea that it was in the championship class?" Mr. Hughes asked. "Why the Lions are the king of beasts. Nothing in all the deep jungles of the earth can anywhere near rival them for mighty strength!"

And to this, President S. A. Moss, militant Kiwanis president, replied, "I have been on Lion farms in California where they feed such little playthings as donkeys to the king of beasts and that is just what Kiwanis will do to those little burros that will stalk forth to their doom at Casino park Monday night," he said.

Indications are that there will be a capacity throng at the park to witness the most unique contest ever played on a local diamond, which will be a benefit for underprivileged children, each club sharing equally. Admission will be 25 cents for adults and a dime for children. The Lions club manager will be Clay Olbon and the Kiwanis manager, Grady Hicks.

COTTON BAGGING WILL BE USED

BERNICE, La., Aug. 19.—(Special)—Two Bernice ginners have decided to purchase all cotton bagging for their gins this year, and they state if all ginners would do likewise that it would help to utilize much extra cotton.

One of the local gins, the Lindsey Gin company, operates six gins, one in Bernice and one each in the following places: Summerfield, Junction City, Spearsville, Cherry Ridge and Shiloh. Cotton bagging has been purchased for all these places.

The ginning season opened here 10 days earlier than last year and up to date 25 bales have been ginned. Owing to dry weather, cotton is opening prematurely. The bolls are small and lint short and only about two-thirds of a crop is expected.

CAR PAYMENTS REDUCED AND CASH LOANED REGARDLESS OF WHOM YOU NOW OWE ON CAR

This is the place where you can borrow cash on your car, whether it is paid for or not, or get your payments reduced at once, regardless of whom you now owe, or both. It is the home of Motors Securities Co., Inc., 500 Walnut St. This old, reliable firm fixes everything up for you right there, before you leave, if your car justifies it. You can repay the loan a little each month, starting in October, which gives you a nice "breathing spell." Your own signature is all that's needed, and you do not have to live in or near Monroe.

DUDLEY L'BLANC TO SEEK OFFICE

Lafayette Man Announces He Will Again Make Race For Governorship Of State

LAFAYETTE, La., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Dudley J. LeBlanc yesterday said he would be a candidate for governor in the January, 1940, Democratic primary.

LeBlanc, former public service commissioner and once before a candidate for governor, spoke at a meeting attacking the present state administration.

"I am making up my ticket and want only honest men on it," LeBlanc said. "I pledge all of my work, when I am governor, to the welfare of the people. I do not say that everybody who works for the state is a crook.

"When I speak of payroll padding and grafting, I do not refer to the man working out under the hot sun on the highways for $2.50 a day. I refer to the man who works under a fan for $400 a month, and steals another hundred."

"What do you think," he asked, "of the man who knows he is in with a bunch of thieves and yet stays with them? He must be classed as the same as them."

KIWANIS HOSTS TO KIWANETTES

Members Of Monroe And West Monroe Clubs To Entertain Ladies Wednesday Noon

A preliminary get-together luncheon for Kiwanians of both Monroe and West Monroe, together with their wives, will be held at Hotel Virginia Wednesday noon, the local club acting as host. The purpose, as announced by S. A. Moss, president of the Monroe Kiwanis club, is to enable wives of members of clubs in the Twin Cities to become better acquainted as well as the members themselves.

As the district convention opens here September 3, it is regarded as essential that the members of the Monroe and West Monroe clubs be well acquainted with each other so that they can, with their wives, present a united front when entertaining the hundreds of visitors that will be here next month.

The wives of the two club members are asked to meet on Hotel Virginia roof Wednesday at 11 a.m. for a short get-together before the luncheon is held at noon. Those in charge of this informal part of the program will be Mrs. Louis Hullum, representing the Monroe club, and Mrs. Lloyd Warren, representing the West Monroe club.

Mr. Moss stated that the Twin Cities want to earn the enviable reputation of being the most friendly places on the map and that to do so everybody associated with the Kiwanis clubs of Monroe and West Monroe must know each other and pull together as hosts to the big convention.

The program for the convention will go to press shortly and will be ready for early distribution, it was stated Saturday by C. C. Colvert, program charman.

Bryant Enjoys Western Trip

Back from a 30-day railroad trip that carried him to the world's fair on Treasure island in San Francisco bay and a visit with two married daughters, former Postmaster J T Bryant returned Friday night delighted with his outing.

His first and longest stop was with his daughter, wife of a lumberman at Salinas, Calif., where he was barely 100 miles distant from San Francisco so that it was made possible for him to drive into that city on several different days to attend the fair and return to the daughter's home at night.

From California he proceeded to Washington state where he visited his daughter, the former Miss Leta Bryant, now the wife of Major Howard Clark. Major Clark [illegible] undergone a serious operation in a Tacoma hospital but was [illegible] recuperating.

The [illegible] at Boise, Idaho, and Major Clark drove his father-in-law over there to see the town and inspect their new home. From Boise, Mr Bryant went to Twin Falls and Burley, Idaho, where he was pleasantly entertained by John and Bill Brooks, former Monroe men, who are nephews of the late Dr. Robert Lee Brooks of Calhoun.

The Brooks brothers are engaged in the commission business and have made an outstanding success as their cities are in the heart of a section devoted to raising of potatoes, alfalfa and sugar beets. Produce is bought and shipped to eastern markets, all foodstuffs being raised under irrigation.

Mr Bryant was entertained by John Brooks at the Kiwanis club luncheon and he was presented to many of the leading citizens of the place who aided in making his stay enjoyable.

From Twin Falls Mr Bryant was driven to Minidoka, Idaho, where he took the train home, coming by way of Denver, Kansas City and Little Rock.

He said that large crops are being raised wherever he went and that the chief concern was [illegible] of common labor men being members of unions, especially in California. Also the matter of the election of the next president was being discussed everywhere and the candidacy of Garner seemingly being the most popular of all others who are now being mentioned.

The weather [illegible] was always delightfully [illegible] Mr Bryant said. When in Salinas, Calif., he said nights were around [illegible] degrees and days never exceeded 65 degrees. He said that he wore [illegible] and in San Francisco was [illegible] to purchase a sweater in order to enjoy the fair in comfort.

Marriage Of Miss Nancy Frances Helm And George G. Weaks, Jr., Announced

Monroe Couple Off On Honeymoon Trip

Wedding Quietly Solemnized In Hamburg, Ark.; Pair To Make Home In Weaks Residence

Weddings continue to hold the spotlight in the social news of the week and several announcements of marriages of more than passing interest have been made during the past few days. Prominent among these announcements is that of the marriage of Miss Nancy Frances Helm and Mr. George Gibson Weaks, Jr., popular members of the younger social set. The marriage was quietly solemnized June 25 in Hamburg, Ark., and the young couple are enjoying a honeymoon trip, including an itinerary of the Ozark mountains, St. Louis and Memphis.

The bride, who is the lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry DeCourcy Helm, who reside on Hudson lane, received her education in New Orleans. The groom is the son of George Weaks, Sr., and the late Mrs. Mona Millsaps Weaks. He attended Culver Military academy and is connected with the Weaks Supply company.

Upon their return to Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Weaks will make their home in the Weaks home in Riverside drive.

A wedding, claiming the interest of their many friends, was that of Miss Nina Mae Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lee, of Gilbert, La., and Mr. Allen Felston White, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. White of Arcadia, La., which was solemnized at 9:30 o'clock at the First Methodist church of Gilbert, La., August 9.

Mr. Lannie Calhoun, Jr., sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly" as pre-nuptial numbers accompanied by Mrs. Lannie Calhoun, Jr. The bridal party entered to the wedding chorus from Wagner's Lohengrin, played by Mrs. Lannie Calhoun, Sr., and Mendelssohn's Recessional was played at the close of the ceremony.

Rev. O. L. Tucker officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony before an altar banked with luxuriant ferns, which formed a cool, green background for tall floor baskets of colorful garden flowers and a group of white, fern draped arches beneath which the vows were exchanged.

The bride given in marriage by her father was lovely in a dusty pink crepe ensemble with navy blue accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses. Her only attendant was Mrs. Jake Kiper Jr., who wore a chic model of navy triple sheer crepe with touches of white and white accessories. Her corsage was Talisman roses.

Mr. Rupert Sledge attended Mr. White as best man and Messrs. Charles Ward and Charles Rountree were ushers.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. White left on a honeymoon trip to the gulf coast where they will visit Biloxi and other points of interest.

Mrs. White, who was a popular member of the Gilbert High school faculty last year, graduated from Louisiana Tech and is a member of Kappa Delta sorority. Mr. White is also a graduate of Louisiana Tech and is a member of Theta Kappa Nu fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. White will make their home in Rodessa, La., where Mr. White holds a responsible position with the National Supply company.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. Rupert Sledge, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bruton and Mr. Walter White, Arcadia, La.; Miss Julia McDonald, Shreveport, La.; Mrs. Jack Knowles, Monroe, La.; Mrs. J. M. Rich, Alexandria, La.; Mrs. R. E. Lee and daughter, Columbia, La.

Outstanding among the lovely pre-nuptial affairs, honoring Miss Nina Mae Lee of Gilbert, was the dinner party in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lee preceding the wedding rehearsal on Tuesday evening.

Miss Lee was charming in one of her trousseau models of black and white triple sheer crepe and white accessories.

The table was handsomely draped with imported lace cloth, centered with a huge bowl of double marigolds. A delectable dinner was served.

Those enjoying this delightful affair beside the honorees, Miss Nina Mae Lee and Mr. Allen White, were Miss Mary Lou Porter, Miss Dorothy Mae Sherrouse, Miss Julia McDonald, Miss Margaret Kelly, Mrs. Lannie Calhoun Jr., Mrs. Jake Kiper Jr., Mrs. Lannie Calhoun Sr., Messrs. Rupert Sledge, Charles Ward, Charles Rountree, David Roach, Jr., Jake Kiper, Jr., Lannie Calhoun, Jr., Lannie Calhoun Sr.

Bryant Enjoys Western Trip

Back from a 30-day railroad trip that carried him to the world's fair on Treasure island in San Francisco bay, and a visit with two married daughters, former Postmaster J. T. Bryant returned Friday night delighted with his outing.

His first and longest stop was with his daughter, wife of a lumberman at Salinas, Calif., where he was barely 100 miles distant from San Francisco, so that it was made possible for him to drive into that city on several different days to witness the fair and to return to the daughter's home at night.

From California he proceeded to Washington state, where he visited his daughter, the former Miss Leta Bryant, now the wife of Major Howard Clark. Mrs. Clark had just undergone a serious operation in a Tacoma hospital but was slowly recperating.

The Clarks are soon to be stationed at Boise, Idaho, and Major Clark drove his father-in-law over there to see the town and inspect their now home. From Boise, Mr. Bryant went to Twin Falls and Burley, Idaho, where he was pleasantly entertained by John and Bill Brooks, former Monroe men, who are nephews of the late Dr. Robert Lee Brooks of Calhoun.

The Brooks brothers are engaged in the commission business and have made an outstanding success as their cities are in the heart of a section devoted to raising of potatoes, alfalfa and sugar beets. Produce is bought and shipped to eastern markets, all foodstuffs being raised under irrigation.

Mr. Bryant was entertained by John Brooks at the Kiwanis club luncheon and he was presented to many of the leading citizens of the place who aided in making his stay enjoyable.

From Twin Falls Mr. Bryant was driven to Minidoka, Idaho, where he took the train home, coming by way of Denver, Kansas City and Little Rock.

He said that large crops are being raised wherever he went and that the chief concern was over the high cost of common labor, men being members of unions, especially in California. Also the matter of the election of the next president was being discussed everywhere, and the candidacy of Garner seemingly being the most popular of all others who are now being mentioned.

The weather while he was away was delightfully cool, Mr. Bryant said. When in Salinas, Calif., he said nights were around 52 degrees and days never exceeded 68 degrees. He said that he wore winter clothing and in San Francisco was forced to purchase a sweater in order to enjoy the fair in comfort.

Miss Godwin Kept Busy By Play Work

Monroe Recreation Department Has Shown Decided Growth Under Her Capable Direction

Probably one of the busiest persons in Monroe is Miss Lucyle Godwin, head of the Monroe Recreation department. Always vitally interested in the need of wholesome recreation for boys and girls, Miss Godwin was appointed leader of the department nine years ago, with an office in St. Matthews' school. Later the office was moved to the city hall and then to its present downtown location, 124 1-2 DeSiard street, where a full time recreational center is maintained the year round.

Miss Godwin has served continuously in charge of the recreation department, with the exception of one year, when she attended L. S. U., Baton Rouge, where she received her degree in physical education.

The department opened with five playgrounds. So popular have these recreational centers become, that a check up shows an attendance of over one thousand children per week. Handcraft for girls, woodwork for boys and rhythm bands for the smaller children are but a few of the activities promoted by the leaders. A soft ball league boasts of a group of ace teams for boys between the ages of eight and fifteen years. Boys and girls of high school age are trained for leaders and supervise the games of the younger children. A leadership course in recreation is available for high school graduates and college students.

The downtown recreation center is open the year round, both day and night, where adults as well as children are welcome. Here games of checkers may be enjoyed as well as ping pong and other indoor activities.

The summer season will close August 31, when field day will be observed by all the playground groups. Recently a pet show was held at Barkdull Faulk playground and awards were presented for unusual pets.

Leaders having charge of the playground in the city are Mrs. Norris White, Miss LaVerne Larson, Emmett Christian and eight assistants, Lida Benton; Mrs. Thelma Carson, Miss Patricia Murphy, Mrs. John Eby, Barkdull Faulk; Miss Louise White, Mrs. John Eby, Mrs. Emma Lee Gattis, Miss Joyce McComb, Sherrouse; Miss Florine Works, Miss Mary Lee George, Miss Cathryn Brown, Georgia Tucker.

The recreation department is fortunate in having as directors of the rhythm bands, Miss Catherine Livaudais and Miss Geneve Castle. WPA workers for the department are Mrs. W. P. McCall and Herbert Kelly, who directs woodcraft activities. Miss Dorothy Stanets serves as secretary of the organization. Umpires for the softball teams are Guy Miller, Buddy Tolson and Thomas Bass.

Shirley Temple's Latest Picture Opens At Paramou

Lew Ayres again plays the title role, with Lana Turner prominently involved in the romantic episodes of the new story, "Calling Dr. Kildare," feature attraction showing Wednesday only at the Capitol theater. Lionel Barrymore and Laraine Day are shown in grand support.

The sole survivor of an Indian massacre, Shirley Temple is found by Mountie Inspector Randolph Scott and brought to the police outpost where Margaret Lockwood is a visitor. This is the setting for plenty of action and excitement in "Susannah of the Mounties," feature film opening at the Paramount theater today and playing through Tuesday.

© Vitagraph, Inc.

Fine Cast In Film Of Northwest

'Susannah Of The Mounties' Said To Be Thrilling Entertainment

A HORDE of savage Indians thunder across the Paramount theater screen [illegible] to attack a tiny outpost garrison of the Canadian Northwest mounted police in "Susannah of the Mounties," a 20th Century-Fox drama.

The heroic exploits of the mounties in protecting the [illegible] of the Canadian Pacific [illegible] in its push to the west from the savage [illegible] is an exciting adventure romance and a [illegible] vehicle for its star Shirley Temple. But the [illegible] and [illegible] ever [illegible] it definitely [illegible] the most entertaining [illegible] the star [illegible] the world's favorite.

Featured in the romantic roles are Randolph Scott, who makes a real he-man Mountie, and Margaret Lockwood, the lovely star of "The Lady Vanishes."

A charming highlight of the story is Shirley's friendship with a young Indian brave played by Martin Good Rider, 12-year-old Blackfeet. They ride together, have great fun with a real Indian dance and make a "treaty."

A dozen Blackfeet Indians were brought to Hollywood [illegible] to augment the large cast including J. Farrell MacDonald, Maurice Moscovich, Moroni Olsen, Victor Jory and Lester Matthews.

William A. Seiter's direction gives the screen play by Robert Ellis and Helen Logan a fast, exciting pace. The story by Fidel La Barba and Walter Ferris is based on the book by Muriel Denison. Kenneth Macgowan was associate producer.

'Hurricane' Back Today At Capitol

Dorothy Lamour And Jon Hall Starred In South Sea Thriller

SAMUEL Goldwyn's film version of "The Hurricane," the famous novel from the typewriters of Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall, who wrote "Mutiny on the Bounty," arrives at the Capitol today.

The high point of the picture is, of course, the amazing spectacle which gives the story its climax and its name, but the film does not depend upon this alone for its effectiveness. It has tender romance, a picturesque setting, powerful drama and every element of great motion picture entertainment.

"The Hurricane" introduces an important new [illegible] in Jon Hall, the handsome young man of the magnificent physique, whom Goldwyn selected over leading Hollywood names to play Terangi, the native hero of the story.

Dorothy Lamour, who made her screen debut a few years ago as the native heroine of "The Jungle Princess," appears opposite him as the South Sea belle, Marama, and also scores a triumph in a difficult role.

Goldwyn has given the film a great cast, including Mary Astor, C. Aubrey Smith, Thomas Mitchell, Raymond Massey, John Carradine and Jerome Cowan. All turn in uniformly excellent performances, and John Ford more than justifies the producer's faith in entrusting him with the direction of this important production.

The story, which is set on the low island of Manukura, 600 miles from Tahiti, opens with the wedding of the native lovers, Terangi and Marama. Their short-lived happiness ends abruptly when Terangi, returning to Tahiti with the schooner of which he is first mate, strikes a drunken white man who insults him. The man has influence, so Terangi is imprisoned. Yearning to see Marama, he attempts to escape, but is apprehended and his sentence extended. In the ensuing five years he makes several unsuccessful attempts and in his final break accidentally kills a guard.

Terangi finds his way to his native island, but cannot remain there because of the attitude of the duty-ridden French administrator, DeLaage, played by Massey. He takes refuge on a neighboring island where he is reunited with his bride and sees his little daughter. While the search for him is at its height, the great hurricane begins to blow. Unmindful of his own safety, Terangi goes to Manukura to warn the inhabitants and plays a heroic role in the great catastrophe. Although most of the inhabitants of the island are lost, Terangi is able to save his wife and child and the sympathetic Madame DeLaage, beautifully played by Mary Astor, who intercedes with her husband to close his eyes to Terangi's escape to freedom and a new life. C. Aubrey Smith, as usual, gives a splendid performance as the priest, Father Paul, and Thomas Mitchell is excellent as the thirsty Dr. Kersaint. John Carradine and Jerome Cowan also score as the warden and the schooner captain, respectively.

WAR AND A WOMAN

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER VII

She never remembered, afterward, how she had broken the dreadful news to Marcia and Mrs. King. All she knew was that the blood pounded in her temples, and her knees shook so that they led her to a chair. Marcia was instantly upset, going for cold water, smelling salts, saying distractedly, "Oh, Mother! Linda and her father are so close—so much closer than ordinary parents and daughters! This is terrible!"

"A plane—" Linda murmured. "I must go at once."

"But there are no regular planes at this hour," Mrs. King said, knitting her brows. "If you were a man, and if somehow we could get hold of a service ship. . . . But this way . . ."

Marcia flew to the telephone. "Jimmy will know what to do." It was pathetic, the way she relied on him for everything. Through the dim fog of her shock, Linda found herself noticing that. Dreading Jimmy's presence, even the help he might be able to lend.

A moment later, Marcia was saying, "Mobile. That's the nearest airport. It's more than 150 miles from here. Jimmy says he doesn't think there's a flight out of there until night. But even so, Linda, you'd be home in the morning. Better than the train. If you caught a train right now, you couldn't be there before tomorrow night. . . ."

"Get hold of yourself, child," Mrs. King said kindly. "Perhaps your father isn't as ill as it seemed at first. You must be brave. I'll help you pack."

Sick grief ached inside Linda. "Anything. I—I can't think. . . ."

Everything else was dwarfed before this horrible tragedy. Her father—her father whom she had left in the best of health, completely happy with his latest rare books. She remembered that one had come the morning she went. A book he had been saving for months in order to be able to buy. She thought of his wise eyes, his fingers that turned the pages of old manuscripts so lovingly. It wasn't fair that this should have happened to Daddy! Heart attack. Why, he'd never even been ill before. He was only 55. Young. In the prime.

Her eyes kept blurring as Marcia and Mrs. King were taking her in hand. She watched them pull open bureau drawers in the guest room; watched them take out her trunk and begin to hang dresses inside it.

"One hundred and fifty miles. That's a long ride for you, Linda, all worried and upset. . . ." Mrs. King ventured.

"I'm too jittery to drive all that way," Marcia said. "I know I'd plow into a truck, the way I feel. But Jimmy said if you decided to take the plane, he'd get away and drive you."

Jimmy. His name penetrated that queer, mental fog that enveloped Linda. "What? What did you say, Marcia?"

"I said Jimmy would drive you to Mobile."

"Won't—won't you come, too?" Linda faltered.

Mrs. King's lips pursed in thought. "You'd not be back before one in the morning, Marcia. Tonight there's the Captain's party for you. I—I hardly see how you—"

"But Jimmy won't be there, either, Mother."

"One of you must be present," her mother said gently. "We can't disrupt Mrs. Blair's plans. It would be unpardonable." She did not say so, but the conclusion hung in the air that if the illness had occurred in their own family, it would be different.

"I can get a bus to Mobile," Linda whispered. "I can even take a taxi, if I must."

"Oh, no, my dear. I merely meant that there was no need of both the prospective bride and groom being absent from a party in their honor! Maybe it seems silly to stand on ceremony, but the Captain. . . ."

Linda didn't want Jimmy Cooper sitting beside her for a hundred and fifty miles. But she had to get to Daddy. She had to get to him swiftly. Nothing else mattered. From Mobile it would be overnight until she was home, beside Daddy. Seeing him with her own eyes. Talking to the doctor. Assuring herself that the half-formed disquieting fears in her heart were not true. People had heart attacks and didn't die.

"For things like this, thank God for speed . . ." she thought. "Thank God for planes." If only men would use all their power, all their miraculous knowledge, for the good things. . . . And that brought her back, in the same endless circle, to Jimmy. He was a pilot. He flew planes every day. But his planes were devoted to war and the teaching of war. Forbidden for an errand of mercy.

Her things were packed, at last. An enlisted man took down the trunk, ready to be strapped to the back of Marcia's car. "You can't take that by plane. I'll send it to the express office myself, after you've gone," Marcia said.

It seemed ages before Jimmy came. At last he was there. Quiet, controlled, his eyes betraying no memory of the blow she had given him last night. Marcia collared him, talked in swift, low sentences. Linda pressed a handkerchief to her lips, and said shakily, "Goodbye, Mrs. King. I—I don't know how to thank you."

"Goodby, Linda. I hope you'll find your father ever so much better than you expect."

"Oh, darling, I'm so sorry this had to happen!" Marcia was frankly weeping. "If it's only a false alarm—and I hope it is, for your sake and your dad's—come back for the wedding! Linda, I'd even postpone it, if you could come later."

Linda tried to smile. "Be happy, Marcia."

"Jimmy, drive carefully, sweet." Marcia stood on tiptoe, her face lifted for his kiss. Linda turned away.

The familiarity, the possessiveness of that kiss burned into her eyes even though she hadn't seen it. And she thought that she must be a monster to be thinking about this, while daddy was lying ill at home.

The last handwavings, the last goodbys, were soon over. Jimmy Cooper and Linda Storm were alone in the little car. He said nothing for a long time. It was only when Pensacola was behind them, and the white ribbon road ahead, that he told her, "I'm dreadfully sorry."

That was all. Curiously, it was enough. A current of strength seemed to flow from him to her. Her lips quivered, but she said steadily, "It was awfully kind of you to undertake this long drive."

"You know I wish I could do more."

And there it was again, naked and throbbing between them. The same emotion, the same compelling urge, the same hopeless feeling of love and despair.

The girl set her lips. She dared not look at him. One hundred and fifty miles. Three hours, at least. Three hours or more of being alone, of having this thing beating its wings like a caged bird against their hearts. Three hours of knowing that he was beside her—his strength and his love and the longing that racked him.

"It's little enough to have, out of a life time," she thought queerly. But she was afraid, too. Afraid because sitting beside him was driving the thought of her father out of her mind. Afraid because in three hours, anything might happen.

Shirley Temple's Latest Picture Opens At Paramount

Fine Cast In Film Of Northwest

'Susannah Of The Mounties' Said To Be Thrilling Entertainment

A HORDE of savage Indians thunder across the Paramount theater screen today to attack a tiny outpost garrison of the Canadian Northwest mounted police in "Susannah of the Mounties," a 20th Century-Fox drama.

The heroic exploits of the mounties in protecting the construction of the Canadian Pacific railroad on its push to the west from the outraged redmen is an exciting adventure romance and a highly unusual vehicle for its star, Shirley Temple. But the fans (and this reviewer) went for it big; it definitely is the most entertaining picture of the star voted four successive times the world's favorite.

Featured in the romantic roles are Randolph Scott, who makes a real he-man Mountie, and Maragaret Lockwood, the lovely star of "The Lady Vanishes."

A charming highlight of the story is Shirley's friendship with a young Indian brave, played by Martin Good Rider, 13-year-old Blackfeet. They ride together, have great fun with a real Indian dance and make a "treaty."

A dozen Blackfeet Indians were brought to Hollywood for this film to augment the large cast including J. Farrell MacDonald, Maurice Moscovich, Moroni Olsen, Victor Jory and Lester Matthews.

William A. Seiter's direction gives the screen play by Robert Ellis and Helen Logan a fast, exciting pace. The story by Fidel La Barba and Walter Ferris is based on the book by Muriel Denison. Kenneth Macgowan was associate producer.

'Hurricane' Back Today At Capitol

Dorothy Lamour And Jon Hall Starred In South Sea Thriller

SAMUEL Goldwyn's film version of "The Hurricane," the famous novel from the typewriters of Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall, who wrote "Mutiny on the Bounty," arrives at the Capitol today.

The high point of the picture is, of course, the amazing spectacle which gives the story its climax and its name, but the film does not depend upon this alone for its effectiveness. It has tender romance, a picturesque setting, powerful drama—in fact, every element of great motion picture entertainment.

"The Hurricane" introduces an important new star in Jon Hall, the handsome young man of the magnificent physique, whom Goldwyn selected over leading Hollywood names to play Terangi, the native hero of the story.

Dorothy Lamour, who made her screen debut a year or so ago as the native heroine of "The Jungle Princess," appears opposite him as the South Sea belle, Marama, and also scores a triumph in a difficult role.

Goldwyn has given the film a great cast, including Mary Astor, C. Aubrey Smith, Thomas Mitchell, Raymond Massey, John Carradine and Jerome Cowan. All turn in uniformly excellent performances, and John Ford more than justifies the producer's faith in entrusting him with the direction of this important production.

The story, which is set on the low island of Manukura, 600 miles from Tahiti, opens with the wedding of the native lovers, Terangi and Marama. Their short-lived happiness ends abruptly when Terangi, returning to Tahiti with the schooner of which he is first mate, strikes a drunken white man who insults him. The man has influence, so Terangi is imprisoned. Yearning to see Marama, he attempts to escape, but is apprehended and his sentence extended. In the ensuing five years, he makes several unsuccessful attempts and in his final break accidentally kills a guard.

Terangi finds his way to his native island, but cannot remain there because of the attitude of the duty-ridden French administrator, DeLaage, played by Massey. He takes refuge on a neighboring island where he is reunited with his bride and sees his little daughter. While the search for him is at its height, the great hurricane begins to blow. Unmindful of his own safety, Terangi goes to Manukura to warn the inhabitants and plays a heroic role in the great catastrophe. Although most of the inhabitants of the island are lost, Terangi is able to save his wife and child and the sympathetic Madame DeLaage, beautifully played by Mary Astor, who intercedes with her husband to close his eyes to Terangi's escape to freedom and a new life. C. Aubrey Smith, as usual, gives a splendid performance as the priest, Father Paul, and Thomas Mitchell is excellent as the thirsty Dr. Kersaint. John Carradine and Jerome Cowan also score as the warden and the schooner captain, respectively.

© Vitagraph, Inc.

There's trouble in the air, to judge from the looks of Rosella Towne and Ronald Regan in this scene from "Code of the Secret Service," second of the secret service series films coming to the Capitol theater Friday only.

The sole survivor of an Indian massacre, Shirley Temple is found by Mountie Inspector Randolph Scott and brought to the police outpost where Margaret Lockwood is a visitor. This is the setting for plenty of action and excitement in "Susannah of the Mounties," feature film opening at the Paramount theater today and playing through Tuesday.

WAR AND A WOMAN

CHAPTER VII

She never remembered, afterward, how she had broken the dreadful news to Marcia and Mrs. King. All she knew was that the blood pounded in her temples, and her knees shook so that they led her to a chair. Marcia was instantly upset, going for cold water, smelling salts, saying distractedly, "Oh, Mother! Linda and her father are so close—so much closer than ordinary parents and daughters! This is terrible!"

"A plane—" Linda murmured. "I must go at once."

"But there are no regular planes at this hour," Mrs. King said, knitting her brows. "If you were a man, and if somehow we could get hold of a service ship. . . . But this way . . ."

Marcia flew to the telephone. "Jimmy will know what to do." It was pathetic, the way she relied on him for everything. Through the dim fog of her shock, Linda found herself noticing that. Dreading Jimmy's presence, even the help he might be able to lend.

A moment later, Marcia was saying, "Mobile. That's the nearest airport. It's more than 150 miles from here. Jimmy says he doesn't think there's a flight out of there until night. But even so, Linda, you'd be home in the morning. Better than the train. If you caught a train right now, you couldn't be there before tomorrow night. . . ."

"Get hold of yourself, child," Mrs. King said kindly. "Perhaps your father isn't as ill as it seemed at first. You must be brave. I'll help you pack."

Sick grief ached inside Linda. "Anything. I—I can't think. . . ."

Everything else was dwarfed before this horrible tragedy. Her father—her father whom she had left in the best of health, completely happy with his latest rare books. She remembered that one had come the morning she went. A book he had been saving for months in order to be able to buy. She thought of his wise eyes, his fingers that turned the pages of old manuscripts so lovingly. It wasn't fair that this should have happened to Daddy! Heart attack. Why, he'd never even been ill before. He was only 55. Young. In the prime.

Her eyes kept blurring as Marcia and Mrs. King were taking her in hand. She watched them pull open bureau drawers in the guest room; watched them take out her trunk and begin to hang dresses inside it.

"One hundred and fifty miles. That's a long ride for you, Linda, all worried and upset. . . ." Mrs. King ventured.

"I'm too jittery to drive all that way," Marcia said. "I know I'd plow into a truck, the way I feel. But Jimmy said if you decided to take the plane, he'd get away and drive you."

Jimmy. His name penetrated that queer, mental fog that enveloped Linda. "What? What did you say, Marcia?"

"I said Jimmy would drive you to Mobile."

"Won't—won't you come, too?" Linda faltered.

Mrs. King's lips pursed in thought. "You'd not be back before one in the morning, Marcia. Tonight there's the Captain's party for you. I—I hardly see how you—"

"But Jimmy won't be there, either, Mother."

"One of you must be present," her mother said gently. "We can't disrupt Mrs. Blair's plans. It would be unpardonable." She did not say so, but the conclusion hung in the air that if the illness had occurred in their own family, it would be different.

"I can get a bus to Mobile," Linda whispered. "I can even take a taxi, if I must."

"Oh, no, my dear. I merely meant that there was no need of both the prospective bride and groom being absent from a party in their honor! Maybe it seems silly to stand on ceremony, but the Captain. . . ."

Linda didn't want Jimmy Cooper sitting beside her for a hundred and fifty miles. But she had to get to Daddy. She had to get to him swiftly. Nothing else mattered. From Mobile it would be overnight until she was home, beside Daddy. Seeing him with her own eyes. Talking to the doctor. Assuring herself that the half-formed disquieting fears in her heart were not true. People had heart attacks and didn't die.

"For things like this, thank God for speed . . ." she thought. "Thank God for planes." If only men would use all their power, all their miraculous knowledge, for the good things. . . . And that brought her back, in the same endless circle, to Jimmy. He was a pilot. He flew planes every day. But his planes were devoted to war and the teaching of war. Forbidden for an errand of mercy.

Her things were packed, at last. An enlisted man took down the trunk, ready to be strapped to the back of Marcia's car. "You can't take that by plane. I'll send it to the express office myself, after you've gone," Marcia said.

It seemed ages before Jimmy came. At last he was there. Quiet, controlled, his eyes betraying no memory of the blow she had given him last night. Marcia collared him, talked in swift, low sentences. Linda pressed a handkerchief to her lips, and said shakily, "Goodbye, Mrs. King. I—I don't know how to thank you."

"Goodby, Linda. I hope you'll find your father ever so much better than you expect."

"Oh, darling, I'm so sorry this had to happen!" Marcia was frankly weeping. "If it's only a false alarm—and I hope it is, for your sake and your dad's—come back for the wedding! Linda, I'd even postpone it, if you could come later."

Linda tried to smile. "Be happy, Marcia."

And all the time, Jimmy was standing there. Tall. Browned. His big hands fiddling with his cap, his eyes avoiding hers.

"Jimmy, drive carefully, sweet." Marcia stood on tiptoe, her face lifted for his kiss. Linda turned away.

The familiarity, the possessiveness of that kiss burned into her eyes even though she hadn't seen it. And she thought that she must be a monster to be thinking about this, while daddy was lying ill at home.

The last handwavings, the last goodbys, were soon over. Jimmy Cooper and Linda Storm were alone in the little car. He said nothing for a long time. It was only when Pensacola was behind them, and the white ribbon road ahead, that he told her, "I'm dreadfully sorry."

That was all. Curiously, it was enough. A current of strength seemed to flow from him to her. Her lips quivered, but she said steadily, "It was awfully kind of you to undertake this long drive."

"You know I wish I could do more."

And there it was again, naked and throbbing between them. The same emotion, the same compelling urge, the same hopeless feeling of love and despair.

The girl set her lips. She dared not look at him. One hundred and fifty miles. Three hours, at least. Three hours or more of being alone, of having this thing beating its wings like a caged bird against their hearts. Three hours of knowing that he was beside her—his strength and his love and the longing that racked him.

"Mind" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 20, 1939.

The Golden Text is: "Who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? . . . For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever" (Romans 11:34, 36).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "O the depths of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God" (Romans 11:33).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is Mind, and God is infinite; hence all is Mind" (p. 492).

The church is the backbone of every nation. Its influence and power keeps civilization functioning. If a nation forgets God and the church and abandons the straight and narrow pathway as given to Almighty God in the Holy Bible, then that nation soon disintegrates and falls into selfishness, immorality, greed, and every other sin which tend to destroy civilization. Inasmuch as the church and its power is the balance wheel of our great nation every citizen owes it proper support and protection. Our services are for all mankind and we invite the public to attend every service and to take part in every phase of our worship of the One True and Everlasting God. Sunday school at 9:45 every Sunday morning. Preaching services at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. There is a class for every age and a teacher for every class. Our musical program is of the best to be found in the parish. G. C. Williams, our director of music, is assisted by Miss Marda McClendon and Mrs. Charles Myers, and a fine choir. The organization committee of the proposed Twin City Beautification foundation, named a week ago, will meet Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. to perfect the plans for operating and to prepare and adopt constitution and by-laws, it was announced here Saturday.

This group comprises Dr. A. G. McHenry, J. S. Washburn, Mrs. Fred Fudickar, Mrs. Allen Sholars and Mrs. J. Q. Graves.

At a meeting held a week ago, William F. Woods of Shreveport, prominent member of the Shreveport Beautification foundation, addressed the gathering on Hotel Virginia roof and pointed out the plans that are being followed out over a period of some years in that city.

The general purpose here will be to cause greater appreciation by the public of things that are of an aesthetic nature, comprising systematic plantings by individuals and municipalities of flowering plants, clearing away of unsightliness, and also emphasizing the value of correct landscaping of parks and grounds. Flower shows and other public exhibitions are proposed for the Twin Cities from time to time to stimulate interest.

STAR FALLS—FOR RHUMBA

Long, lean and lithe Errol Flynn, one of the screen's premier acrobatic he-men, found a little thing like the rhumba hard to do when he (left) and a lovely model, Patricia Byrnes (center), went to a New York hot-spot where dances with a Spanish accent are featured. The man looking puzzled (right) is a drummer named Desi Arnaz.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "O the depths of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God" (Romans 11:33).

GRACE CHURCH
4th And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

In St. Matthew's gospel, the 21st chapter, verses 33 to 41, is the divine record of the parable of the vineyard. It is like dynamite. It blasts away men's possessive grip upon all fruitage in the world whether it is food to eat, land to live upon, increase of knowledge or power. Everything is God's. He has right of "eminent domain." All our privilege and plenty he grants to us as to stewards only. By the sins of greed and pride, men all through history have seized God's bounty and kept it for themselves by violence. They have eaten, killed and stoned God's servants who came claiming the fruitage to be disposed of in His Name for the benefit of all. As long as nations and all "controlling powers" claim outright ownership, so long is God defied. Only misery can result. (Forward, Day-by-Day). The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 and again at 9:30 a.m. The rector will preach during the 9:30 Eucharist. Evensong will be said by the rector and a sermon preached at 4 p.m. in St. David's, Rayville. Three services on Sunday; 7:30 and 9:30 in Grace church, and 4 p.m. in St. David's, Rayville.

The only service during the week in Grace church will be on Thursday, the 24th, when we celebrate the feast of St. Bartholomew. The Holy Eucharist will be offered at 9 a.m.

The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:20 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate. You are welcome.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
West Monroe
C. Karlos Smith, Pastor

The church is the backbone of every nation, its influence and power keeps civilization functioning. If a nation forgets God and the church and abandons the straight and narrow pathway as given by Almighty God in the Holy Bible, then that nation soon disintegrates and falls into selfishness, immorality, greed, and every other sin which tend to destroy civilization. Inasmuch as the church and its power is the balance wheel of our great nation every citizen owes it proper support and protection. Our services are for all mankind and we invite the public to attend every service and to take part in every phase of our worship of the One True and Everlasting God. Sunday school at 9:45 every Sunday morning. Preaching services at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. There is a class for every age and a teacher for every class. Our musical program is of the best to be found in the parish. G. C. Williams, our director of music, is assisted by Miss Madia McClendon and Mrs. Charles Myers, and a fine choir. Come visit our church and you will come back again.

"The church with a welcome to everybody."

Sail From New Orleans In Air-Conditioned Ship For Port Of Istanbul

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Seven hundred and fifty sturdy young mules from the cottonfields of Texas left here today on a month's sea voyage in air-conditioned comfort to join the Turkish army.

The braying cargo, first of its kind out of New Orleans since the World war, slipped down the Mississippi river shortly after 5 p.m. aboard the Lykes brothers freighter Scottsburg, which is coming back for 750 more animals as soon as the present cargo is unloaded in Istanbul.

Despite the twenty ventilating fans installed on the ship especially for today's cargo, the voyage won't exactly be a cruise, for the animals must remain standing, packed tight four in a pen nose to hip, until the ship docks. But there was a mule hospital and a veterinarian on board to take care of any developing seasickness or otherwise indisposed.

The purchaser was the Turkish ministry of national defense which sent Kemal Aran of the Turkish Bank of Commerce and Major Sitki Gunes, Turkish government inspector, to the United States to buy the mules, and who will remain to pick the second shipload.

The mules, averaging around 900 pounds in weight and known as "three quarter cotton mules," were purchased around Fort Worth, Tex., and sent here by a special train. They'll never see another cotton patch, however.

Thirty attendants, including one venturesome Texas newspaper reporter, were aboard the Scottsburg to dispense the 842 sacks of oats and 300 tons of hay put aboard for the passengers, virtually the only thing the ship carried. She will pick up phosphate in Tampa, Fla., as ballast, discharging it at Genoa, Italy on the return trip.

The trip outward to Turkey is non stop from Tampae. Reportedly at the Turkish government's request the mules were needed quickly.

Loading started at 6 a.m. today, the mules walking aboard on gangplanks and being quickly stowed into their pens.

FAIR CATALOG TO BE ISSUED SOON
